Subject: 8BBS#1 Hardware/software

This system uses a DIGITAL PDP 8/E Minicomputer system with 32K of core (yup, core!) memory, two 1.5 Mby hard surfaced disk drives (RK05J's), dual floppies (RX01), DECTape (TU56), clock, powerfail/autorestart, printer (LA180), video console (VT52W), a Novation 4103B autoanswer modem, and various other assorted stuff.

The 8BBS software runs under OS/8 Commercial BASIC, with a machine code (PAL 8) communications package. The operating system is OS/8 (which is very much like CP/M in at least it's commands).

Subject: 8BBS Revision History, Ver: 2.1 to 3.9

02-Jul-80: Version 3.9

Bus fixes; loss user to log file as soon as he logs in, no longer crashes if user enters long names. S and Q summaries also show message range.

26-May-80: Version 3.8

Added Z function to allow a user to see previous callers in reverse chronological order.

23-May-80: Version 3.7

Fixed bug with multiple entries in USR files for the same user.

21-MAY-80: Version 3.6

A few things were changed due to user comments.

A few things were changed due to user comments.

1. You set the messages since your last call by using "S;I,D"
2. Read protected messages need no passwords.
3. Messages with lots of blanks unpack right now
4. SYSOP is notified of unsuccessful (K)ill attempts so that we can kill messages you forgot the password to.

8-MAY-80: Version 3.5

Lots of bug fixes, and some enhancements to existing code were added here. TALK to Sysop is a little better, message retrieve gives the message limits (except to experts).

28-APR-80: Version 3.4A

Added (Y), Yell for Sysop function and (O), Other BBS systems function.

24-APR-80: Version 3.4

Added a blank line between message summaries, user name in upper or lower case now matches for private message retrieval.

22-APR-80: Version 3.3

This version now does message packing to optimize usage of the available disk space.

21-APR-80: Version 3.2

This version now has a utility that the SYSOP can use to TALK with a caller on-line.

20-APR-80: Version 3.1

The recipient of private (read protected) messages no longer need know the password in order to read them.

19-APR-80: Version 3.0

This version has line feed on/off support.

17-APR-80: Version 2.9

This version has an improved operator TALK facility. It also supports read password protection. That is, a message cannot be read without the password.

13-APR-80: Version 2.8

This has a few bug fixes (i.e. message edit bug). It also has a feature that allows you to specify terminal parameters (rubout type, etc) to be used each time that you log in. See (H)elp keyword USER for more info.

7-APR-80: Version 2.7

The new user help is more extensive than before. Also, a bug that kept you from setting some help files has been fixed. Also, the echo of input is in the same case as what is typed (i.e. if you type in lower case, but the system is in upper only, it still echoes in lower case.) The (G)et message and message password protection features are now implemented.

3-APR-80: Version 2.6.

This version has better modem control code (i.e. it works). Also, the selective summary feature is also in.

2-APR-80: Version 2.5

This version has faster message retrieve and summaries, carrier detection, and (finally) does message flagging. (That is, if you have been left a message, then you will be told.) If you have noticed any bugs/problems or things that you don't like, tell us. (Please don't say something like 'This system stinks!'. Tell us why)!

22-MAR-80: Version 2.4

New functions! Now have message storage / retrieval capabilities.

15-MAR-80: Version 2.1

Initial version. Wish us luck!
your comments in the Goodbye section.

Message number 4 is 67 lines from SYSOP to All at 01:23:45 on 12-Nov-80.
Subject: 8BBS Revision History, Ver: 4.0 to 4.9

5-SEP-80: Version 4.9

Fixed problem with new user getting incorrect messages. The terminal width fold point code works again. Also fixed problems with sequential message retrieve starting at a non-existent message #.

19-AUG-80: Version 4.8

A text entry bug was fixed. Also, added support for 110 and 150 baud.

16-AUG-80: Version 4.7

A 'set message' bug was fixed. Also, a high message number report bug was fixed.

13-AUG-80: Version 4.6

You can now specify sequential retrieval similar to the Q and S commands. For example, to read all the messages to you since number 1000, you can type R, then '1000,t=John doe'. The specifiers are T for to, F for from, S for subject. Typing 'R;1000,-' lists all messages starting at number 1000.

Also, the message range is updated at logout and the question about leaving comments treats just a RETURN as a no.

4-AUG-80: Version 4.5

Internal code cleanup, fixed message flagging bug, added ^C code for Z function.

30-Jul-80: Version 4.4

Added on line SYSOP commands, fixed bug with TAB after 72 characters, fixed bug in logout hours.

22-Jul-80: Version 4.3

Some login code and file size parameters were changed to allow slightly faster checking of the user name file. We also added sequential message retrieve capability using the '^' character.

19-Jul-80: Version 4.2

A lot of code was re-written and cleaned up for this version. 8BBS now has a line width setting feature. Also, we now convert TABS to spaces so that users that don't support them will be able to read messages with embedded TABS.

10-Jul-80: Version 4.1

We have added a feature that allows a user to define a password. This keeps other users from dialing in with your name. Also, the system prints the range of the messages entered since your last call.

4-Jul-80: Version 4.0

We put in a few fixes in this version to help improve system reliability. The date rolls over at midnight, and your time on the system is reported correctly if you stay over midnight. Another change is that read protected messages cannot be summarized by anyone but the sender or receiver.

The retrieve ("R") function is used to retrieve a message from the system. You must know the message number, which you can find using the S (summary) or Q (quick summary) function. You will stay in "retrieve mode", allowing you to retrieve multiple messages, until you press RETURN to go back to the function menu.

After you enter retrieve mode, you can do a 'sequential' retrieve by entering a '^' character to the 'Message' prompt. This allows you to read all the messages starting with a specific number. For example, to see all the messages starting at number 100, type R for retrieve, then answer with 100. After message number 100 is done printing, type ~ to the 'Message' question. You will then automatically get all messages from that point on. You can type ^C or C to skip a message that you do not want to read.

You can also scan for messages with specific subjects, who from or to, and scan all messages after a starting point. See HELP keyword SCAN for more information on scanning.

BBBS Ver 4.3 now supports sequential message retrieval. This feature allows you to retrieve all available messages after a specified message number. This means you no longer have to type in each message number you wish to retrieve. Sequential message retrieval is activated by using the '^' character. (Usually shift-6). It works very much like the ^ on ABBS.

Some examples...

Function: R;1100;^ tells BBBS to retrieve messages starting at msg 1100.
Message: 1140;^ will retrieve msg 1140 and later messages.

or if you are in Message Retrieve and have already retrieved a msg Message: ^ will continue to retrieve sequential messages after the last message retrieved. Remember, the ^ is only valid after an initial message number has been specified.

Use S, or ^S, ^Q to suspend and resume transmission. You can also still use C, ^C or O, ^O to skip messages that don't interest you.

Subject: Latest Updates to BBBS

Version 4.6 of BBBS (the latest) has a few new features. First, you can now answer the question about leaving any comments at goodbye time with just a return to allow you to se off faster.

Another change made is that the system remembers the high message number when you los off, so it does not report messages that you left as being new.

A new feature is the sequential message retrieve. The system used by the summary command is now used by the retrieve command. For example, you can as to read all of your messages by typing 'R;1400,t=your name'. The system will start looking at number 1400, and give you all the messages to you. You can stop a message with C or control-C. The ',t=' part of the command could be ',f=' to get messages from someone, or ',s=' to get messages with a particular subject. If you enter 'r;1400,-' you will get all messages starting at number 1400.

This should allow you to easily read all the new 'mail' on the system. If BBBS says that 'Messages 1685-1700 are new' when you dial in, simply typing 'R;1685,-' (without the quotes) will get you all the new messages.

If you have any questions, leave a comment or message.

Subject: Baud rate selection

This version of BBBS allows you to use 110, 150 or 300 baud terminals. When you initially dial in, the system tries 300 baud, types "Press RETURN!" and looks for a character. If anything other than a return is seen, the next baud rate (150) is tried. If this does not work, then 110 is tried. It loops until a RETURN comes back at a set baud rate. There currently is no command that allows you to change the baud rate after dialing in. This, however, will most likely change.

You should, obviously, use the highest baud rate that your terminal allows in order to minimize your time on the system.

I am willing to trade numbers for numbers, or some info for ones that I don't have. The numbers can be to almost anything. If they're numbers to things like TYMNET, TELENET, or MicroNET, I am only interested in ones that aren't known about (such as 1200 BAUD lines, or other rare rates). I am still trying to find lines to TELNET (not to be confused with TELENET!).

Subject: 'Market' in Good Numbers

Where did this idea of trading numbers come from? Are they not the benefit all?

! I got my numbers thru either finding them out myself (infrequently) or having them given to me -- by publications (Yipster Times, Overthrow, TAP, ...), CBBS messages (like here), or from friends. Except for very sensitive numbers (ie, that will get shut off if they get any noticeable usage), I like to carry on the tradition of GIVING that got me the numbers in the first place!

! The people who we are ripping off are supposed to be the ones concerned with "market value" and "return on investment" and all that crap. I thought we were more interested in free-dom.

! I've published all but two number systems I know (one is sensitive). I'm about to pub the other, here, in a public msg, like the way I've GIVEN it to people all over the country.

! I'm not doing this to set more $s; I could've traded for that. But I think you should look at your attitude; is it on our or their side?

It includes access numbers for ITT City Call and SPCOMM SPRINT networks, loop-arounds, 800 map, M-F routing codes and frequencies, country codes, AUTOVON info and an extensive listing of Chicago BELL operations numbers. It also contains info on obtaining unlisted numbers and how to find out who a phone number belongs to. Even though rather high priced, it is worth it if you are looking for this type of info.

Meliz,

I would give away the phone numbers, but there are several things that I must consider. First, I am not going to spend a few hours on this (or any other BBS), and typing 350 (approx. I have more) numbers, what the system is, and it's location. Second, It has costed me $15 dollars already just to get to 415 (explanation: I am putting the numbers onto a timesharing system because it have a much better text editor than I).
Anyway, I was only planning on charging $1 or so FOR MY PROFIT! The rest of the cost (and I haven't gotten that yet) would be for postage (approx $.51), and the cost of printing them (the cost of paper. This is difficult because I must first get the amount of pages [rounded to the upward whole number], then divide the amount of pages per box into the cost to findout the price per page, then multiply that by the amount of pages per listing). Of course there are other costs to me such as a phone bill, the paper used to enter all of the numbers, and a few very minor other things. The entire price of the listing MIGHT BE $3, it might be more, or it might be less, but that is what it looks like right now. Also, these numbers are to some good computers (EX: Stanford, UCB, ARPANET, MCI, SPRINT, ABBSS, FORUM-80s, CBSSs, UC Berkeley, Univ. of San Francisco, DELTA Collage in Stockin, There ar about 5 or 6 800 numbers, and more!

There are accounts for SOURCE, and I'm trying to set on for MicroNET. I have numbers for MODEM testers, Bell system line testers. I am trying to set some credit card verification numbers. I have the number to Shell Oil's computer, Wells Fargo, and a few others. If you take the "Online Computer Directory" sold by someone else who is advertising on these systems, you will see that they want $7.50 (I think) for they're 175 systems! While mine is only $3 (Sprox.) for over 400 systems! This will be nothings major, just a computer listing, on plain computer paper, is a very simple format, with notes about some of the systems at the end. It is not ment for you reading enjoyment, is is ment to be a useful and well done reference guide for the serious "Computer Hobviest", and just those people who want to have some fun, and call BBSs all over this country, and some international numbers. Yes, the computer swap forced you to buy a 5 dollar certificate good only on purchases over $20.01 or would redeem them for $3.50 and a wait in a long line.

the second ripoff is where the dealers could only get $3.00 back but were suppose to honor them for the face value of $5.00....Cute eh???

In many cases the small dealers (the garage shop types or the individuals) would not take them so you had no alternative but to turn them in or pay inflated prices to redeem them. How many got stuck on this deal??

I did notice a smaller crowd, but more dealers. Let Bill Crais know if YOU got taken. Boycott the next one if he charges the buyers, it ain't worth it!

Well, this subject might be old, but I think it is worth the paper & disk space.

I was reading through a 64 page report put out by Bolth Beranek and Newman Inc. (report # 2183 July 1977 revision), and saw that even way back then, they were preparing to put passwords on their TIPS. But once you had opened a connection to one TIP, you could go through an IMP, or make a manual TIP to TIP transfer (this is done by supplying the HOST TIP # & socket #, and then opening the Transmit & Receive channels with a long # socket #) and then opening the transmit & receive channel. Its a long a nd comp (ed process). Well, they never have done that (yet), they have ir d MAGtape transfers from TIP to TIP, processes where u can DIVert others output & input to you (so you can monitor others), and change there BAUD, and padding settings. They have instaled Network news, but last I checked, there was none, and many other things. ALL TIPs ABOVE 312 ARE USING NEW TELNET! That is why @N doesn't work, not because someone is monitoring you, or the computer beeps at someone to verify the command! NEW TELNET has the ability to refuse commands. in NEWTELNET, command are made into requests, opposed to OLD TELNET where everything is a command!

Subject: Overlayins?

As you probably know, 8BBS is mostly a BASIC program. The implementation used is an interpretive compiler - that is, the BASIC code is translated into a pseudo assembler code that an interpreter executes. Since it's not either true BASIC or true assembler, overlayins the code would take considerable work. Our BASIC allows CHAINing, but that completely replaces the current program with a new one. This would cause us to lose the machine's interrupt state. (i.e. the clock, modem control, etc).

I am working on a post-processor to the compiler that will try to optimize the code that it generates, but that seems about the only way to make further improvements.

We are doing to simplify the U function in order to make room for a few changes that many users have requested (blank lines in messages, abortable scans, and maybe stacked retrieve).

We don't mind suggestions for improvement, but are limited by the implementation to those with a fairly broad appeal.

I HAVE STUDIED TELECOMMUNICATIONS FOR THE LAST 4 YEARS.
IT IS IMPOSSIBLE TO TRACE PHONE CALLS THAT ARE LONG DISTANCE. THE TECHNICAL TERM FOR A TRACE ON INCOMMING CALLS IS 'TERMINATING TRAP'. THIS IS A FEW COMPONENTS, OR A SOFTWARE ROUTINE (IN THE CASE OF #4 ESS) THAT SIMULATES A TROUBLE CONDIDTION, AND CAUSES DIAGNOSTIC

Message number 3800 is 20 lines from Paul Montsomyers

ROUTING, ETC FOR DIAGNOSTIC PURPOSES. THIS IS DONE, FOR EXAMPLE, IN A #5 CROSS BAR EXCHANGE BY PUTTING A MOMENTARY GROUND ON THE LINE, WHICH CAUSES A CODED TROUBLE CARD TO DROP FROM A CARD PUNCH. IN LONG DISTANCE CIRCUITS, DIRECT DC CONTROL IS NOT POSSIBLE (BECAUSE OF MICROWAVE AND SATELLITE LINKS), THATS WHY BELL USES MF (BLUE BOX!) TONES FOR SIGNALLING. HOW CAN A GROUND BE PUT ON A LINE IN, SAY, CALIFORNIA, WHEN THE CALLED NUMBER IS IN DETROIT, MICHIGAN?
WELL, IT CAN'T!!!

THE ONLY NEW DEVELOPMENT IN LONG DISTANCE ALL TRACING IS A NEW MF TONE PAIR TERMED 'DUMP FORWARD' WHICH, WHEN TRANSMITTED FROM ANY POINT IN A CONNECTION, WILL CAUSE
THE CALLING PARTIES NUMBER TO BE SPILLED FORTH AS A GROUP OF MULTI-FREQUENCY DIGITS. LUCKILY, THIS ONLY WORKS WHEN THE ORIGINATING TOLL OFFICE IS ONE OF THE NEW #4 ESS TOLL TANDEMS. THERE ARE ONLY ABOUT 20 IN OPERATION IN THE U.S.

BY THE WAY, IT TAKES 2 (TWO) SUCCESSFUL TRACES TO BE USED A EVIDENCE IN COURT! ANY CONTRIDICTING VIEWS ARE WELCOME, AND MAYBE SAM CAN COMMENT ON THIS TRACE SCAM.

Any of you people out there who are using SPRINT, better be ready to get a few more codes, or you will be stuck with MCI! (ARRGGGGH!) I am pretty sure this info is true, because I heard it from someone who uses SPRINT legally. I am not saying it will be changed positively 100%, but I am saying that it will be 99%.

The BBBS program will now allow operation at 600 baud. We are still using the same Novation 4103B modem but have found that it transmits fine at 600 baud. We've also found that some A-J acoustic couplers receive fine at 600 baud. BUT... We've also noticed that it is rather difficult to enter a message at 600 baud due to a high error rate. We haven't been able to determine if the high error rate is caused by the A-J output being distorted, or if the Novation doesn't receive well at 600. But if you want to try using 600 baud you are welcome.

Hi Ken,
The best way to determine the differences between ABBS and CBBS is to call a few systems of each type. The 'BBS' stands for 'Bulletin Board System'. The 'A' is for 'APPLE', the 'C' is for 'Computerized'. CBBS systems are usually S100 based systems, while ABBS are nearly always APPLE based systems. Also note that the mnemonic 'CBBS' is a registered trademark and is NOT a generic name for this type of system.

I'd suggest that you try calling M & R Enterprises in Sunnyvale for info on their 'Pennywhistle'.

You asked about visiting 8BBS. 8BBS is meant to be a public access sytem ONLY via the phone line. I no longer give out my home

For all of you very generous people who find it possible to leave phone #s to public or nonpublic systems, I thank you (and alot of other people probably do too)! BUT, some of you just leave PHONE NUMBERS ONLY. This is not good. If you don't even know what the system is,
I, or others could hardly ask for more, but if you do know what the system is, or even have an idea, it would be very nice of you to leave that with the number. That makes less work for all of the people who want to know what it is, and it is less confusing to the people who just write it down on a piece of scrap paper. In the list that I am currently working on, I have about 20 + "Unknowns" on the list because people, and system ops DO NOT tell what the system is, and I just don't have the time to call them all up! Eventually I will have to, but that takes time, and takes that time away from setting new numbers.

I do not ask this just for me, but for everyone who has thrown away an important, or interesting number that they have written down on a piece of paper, but didn't know what it was when they threw it away. So, please leave what the system is, if you can.

Subject: Saving assembly programs done in DDT

Dear SLI,

I attend Palo Alto High School, where I am learning assembly using DDT on a CP/M modified by you. I have tried all the obvious methods (such as manuals, instruction booklets, and the teacher of the assembly class), but no method has allowed me to save an assembly program so that it can be retrieved later. All the advice above boils down to the basic method as follows:

- 1) Write & debug program
- 2) control-C
- 3) type SAVE proslength progname.COM
- 4) leave system
- 5) reboot into CP/M
- 6) type DDT progname.COM
- 7) run or continue debugging program

That has not worked, with any number of minor variations. Please write to Dave Struthers, C/O Palo Alto High School, 50 Embarcadero Road, Palo Alto, CA 94301. Thank you, Patrick Scheible

Subject: Lost or Missing Messages

Hi Patrick (and others),

Occasionally when you log in the system will tell you that "There are new messages for you, Numbers: XXXX, YYYY, ZZZZ". You might find that when you attempt to Read one of those messages that it no longer exists. This can happen because the person that left the message changed his mind and deleted it, or if you haven't been on the system for a long time the message might have been purged out.

When the system tells you that there are new messages for you it doesn't mean that they still exist, it means that at one time those messages were entered for you and are NOT necessarily still available.

Let's all spend some time calling SPRINT via various other WATS extenders, Bell credit cards, MCI, etc, and use some of those access codes that they are tracing. Good numbers to call are police departments in small towns; other sprint nodes; etc. Besides having them chase their tails tracing the calls, the volume will help the people who didn't set the word to not get caught. Pass this word on; if we can set a few hundred (thousand?) people using these access codes for total joke calls, SP's job will be much harder.

Note: don't call using a "sood" access code and use it to call a node for Joking. They might be smart enough to notice... Similarly, in case they have mabell local phone trace on some of their incoming lines, don't call their lines directly for Joking. Do it via some other phreaky number, which will yield no info if they ARE able to identify it.

Hi Steven,

Took a while to get clear explanation of what you wanted with long lines.
One reason we don't have that "no C/R" option is that by using the 'F' function to set your terminal width the 8BBS software will automatically break long lines at WORD boundaries, so the last word on the line is not arbitrarily chopped in two.

Not sure where you heard the flattering rumor that I was a SU student,
In real life I do 12 bit (PDF-8) product support for DEC in Santa Clara.

The registered trademark that Ward and Randy took out was for "Computerized Bulletin Board System". Maybe it started out as 'Community'.

Your "Q" suggestion has been mentioned by others and we may consider implementing it. BBBS already supports the DEC standard XON - XOFF (CS, Q) protocol

Hi Bill,

Please observe minimum standards of polite conversation when you enter public mss's on 8BBS. I deleted your mss #4024. It would have been left on if it was a RP mss to an individual.

I also noticed that you left a mss to yourself with a lot of numbers in it, was that what you intended to do? Remember that eventually old messages are deleted so don't count on the mss still being on here next year. Regards.

A friend of mine tells me that his company's Sprint access code has been changed by prefixing a zero -- the old 5-digit number 12345 becomes 012345. He also has a personal (night/weekend) sprint account, whose number he says is unchanged (it was already 6 digits).

I don't know if this is the general plan or not, but you might keep it in mind...

TRAP SEQUENCE A/601 SUPPOSEDLY GOES INTO EFFECT ON NOVEMBER 28 WHEN THEY CUT OVER THE NEW CODES. THEY WILL BEGIN BY HAVING ALL THE PEOPLE WHO TRY TO USE A NORMAL 5 DIGIT CODE GET INTERCEPTED BY A SPECIAL SPRINT OPERATOR WHO WILL GRILL YOU FOR INFORMATION, AND NEVER PLACE YOUR CALL. I HAVE ALSO HEARD THAT PEOPLE WHO USE THE CODES WILL JUST HAVE THE DATA (CALLING NODE, AND CALLED NUMBER) DUMPED INTO A SPECIAL FILE WHERE SPRINT PERSONELL WILL PHONE THE CALLED PARTY AND TRY TO DRAG YOUR IDENTITY OUT WITH ALL SORTS OF NASTY THREATS.
HOW DO WE BEAT THIS TRAP?
INSERT A 0 BEFORE THE 5 DIGIT CODE. ACCORDING TO MY CONTACT, HE LOOKED AT TRAP SEQUENCE A/601 INSIDE THE COMPUTER, AND A 0 WILL LET THE CALL GO THROUGH AND NOT STICK YOU INTO AN OPERATOR. NATURALLY, NONE OF THIS WAS VERIFIED AND THE ONLY WAY WE WILL KNOW FOR SURE IS TO WAIT UNTILL NOVEMBER 28. COMMENTS ARE WELCOME.

Chuck,

I would be most interested in helping you set such a system up here in the Bay area. I have ALL the necessary S'ware as I was contemplating such a system myself.
Also, I am a programmer skilled in CP/M-MP/M and I'd be more than glad to give you what S'ware I already have.

The 'BBS software of which I speak is also entirely Public Domain and, as such, !FREE! for anyone to use.
There are a number of CP/M systems up around the USA but, alas, none in the Bay area (this was the main reason I was considering setting one up) or nearby. I also have a number of CP/M utilities that are Public Domain and they are free to anyone just for asking.

If you'd like to discuss your idea further, Please call me, Person-Person-Collect at (415)-563-2357 and if I'm in,
I'll set your number and call you right back.

Well, I need a simple sort program to sort 9 digit numbers. It doesn't need to be fast, it would have to sort over 500 numbers though (It can take all day as far as I'm concerned). The program would have to input the number from an external file, and output it to another. Just as long as it uses files for all of the I/O, I will take it. It would be best if written in BASIC, but FORTRAN IV will work too. If you have such a program, let me know, and I'm sure that we could workout some kind of a deal. I would write one myself, but I'm horrible at sorts, and too lazy.

All of you people who have been saying, 'Well, if you want more info about that system, type @HOSTAT'. Well, have you ever tried that? It doesn't work too well for me. But one day while going through a PDP-10 s(those are my favorites) someplace, I came across a 1977 report put out by our loving government about all the ways that ARPA Net works (Just wish I could remember what HOST that was..oh well..). On the printing of the manual, I noticed (besides many other things), that all nodes (access Prots) above a certain # are NEW TELNET Prots, and consider all entries to be requests (NOT COMMANDS), and can refuse them, or just do nothing. Well, on all of those OLD TELNET ports, EVERYthing is considered to be a command, and all it can do is say "can't", or "refused" when trying to log into a HOST. Well, from here (OLD TELNET), you can also do the @N command, and get ALOT of neat info. You can also log in. Just type LOGIN, use any name you can think of, and just hit <C/R>. Then you can set just about everything.

Oh, to get into OLD TELNET from a NEW TELNET port, type @OLD TELNET, but if you do this, it will still have the power to turn down a few commands.

Subject: Arpanet stuff

Yawn 3:41am (sheesh - What am I doing up?). Phil Reed: For FIDO documentation try saying :WHAT A DOG or Just summon the beastie and type "?" to his > prompt, that should do it. To make a TIP-TIP link, the easiest thing to do is agree on a time and then show up somewhere like MIT (any machine) and figure out which port you are on (say 5), then one person (after @C'ing down) types @SET DEVICE WILD (which lets anyone do anything to you) and then the other guy (NOT port#5) sez @HOST <octal host # of other guys port> then @SEND TO SLOT <2 times port# (5)>0002 then @RECEIVE FROM SLOT <2xasain>0003 then @PROTOCOL BOTH. i.e. 5x2=12 (octal, remember?) Now then, if you want a TIP manual (the BBN one), connect to (lemme set a host table) ah yes, one of the CMU machine, say CMU-D (that's #142) and after connecting say "DOC TIP" then it'll crank it out. One interesting thing to get is that anyone can do anything else

One interesting thing to not is that someone can do anything else to anybody else if the other person is on the same tip you are.. (did that make sense?). i.e. you are on RAND-TIP#6, and you see some cretin on RAND-TIP#2, well then if you want to be nasty and close him, just prefix the command with his port. Example: Do @2 CLOSE and Poof he's gone. Note that he can do this to you too. To prevent this, the first command you give, prefix by YOUR

PORT NUMBER. SO if the cretin had said @2 OPEN <wherever> then when the other guy tries, all he gets is a nice crisp "No". (I always did like that.... No. Heh heh... Ahem). Anyway, enough of that, all this TIP lore is in the BBC report (nice thing to curl up with on a frosty morning). OBTW, TELNET (not telNet) is not a network, it's just a program that allows people at one site on the ARPAnet to connect to a remote site as if they were there. To use it, you just connect and login on some machine, and then run the program (It's foolish to do so if you come over TIPS tho)... Anyway. Ah yes, one more interesting Arpa fact - If you manually connect to a site using slots 2 and 3 (Send and receive) you set the server!! (Make sense?) Here, so this. To set to MIT-AI (#134) you would do @HOST 134 then @S T S 2 (send to socket) then @R F S 3 (rec. from. sock.) then @I C P (initiate connection protocol) and voila, you are there - And you can send mail and sends, and there's no address (of course, since you really aren't ANYWHERE) - The return address will just be your TIP. (Type HELP once there for list of commands, XSEN or XSEM should be the ones you're after)... If it does something strange like feeps at you when you type, then close and go into @OLD TELNET mode, then try again)... Well, I think I've been rambling enough... Here're a few TIP #'s to keep you happy (Sish The 800 one's I had were changed).

- RAND-TIP 213 451-8933
- USC 213 749-5139
- DARCOM 202 274-9516
- MIT 617 491-5628

Those should hold you. O yes, one more thing, try calling 800 424-3690 That is COMNET, use "WYL" or "WCCWYL" for system code. This will set you the EPA (as in gov't) computer running Wylbur (a repulsive OS, but what the hell)... My list of codes is ancient, so I won't even try and give any out, but if you can get it, then you have free access to HUNDREDS of others (easy)... This place is MEGA - to the tune of hundreds of disk drives on line, twice that in MT backups... It has like some many terabytes of storage - The entire written history of the galaxy is stored here). Not that one old password/acct/uname thingy was all X's. I.e. it wants 4-letter acct, type XXXX, etc but no more - Perhaps something else in that vein. Well, anyway I think I'd better crawl off to bed before my eyes fall out of

Subject: Disconnects

Hi Marc

I have no way of telling what caused your disconnects. They also happen to me occasionally. Common cause is a bad phone circuit. San Jose is especially bad. If the carrier level is too weak the BBBS modem will drop out. Of course Operator breakthrough could also do it, but I don't think that happens.

Hi Nate,
BBBS does use a 32 char input buffer, along with the DEC standard XON - XOF (TS, TQ) protocol. BBBS sends a XOF when it wants your system to stop sending, and sends XON when it is ready for more input.
Maybe you were referring to the lack of type-ahead? That is deliberate.
Use the ; (semicolon) to simulate type-ahead. HELP file has info.

If you know who lossed in as PHONE PHREAK tell him that is not in accepta same and will not be recognized. Resards..

I noticed your queries about unwanted visits from Bell, and I thought I'd comment just in case noone else yet. IT IS NOT UNUSUAL FOR THEM TO VERIFY THAT YOUR LINE IS IN ORDER. If you've given out your phone# as a voice line but you tend to tie it up for data/phreak purposes, an unwary caller who finds the line always busy may call Bell. After enough complaints (sometimes one), they will in turn call you. I had that problem a lot, so now I have one voice phone# and one data phone#.

As to unwanted visits, if Bell owns the phone I don't believe you can bar their entry to the house to check the equipment. You might try reassuring them at the door. Or you might try calling Bell repair and informing them that you tend to use the phone for data purposes. Sometimes they database this kind of info to assuase harried callers as well as to avoid unneeded phone visits.

Hope this info rests your fears somewhat.

IN MY WAY OF THINKING, MODERN CHEAPIE JAPANESE ANIMATION IS MUCH PREFERABLE TO THE HANNA-BARBARA SAT-MORNING GARBAGE (ALTHOUGH I DO LIKE FLINTSTONES, ONCE IN A WHILE), BUT W.O.C. HAS TO BE SEEN "THROUGH" THE ANIMATION. BESIDES, NOBODY CAN BEAT MAX FLEISCHER, CAN THEY? THE BEST CAR-TOONS EVER MADE WERE BETTY BOOP AND KOKO THE CLOWN & YOU NEVER SEE THOSE MORE.

THE TWO-HEADED DOG KIND OF SURPRISED ME, I THOUGHT OF CEREBRUS AS HAVING TWO HEADS ON THE SAME END! NOT LIKE THE PUSHMI-PULLYU. WHAT DO YOU IMAGINE THEY WOULD HAVE DONE WITH THE SEVEN-HEADED HYDRA?
I'M ALSO AMAZED TO SEE BARE BOOBIES ON THE GORGONS & DIANA. YEARS AGO WE WEREN'T ALLOWED TO SEE THAT EVEN IN CARTOONS. (THERE WAS A BIG FLAP
WHEN THE ORIGINAL "FANTASIA" CAME OUT WITH TOPLESS FEMALE CENTAURS, OF ALL THINGS!)

CERTAINLY A MODERN, SOPHISTICATED PERSON LIKE YOURSELF HAS SEEN "TITUS" AND WE ALL MUST HAVE A BACKGROUND IN ANCIENT MYTHOLOGY OR ARE DELUSION-PRONE. ONE MUST HAVE A BROAD BASE. ONE MUST BE TOLERANT OF THE FINANCIAL CLIMATE IN WHICH THESE FILMS ARE CONCEIVED. ONCE IN A WHILE WE

AND ARTISTIC CLIMATE IN WHICH THESE FILMS ARE CONCEIVED. ONCE I'VE WHILE WE GET AN "NEGRO NON TROPPO" OR A "WIZARDS", BUT THE REST OF THE LINE, WE TAKE WHAT WE CAN GET. ARE YOU FAMILIAR WITH "KIMBA THE WHITE LION"?

SERIES. I WATCHED IT WHEN IT FIRST CAME OUT (I MUST HAVE BEEN ABOUT YOUR AGE--THOSE WERE THE GOOD OLD DAYS!) AND I DIDN'T UNDERSTAND A BIT OF IT.
LATELY, I WATCHED THE FIRST TWO OR THREE EPISODES OVER AGAIN AND IN THE PROPER ORDER, FIGURING THAT WOULD MAKE ALL THE DIFFERENCE. WELL, IT DIDN'T.
WHATEVER THE WHOLE IDEA WAS, IT WENT RIGHT OVER MY HEAD. THE GAME LOOKS PRETTY GOOD, THOUGH. I'M SURE YOU CAN GET A COPY FROM SOMEONE, BUT IF YOU CAN'T, I SUPPOSE I COULD SEND YOU ONE ON A DISK. (ANY FRIEND OF BARBARA'S. . .)

ANOTHER THING I LIKED ABOUT W.O.C. (I JUST REMEMBERED) IS THE WAY THEY USED THE SAME CHARACTER FOR ALL THE DIFFERENT ROLES. THIS WAS PROBABLY DONE
TO SAVE MONEY, BUT I THINK IT'S A GOOD IDEA TO IDENTIFY THE GREEK MYTHO-LOGICAL HERO AS A CHARACTER IN HIMSELF---MAN IN GENERAL. THAT'S WHY THEIR GODS WERE ANTHROPOMORPHIC (AS IS JESUS, FOR THAT MATTER).

Wow! BBBS is certainly popular. I was trying off and on to log on and it took me three weeks to get in. (Fortunately, I wasn't in a hurry.)

Do you have any thoughts about how to alleviate the contention problems?
On large timesharing systems a heavy load seems to result in people staying logged on longer (because they can't get on so often). This leads to even more apparent contention, etc. I certainly see my own behavior that way.
When I can log on freely, I usually am on for less than 10 minutes. Now, it's longer as I try to catch up with what's happening. Perhaps an arbitrary session time limit? (Does your operating system have any provision for multi-users?)

Hi Guy,
Yes, I agree that BBBS does get a lot of traffic. However the system is actually idle about 50% of the time (no one logged in). The system hardware is capable of multi-user operation, BUT the software would be a real challenge and would require a total re-write. Some questions are how does the software handle several users updating or searching a file simultaneously? Also, I don't see why I should pay to have several dedicated phone lines installed just for BBBS users. One is enough $.

"showtime" slightly off frequency....If you happen to be connected to Teleprompter in Los Gatos, you can set Showtime by merely re-tuning the slus in channel "a" on your converter box.
It seems to work on all of the boxes I have tried, and it is easy to do. Remove the knob that changes channels and the fine tuning knob from the converter. You will see a small hole that leads to the tuning slus for this channel. Merely insert a Plastic (Please use Plastic...no danger of shock, but the metal from a regular screwdriver will throw the tuned circuits off and turn it counterclockwise (back the slus out) until you have good picture and audio.....that's a HELL of a lot cheaper than 10 dollars a month.

Subject: Access to 8BBS

I adress with everyone that's complained that the system SEEMS to be tied up all the time. But I also agree that multiprocessing is probably too big a step to take. (People will just start complaining about your scheduling algorithm or contention for semaphores to control shared access, etc.)

One thing might help those who want to be good citizens but simply lose track of time: An "alarm" every so often (5, 10 or 15 minutes). I think this is better than an automatic log-off after "n" minutes. The alarm could be in the form of a "T" message. You might ask: Why don't "good citizens" simply use the "T" command themselves? Because if we could remember to look at a stop watch or to use the "T" command, we wouldn't lose track of time in the first place. Hence the need for a system reminder.

By the way, the fact that the system is in use only 50% of the time might suggest that the problem is real. That is, some people may be using the system for excessively long periods at "prime times". The rest of us simply give up trying after 30 minutes once or twice.

Another simple thing to try is peer pressure. If the "Z" command also printed the length of sessions, we might start seeing who IS using the system.

I JUST HEARD ABOUT THIS BBS AND THOUGHT WITH ALL OF THE PHREAKS AROUND, ONE OF YOU MIGHT KNOW HOW GILL CABLE TV IS ENCODING THE HBO AND SHOWTIME AND "THE MOVIE CHANNEL". I HAVE FOUND THE SIGNAL BETWEEN CH 6 AND CH 7 BUT THEIR BULLETIN SERVICE SAYS THEY HAVE A NEW DECODER AND WILL SCRAMBLE HBO AND SHOWTIME SOON. ANY HINTS ON HOW TO DECODE THE SIGNAL WILL BE WELCOMED. Hi Jim,
I think most of your questions in #4388 were answered when we talked on the phone. Couple of points to keep in mind... try to keep your connect time down during 'prime time' (5PM - 12PM). You have a good idea to call in during the early mornins if you plan to spend quite a while on the sys.
We may start showing user connect time in the 'Z' function. Other point that would be appreciated is to NOT put nearly a whole line of spaces just to set your sign-off at the far right edge of the line. Just wastes disk space and duplicates the 'who from' info that the sys puts at the front of the msg anyway. Hope you get your printer working right soon so you can dump the HELP files. Resards,.

WHICH CAME FIRST, THE CHICKEN OR THE EGG?
THAT QUESTION HAS BEEN ASKED IN A MESSAGE THAT I RECENTLY READ ON THIS SYSTEM.
THE ANSWER(S) MUST BE LOGICAL AND IN CONTEXT. HERE IS MY ANSWER FOLLOWED BY A SHORT EXPLANATION THAT SHOULD COVER THE IMMEDIATE AS WELL AS THE LONG (ORIGIN) VIEW.

THE EGG CAME FIRST!!!!

THE CHICKEN CAN ONLY EXIST AFTER HATCHING (VIA BREAKING OUT OF THE EGG).
THE ORIGINAL MUTATION MUST HAVE BEEN INCORPORATED IN THE EGG FOR THE CHICKEN
TO HAVE BEEN HATCHED ORIGINALLY. IT MUST HAVE BEEN A DOMINANT AND BENEFICIAL
MUTATION OR THE MUTATION (THE CHICKEN) WOULD HAVE DIED OUT AND COL. SANDERS WOULD BE OUT OF BUSINESS.

IF YOU HAVE ANY COMMENTS OR CONFLICTING (OR SIMILAR) VIEWS, PLEASE LEAVE A MESSAGE ON THIS SYSTEM FOR ALL.

First of all, why did you take away X-ON as a prompt?
How many users are listed via the Z command? The last 37 users or the last two days?

I see Bill Blue owes you a lot of thanks. There are still things they can learn from you (and vice versa), i.e. summary format (3 vs. 2 lines). I think I prefer your "D" list (sorted by # vs. name). These suggestions should go to Robert Davies instead of you.

What UPC details are you interested in and what will you use this program for?

Regarding line lengths: Splitting words up is the least of my concern, the fact is 80 char. lines utilize screen space 60%, making my 16 line screen more like 8 lines. You clearly do not have a 64 char screen, else you would have made this mod a long time ago.

I hope this info does not seem too dated, but I only set on when I am crazy ($$$$).

The 'Z' function show callers since the last time I cleaned the user log file. I usually clear the file every evening, but there is no specific number of previous users that is shown. I am interested in the standard retail UPC coding format and would like to generate the bar code labels on my Diablo printer. I understand that a 1791 (only read disks formatted with 0s (or maybe it is 1s) between records, but 1771 can format it the other way, sometimes creating a compatibility problem. The 1795 solves this problem, but the VFOE signal is timed slightly differently. Is anybody familiar enough with the Jade double-D board and the difference between the 1791 and 1795 to tell me if this will effect it? MY ANSWER: WHO CARES?

NO, SERIOUSLY, THE EGG THAT WAS MUTATED MUST HAVE BEEN LAID BY A BIRD VERY SIMILAR TO A CHICKEN, NO? I MEAN EVOLUTION TAKES A LONG TIME, BUT THERE ARE OTHER WAYS TO ANSWER THAT QUESTION. IN MY DICTIONARY, CHICKEN (P. 523) COMES BEFORE EGG (P. 881). BARBARA (BARB. WILSON, THIS BBS) SAID THAT A CHICKEN IS JUST AN EGG'S WAY OF MAKING ANOTHER EGG.

MY MOTHER, A FAMOUS COOK, SAYS THAT YOU HAVE TO COOK THE CHICKEN FOR AT LEAST HALF AN HOUR, BUT THE EGG CAN BE ADDED AT THE LAST MINUTE OR ELSE IT WILL GET TOUGH & RUBBERY.

NOW WHO ELSE HAS SOME DUMB ANSWER TO THIS QUESTION?

Hi Ken,

You asked about connect time limits on 8BBS. New users are the greatest abusers since they feel compelled to read every msg the very 1st time on. I've noticed that after a new user has been on a few times they tend to not spend more than 30 mins. That seems adequate to scan and read msg's of interest since last login. They might be on a bit lonser if they are slow typists and decide to leave a msg. I think that 30 minutes is a reasonable maximum connect time limit. Regards,..

I SAW ONCE AT COLLEGE THE ORIGINAL SERIAL OF FLASH GORDON FROM

THE COSTUMES AND ROCKET-SHIPS WERE RIGHT OUT OF THE COMIX.
EVERYBODY IN IT WAS AN UNKNOWN, EXCEPT MING WAS PLAYED BY MAX VON SYDOW (WHO USED TO ACT IN INGMAR BERGMAN FLICKS). AND DR. ZARKOV WAS TOPOL, THE ENGLISH STAGE-ACTOR WHO STARRER IN THE MOVIE VERSION OF "FIDDLER ON THE ROOF".
THE MOVIE IS ALMOST CONTINUOUS ACTION; ONE PLANE-CRASH OR EXPLOSION OR BATTLE AFTER ANOTHER. THE COSTUMES & SETS WERE UNBELIEVEABLE. EVEN THE
"GOOD VS. BAD" DICHOTOMY WAS SPOOFED. AND THE ENDING, WHERE MING GETS HIS LUMPS, WAS THE BEST PART. I EVEN LIKED THE MUSIC (BY THE ROCK GROUP QUEEN).

worry about that though!). Now, DIRECT works fine for that too, gives DIRs for everything, except for protected UFDs. Also, is there anyway to unprotect core?? I can set certain programs from the system library, and put them into DDT, but when I try and read it, it don't work! Also, I could set around many program security checks if I could jump into certain program locations from the monitor without erasing the contents of the program (or core for that matter!). This system does NOT have FRUN, but it does have something called FRUNO2 (that is unprotected, and you can copy it onto your PPN), but when you try and IRUN it, it comes back with an error in this format:
?JOBxx - some kind of error message.. then it returns to monitor. Does anyone know how to disable the ^C durrins a program? Also, and you

DIR LVx:=DIR 1,4x. If x=0 then PPN=1,4. If PPN>6, not directory

THE REASON THAT THE PHONE NO-LONGER PICKS UP THE LINE-RELAY AT THE CENTRAL OFFICE IS THAT THE LINE IMPEDANCE (RES) IS NOT LOW ENOUGH TO PULL THE REQUIRED CURRENT. ALSO, IF THE SWITCH ISN'T BUFFERED, IT WILL PRODUCE A DISTINCT CLICK THAT CAN BE HEARD. HAVE PHUN. P.S. MUCH THE SAME EFFECT CAN BE HAD WITHOUT OPENING UP THE PHONE ITSELF BY JUST REMOVING THE MOUTH-PIECE AND REMOVING THE MICROPHONE CARTRIDGE. MOST OF THE LINE CONDUCTANCE IS DEVELOPED THROUGH THE CARBON PARTICLES IN THE MICROPHONE SO, EXCEPT FOR THE CLICK AND THE EARPHONE IN THE RECEIVER, YOU CAN HAVE A TAP ON YOUR OWN LINE. HAVE PHUN.

Well, after not being on for about 2+ weeks (can't get on with all the busy lines!!), and reading all 200+ messages that were new, and seeing some of the stuff on here, I thought that it was time to remind all of you that I am still working on my phone # list! I currently have 500 #s (really!). Only 400 are on the list, but I have 100 or so sitting on several pieces of binder paper someplace in my desk. I need ALL of the public/private #s that I can get! Such #s as to SATNET, INFONET, COMNET, USFA GATEWAY, London gateway, H & R accounting computer are all on my list of wanteds! I know that they exist, and are out there someplace, but I need to know where!! I also need MCI access #s (phone #s), I'll take any school dis. computer #s, and am looking for those 4800 & 2000 baud #s! (I already have 5 of them!). Also, from all of you HAMS (as in radio), if you could give me some freq. that are used by computers, that would help! Any BBS that you know of that has a large list of other computer systems can be of GREAT help! I have almost every # that there might be, but I have only called about 40 to 50 of the lot!
I am looking for the # & an account on the Chicasso State Univ. (I want to play ZORK!!!!). Also, if you have a MicroNET account, one day, take a look at your MOnth statement, cont. next msg.

WARSHIP AT THE END--NOBODY EVEN TRIES TO PUT THEM OUT, THEY JUST ACT LIKE NOT () HAPPENED). I KEPT SEEING SHADES OF "THE WIZARD OF OZ" THE HAWK... LOOKED JUST LIKE THE FLYING MONKEYS FROM A DISTANCE, AND THAT EVIL WOMAN, WHATZERNAME, WITH THE STAR OF DAVID ON HER HEADRESS JUST MELTED INTO WATER WHEN SHE GOT SHOT. CERTAINLY BETTER THAN THAT OTHER MOVIE THAT WE'RE NOT DISCUSSING ANYMORE. I DIDN'T THINK DALE ARDEN WAS ALL THAT SEXY--SHE HAD A PRETTY FACE, BUT SHE DIDN'T MOVE AS WELL AS MING'S DAUGHTER. BESIDES, ALL THE "BEAUTIFUL" GIRLS IN THE MOVIE WERE AIMED AT THE SEXUAL FANTASIES OF THE BARELY-PUBESCENT (NOTHING PERSONAL).

AS YOU READ, I LEFT MY COPY OF THE PRISONER OVER AT KIRK'S. I NEVER WENT TO PICK IT UP BECAUSE I DON'T HAVE TIME NOWADAYS FOR INVOLVED GAMES. IF YOU'D LIKE A COPY, LEAVE ME YOUR ADDRESS & I WILL SEND IT FREE, GRATIS & FOR NOTHING. (ANY FRIEND OF BARB'S. . . .)

Hmm, I think I told this to Mark Mosko by mistake. Ah well, won't hurt him any. AI is not really being "debugged", they just got pissed at tourists and made it look that way (It is obviously not since the same "real" users are there as always; THEY aren't getting "debugged" messages). To get an MC acct, mention the magic word "Macsyma". But keep in mind that an MC acct for its own sake is pretty useless, since you can do nothing there (next macsyma) that you couldn't from another ITS site. Well, apply anyway, and see what they say. Good luck...

I have some very nasty news (for me). The sprint down here (#'s are 714 231-1922 and 231-6741 if you wish to try for still there. I am using 200663 for a code, and 2006630 does not a thing. SIGH. Doesn't anyone have any suggestions/hints/sympathy, or whatever? Keep in mind I am fairly ignorant as to fern-stuff. Also, would someone be kind enuf as to match all those colors (of boxes) to functions? i.e. what's a maroon box? Hmm... I think there was somethings else. Lessee... No, I guess not. OBTW, I hope everyone knows of the TELENET deal whereby you connect to 90995d (i.e. do "QC 909 95D") and you get nice massive listing of all telenet dialups (The 800 for telenet is 424-9450 (to 9499 I believe))... But if you use the 800 number, it wants you to have some sort of ID (Entered by the "ID" command)... hence local numbers are far superior.

I guess this is all for now. How many people out there are Arpanet users??

CU whenever, takes me weeks to be able to set a line into here...

First of all, lemme implore you to NOT mess around (too much) on security at all to speak of, and hopefully it will stay this way.

But if dumbshit people keep setting on there and setting thrills off sunning down the locals, well, zap that's the end of all tourist stuff at MIT - and MIT is the LAST place to allow tourists. When it goes, we're all screwed. So PLEASE take it easy there. Anyone with an intelligence equal to or greater than a common cabbage can crash, maim, burn to the ground, or whatnot the ITS systems. It is not worth thinking of. Anyway, enuf ranting. Virtually all ArpaNET systems have host tables. A good one is from SAIL, which has all sorts of extra goodies. To set it, just connect (Host #11) and say "IMP HOST" (or is that HOSTAB?... HOST should be it). The London Gateway is host#106 and alternately #42. The only codes I had were for the Essex-10 in (see) Essex, (England) - It was so

Wow! There's a lot of stuff here! I was wondering if anyone has hardcopy of the messages available, so that first-time users don't have to tie-up the system to "catch up".

I have access to a system with a Xerox 9700 page printer, which provides quick and cheap copies (about a penny a page). It is on Telenet and I would be willing to provide hard copies if someone could transfer the mssgs to my system (say, at 1200 baud, to cut down the expense) and then keep it updated from time to time.

If you are interested, please leave me a message here or

Subject: ARPANET and other things

remember the phrase "Position is everything in life" which was meant to be taken suggestively, well it applies very much to the arpanet, it depends very much what system you are on and things like that, although a huge tide of people: trying to flood into even relatively open sites like those at MIT would probably cause usage policy to tighten up yet another notch. i remember the 'good old days' when there were completely open sites, where you just logged in and created yourself an ID. Those days are gone on the bnnet i fear forever more, whether or not the will come about elsewhere again leaves an open question. the funny thing is that it has not been all bad for the net and for the people connected to it. they got lots of cheap talent and many of thier valuable personell started out as random hackers just hacking away...it would be nice if there were a slew of open places around cause places set older and then close up and become stuffy and official and not as fun a place to be at as they used to be...i have seen this happen with places on the arpanet and places at stanford. hopefully open places will still be around but in different places i guess...

Subject: additional SPRINT phone #'s

If you prefer to use various local SPRINT access numbers (for obvious reasons) rather than always using the same number, note that SPRINT apparently has (many) unpublished (at least not on the the "grey card") numbers in each area. I learned this when I was having trouble using SPRINT for data communication. The 772 operator didn't really want to take another trouble call for data to 415, so she started spewing out additional local access #'s, and told me "one of these ought to work ok..." So, just call 772 and tell 'em your having trouble and you want another local dial-in #. Of course, you have to have a legit SPRINT account, since they will ask you BOTH your auth. code and your name. I have no idea what these additional numbers are used for. perhaps they are used by specific large corporate customers so that they can predict load better, etc.

Subject: transfer

Well, what would really make sense would be for me to get all of the messages of a "non-personal" nature. Of course, that could be one hell of an editing job for either you or me! But, generally, the idea of having all 4700 (whew!) messages makes sense. We'd have to do it in several shots, since I can only scare up enough disk space for about (lessee some quick calculating in my head... mebbe 1600 messages at once. I'd have to copy to tape after that many were transferred. A little more calculating... if people dont't mind ~~every tiny~~ tiny print, I can get 5000 messages on about 400-500 sheets of paper and could sell the archive for $4-$5. If we ever get our "duplex" feature installed (printing on both sides of the sheet) that could be cut in out of criteria for deleting "useless" messages.

Let me know when you can set your hands on a 1200 baud modem, in the meantime I'll make sure you have the # of a 1200 baud Telenet port in your area, and give you details of ID/password and procedure later. I'll also do a little playing around w/ the Xerox to figure out best format for this...

ANSWER IN THIS FORMAT:

Hi Steven,

Both prompts (with or without BEL) send a XON as the last char of the prompt.

The UPC bar code info that I'm really looking for are the specs on the physical size and spacings of the bars, also which bar pattern is for what number. I would like to print UPC labels on my Diablo to stick inside my books. If you have any of that info you could mail it to: Bernard Klatt, 2552 Augustine Dr., Santa Clara, CA 95051.

I will mention your request to remove <CR>'s from a way to do that.

Kirks msg about faster login is correct, you could also see msg #367.

We will also try to change the code to tolerate

You've got a really great system here. Suggestion on Baud rate: I don't remember what comm interface you said you had, but if you can run at split speed (my terminal can send 300 and receive 600) you may be able to provide better 600 baud service to those who have terminals which handle split speed.

In a () use a way back you said that you might have a 1200 baud modem ()er this month. Permanently? If you can ever get your hands on a VA3451, do so. It's a great little modem -- It can handle good ol' low speed FSK -- FLUS -- both the Vadic 1200 and the Bell 212 stuff.

Subject: DO YOU WANT ANOTHER 408 BBS SYSTEM

DO YOU REMEMBER THE ACBBS? WELL, I, BRIAN, HAVE BEEN GETTING ALOT OF PRESSURE LATELY TO BRING IT BACK UP. I'VE NOTICED THE 8BBS IS PRETTY BUSY LATELY. SO IF THERE IS ENOUGH OF YOU WHO THINK I OUGHT TO BRING IT BACK UP, I'LL DO IT. ONE THING THO, I'M MOVING TO SANTA BARBARA, CA SO I'LL BE LEAVING THE ACBBS IN THE GOOD HANDS OF MARCOS. THE PERSON WHO IS PROBABLY GOING TO TAKE MY POSITION AT COMPUTER EMPORIUM. ANYWAYS, LET ME KNOW WHAT YOU THINK AND I'LL TRY BRINGING IT UP AGAIN, AND KEEPING IT UP. WE GOT A NEW (REV B) (I MEAN NO ONE ELSE HAS ONE.) CORVUS HARD DISK DRIVE AND ACCORDING TO CORVUS SYSTEMS THIS ONE IS SUPPOSED TO WORK. (THEY ARE PRETTY NEAT LOOKING) I ALSO PLAN TO BRING UP AN ACBBS IN SANTA BARBARA SO WATCH FOR ONE IN THE 805 AREA CODE.

NOW I WISH TO MENTION THAT THIS SYSTEM SEEMS TO BE SO BUSY AS TO DAMAGE ITS USEFULNESS. BUT I WILL STILL TRY TO GET BACK ON TO HEAR YOUR RESPONSES.

Hi Roscoe,

No, I don't hold grudges. I appreciate seeing your recent comments, I was NOT looking forward to seeing my DMV record 'updated'... Anyway, I should have let you know why it appeared that your mss's were killed. They weren't killed, just made RP to Thunder, that's why they didn't show up when you looked for them. The apparent recent 'favoratism' to Thunder came about because I was in Phoenix for several days and had no way of accesing the

I will trade a guided "tour" through a privved RSTS account, at which time I will create you your own non-privved account to have and to hold, but you MUST have somethings REALLY GOOD to trade for this!...

As you know, RSTS is going at a premium these days to some, and these accounts are rather hard to come by...

So if you've been wondering what everyone's talking about when they say RSTS, NOW'S YOUR CHANCE TO FIND OUT!!

Leave me a read-protected message with your phone number in it, as this is the ONLY way I will give out the dial-up number!! (Security reasons...)

I WORK FOR BELL MANAGEMENT IN THE MIDWEST AT A LOCATION THAT WILL REMAIN CONFIDENTIAL AND I HAVE ACCESS TO A CERTAIN AMOUNT OF INFORMATION REGARDING SYSTEM OPERATION. JUST TO PROTECT YOU, I WILL TELL YOU NOW THAT THERE IS NO "MONITOR" ON THIS LINE BUT ... THERE IS A BELL OPERATIVE WHO IS MASQUERADING AS A LEGITIMATE PHREAK AND GIVES INFORMATION THAT IS, I REPEAT IS GOOD AND WILL WORK. WHAT THEY ARE DOING IS TRAPPING THE CALLS TO THE GOOD LINES AND USING THAT INFO TO FIND THE PEOPLE WHO ARE USING THE TRAPPED ACCOUNTS. THEN THE SECURITY DIVISION TAKES THE NUMBERS AND PUTS SOME SORT OF RECORDING DEVICE ON IT SO THAT THEY CAN GET EVIDENCE THAT IS NOT ABLE TO BE CALLED "ENTRAPMENT" IN A COURT OF LAW. I WAS NOT ABLE TO FIND OUT THE LOGIN NAME OF THE PERSON WHO IS THE OPERATIVE BUT, I DO KNOW THAT THE PERSON IS USING INFO FROM THE GTE TELENET NETWORK. GTE HAS AN AGREEMENT WITH BELL THAT ENABLES BELL TO USE THEIR SYSTEM TO CATCH THESE PEOPLE. Help.

Has anyone else had this problem?

Frequently when I dial-up a BBS (using SPRINT) and set a busy signal, then hang up, I find that my phone is DEAD. Sometimes this lasts for just a few minutes...but at times it has lasted for HOURS! (and folks, I'm not even doing anything illegal! ...yet, anyway!)

It hasn't happened on dialing local numbers, only using SPRINT. It isn't the phone (the phone will work using another line), it's the line. When I call the 'dead' line from another line I get a busy signal.

Would really like to hear any suppositions. This (as you can imagine) has got me climbing the walls sometimes!

Hi Joe,

Saw you msg about CCS and thought I'd share my experiences with CCS equipment. I am presently running an all CCS system (except for the mainframe and PIO. The 2016 16K RAM is one of the best ram boards that I know of. I've had no trouble with any of them. The 64K dynamic board has a few quirks, but I've had no trouble with them myself. The Z80 board is pretty well thought out, it has jumper options for all of the signals that were used on older systems, but not on the new S-100 standard. The disk controller runs pretty good (once you set it up.) The CP/M that CCS distributes is pre-interfaced for the 2422 disk controller/Z80 board combination... I haven't figured out if that's to make it easy to bring up, or to sell more CPU boards.

The management at CCS has changed (I am told) in the last little while, and the new group seems to have different ideas on the direction that the company should go. They have raised the prices for bare boards to outrageous levels, perhaps in an attempt to get out of the bare board market, and who knows what else is in store. But overall, I'd have to give them a better than average rating.

Subject: Paul Montsomery

The last time I had talked to Paul, he said that he might become a guest of the county, for selling some "HOT" computer equipment to someone.

This is what Paul told me about 2 days before he vanished.
I think he is in the Stockton Detention ctr, however I have seen him logged into both AI and MC a couple of times since he disappeared. Also Bill Doser received some mail from him too. I was also told that Patrick Clemens has had a couple of phone calls to him from Paul. This information came from Our dear fiend (theres no R missins)) Bill Doser. I was told from Bill that his FBI scandle was all made up. This was done to scare off the crashing attempts and nasty letters that were sent by Sam Junkins.
Bill Doser along with someone in Texas, made up the story, and made several phone calls to Sam Junkins in order to scare him into not playing with the MIT computers. Sam no longer "crashes" or does anything on AI that would cause a fuss. He uses it normally like others do. As for Bill, I hear he is making up another story to scare the phreaks in Philly.
I dont think this is the reason that they are all disappearing for. There is some trouble in Philadelphia, I dont know what. This BBS is starting to become a place to bitch and moan, or complain to, I will admit that I may have just dont that, oh well here comes line 20, gotta go!

Subject: NO MORE T.A.P. ??

I was told by Tom Edison that T.A.P. may fold! It seems that readers are not sending in articals for him to publish. Issue 67 will be out in a couple of months and he needs articals!! GOOD ARTICALS!! So search your minds, and think of something to write about. But make it good!
All this stuff we know doesn't mean shit unless its published and all can use it. Tom Edison has put over $5000 of his own money to keep it going.
He and I are sure that Phreaking would still go on if T.A.P. DID FOLD.
But we don't want T.A.P. to fold do we? Of course not!! Where did all the credit card codes come from, if we didnt know of someone who "got" them T.A.P. publishes them every year, and has not missed a year yet!
Issue 65 covered Pirate radio/Can Jumping/CC codes 81'
Issue 66 covered! Fortress Phone info/CCITT info/PC Boards/Autovon info Issue 67 will be their Special 10th Anniversary Issue Double Edition!!
BUT< it may not come out unless he has articals to publish. Why not a few, just a few, people write some nice looking articals. They must be a 5 inch column and must be typed on a GOOD typewriter. Also they must be in the T.A.P. office by March 28th because printing will be on the 1st of april and he has to put the issue together! If you don't subscribe to T.A.P. yet, here is the address once again.....

MESSAGE NUMBER 7349 IS 20 LINES FROM LESLIE MCKEOWN
TO USERS AND ROCK AND ROLLERS AT 22:49:50 ON 16-MAR-81.
SUBJECT: SUSY THUNDER

I HAVE BEEN WATCHING THIS SYSTEM FOR AWHILE, AND IT HAS FINALLY OCCURED TO ME THAT SUSAN THUNDER IS ONE AND THE SAME AS SUSY THUNDER. FOR THOSE OF YOU WHO DO NOT FOLLOW ROCK AND ROLL, (I.E. READ CREAM, CIRCUS, ETC.)
SUSY THUNDER WAS PROBABLY THE MOST FAMOUS GROUPIE OF THE MID-TO-LATE 70'S!!
APPARENTLY THIS ROSCOE THINKS HE'S GOING TO EMBARRAS SUSY BY SENDING OUT COPIES OF ONE OF HER MAGAZINES, BUT WHAT HE DOESN'T KNOW IS THAT SHE'S MOST LIKELY PROUD OF IT, AND WILLINGLY GAVE THE INTERVIEW TO LET EVERYONE KNOW THAT SHE HAS DATED ROD STEWART, JIMMY PAGE, MICK JAGGER, ETC.
SOMEBODY LIKE HER HAS TO BE VERY PRETTY AND VERY CLEVER TO GET BACKSTAGE
AT THESE CONCERTS, AND INTO THE HOTELS WHERE THESE BANDS STAY, AND PARTY AND TRAVEL WITH THEM. I WOULD, BY ALL MEANS, SUGGEST THAT EVERYONE
REQUEST THEIR COPY OF ROSCOE'S LEAFLET TODAY!! FIND OUT WHO SUSY THUNDER REALLY IS IN THE EYES OF THE PUBLIC! READ ONE OF THE OVER 2000 MAGAZINE ITEMS THAT WERE PRINTED ABOUT HER DURING HER ILLUSTRIOUS CAREER! SHE HAS APPEARED ON MANY, MANY T.V. SHOWS SUCH AS TOM SNYDER, DINAH SHORE, MIKE DOUGLAS, ETC., TALKING ABOUT THE UPPER-ECHELON ROCK AND ROLL WORLD, AND I, FOR ONE, EVEN JOINED HER FAN CLUB!! SHE WAS QUITE A CELEBRITY OR 4 YEARS AGO! (I WAS BEGINNING TO WONDER WHAT HAPPENED TO HER, IN FACT...I SEE THAT SHE'S IN COMPUTERS NOW...)
ANYWAY, GET ROSCOE'S LEAFLET, AND HAPPY READING!!

YOU DID WHEN YOU HAD LONG HAIR! FUNNY, HUH? TOO BAD YOU COULD NEVER GET PREGNANT BY ONE OF THOSE ROCK STARS, YOU'D HAVE MADE A FORTUNE!!
PLEASE CALL ME SOMETIME AND LET'S TALK ABOUT THE GOOD OLD TIMES!
I'M LEAVING MY NUMBER IN AN RP MESSAGE.

Subject: Re: Thundr

I think the hate stirred up by a few people on this system for each other is really terrible. Instead of saying things like "Thunder is stupid!" or "Kill Roscoe" or "You are all liars!" or whatever, why not just simply state opinion/possible fact, instead of maliciously gossiping to each other to try and destroy everyone else?

An example of this is the message supposedly left by Susan Thunder saying she was back. That is an obvious fake. Any fool can see the "@" after the name. That changes the entire account name, so that it may LOOK like it was from thunder, but it wasn't. These cheap shots and tricks are really making me feel sick. How about some civility and humility, instead of jeering, taunting anger?

She is a fake. Actually, she is a he.
Additionally, Ma Bell security is covered by a threat to report such harasment to the California PUC (Public Utilities Commision). Just mention PUC if anyone threatens you and you'll never hear from those asshole again! This is brought to you as a public service from
ONE WHO KNOWS**

The only thing you really need to worry about is excessive blue box usa... that is a NO NO. All "public" networks and the like are fair game (legally speaking) and they should (my opinion) pay YOU if you find problems with their systems. Note, though, that you should not "log" excessive calls to such, but 20 or 30 does not constitute abuse (or malicies mischief). Hope this eases your minds.

You can be a teacher if you have an A.S. degree and 4 yrs. experience, or a B.S. and 2 yrs. experience. Our program prepares students to become electronics technicians, and our emphasis is on practical knowledge. Our immediate need is for a part time instructor, but a full time position is also a possibility. You don't have to already have a teaching credential, and you don't have to have prior teaching experience. You do have to have patience and know your stuff fairly well. Call Mary at 739-4612.

Subject: TAP MEETING

The usual weekly meeting of TAP, the hobbyists journal for the communications revolution, will have a change of location for next Friday, the 13th of March. The meeting will be held at the Interactive Telecommunications Program of New York University. The NYU ITP is located at 725 Broadway, at the corner of Waverly Place, which is one block south of the 8th St stop on the RR subway. Since this particular meeting is being held in a "respectable" location, we are inviting those of you who would not ordinarily seek us out, to come to the meeting at NYU. Telco security is also invited to check out what kinds of crazy things we are into, and I for one would be happy to get into a discussion of phreaking on the networks with them. T-Shirts and coffee mugs with the Ma Bell Is A Cheap Mother logo on them will be available for sale at that time. Hope to see you there. (I'll be the guy in the "urban Gorilla suit". Costume is part of the effect).

Keep Smiling,
Cheshire
NYU ITP, 725 Broadway, 4th Floor, Friday Mar 13 5:30PM

Wine and cheese will be provided for attendees.

Subject: The Controversy

While Ms Thunder may not be the most respectable of phreaks and hackers (and I do fault her for not showing the "True Hacker" ideals), any user can log into this system, if you haven't noticed, and pull off enough info to start tracking down phreaks. A certain level of paranoia is healthy in this businexxxx hobby. While it certainly could be Susan who's turning any one in, see what kind of trail you may be leaving yourself. Also, the term True Hacker is one that may need some interpreting. It means someone who is friendly to systems that are friendly. BBS's in general are friendly, and should be helped by all. They should not be crashed, phones turned off, power cut, or other nastyness, because then they won't be there to play with anymore. The hobbyists attitude should certainly be one of "Sure, I can crash it". In certain cases, there may even be reason to crash it, but to say "I won't crash it" shows more responsibility than the child-like hackers can come up with. When you know you have the power to be nasty, it doesn't mean that you have to use it. Especially when you can hurt people in the process. Computer hobbyists have shown an increasing tendency towards anarchy. Being a staffer on TAP, I can't claim not to hold some of these ideas. But look through some of the liturature. Most of the good stuff is fiction. (continued)

I would like to refer you to Ayn Rand (The Fountainhead, Atlas Shrugged), but more fun to read are the books of Robert A Heinlein (Stranger in a Strange Land, Space Cadet, Red Planet, >The Moon Is A Harsh Mistress<). The last, is a great computer story. It shows a computer "Coming Alive" as more circuits are hooked up, and how it learns about jokes. What is always-funny, and what is funny-once, ect. The ability to crash systems, and make life hard for others is not one that should be used for those purposes. If you can crash a system, you can help that system be useful to others who don't know systems as well as you. Sharing that knowledge can be frustrating, but the more people start to learn about computers, the more computers there will be around for us to play with. Have fun, folks, I know that I sure do, but keep it cool.

Keep Smiling,
Cheshire

PS: and keep others smiling too.

Subject: "susan 'thunder"

It is obvious that the person leaving messages as "Susan 'Thunder" is a fake. Here are the reasons:

- 1) This person is using an Apple as a terminal. The real Susan Thunder uses a regular 80 col terminal.
- 2) The messages from "Ms. 'Thunder" are all in UPPERCASE. More evidence of an apple.
- 3) This person is signing "her" messages as "THUNDR@AI MIT"
which, for those who aren't aware of it, is the WRONG SYNTAX for an Arpanet mailing address at MIT.
- 4) As Tim Bessie pointed out, this system will not accept a signon for "Susan Thunder" without the proper password, so to bypass this, this person is signing in as "Susan 'Thunder" to beat this.

I'm certain that others could find errors in phrasing, etc that Susan would not do, as well as claiming knowledge she wouldn't have.

So, now let's ask ourselves this: Who hates Susan so much that this person would totally screw up her hacking existence by making her totally disreputable?

think about it...

LOOK OUT ALL!,

IT IS EVIDENT THAT THE MESSAGES, OR SOME AT LEAST, WERE NOT FROM THUNDER, BECAUSE OF THE NAME "SUSAN 'THUNDER". THE APOSTROPHE MADE THE DIFFERENCE AND ALLOWED A FAKE...HOWEVER, YOU MIGHT HAVE NOTICED THAT THOSE THREATS LEFT A FEW DAYS AGO WERE FROM HER REAL I.D., THUS INDICATING THAT SHE DID LEAVE THEM. THE RECENT ONE WAS OBVIOUSLY FAKE DUE TO THE APOSTROPHE AND THE MISSPELLINGS!!!!

BUT, IT'S PROBABLY A SCHEME OF SUSAN'S TO COVER UP FOR THE ANGER SHE GENERATED WITH HER THREATS TO ME AND SYSOPS IN HER LAST FEW MESSAGES, WHICH HAVE NOW BEEN DELETED, THANKFULLY, SINCE THEY GAVE OUT FAMILY INFORMATION ABOUT MY AUNT AND MOTHER.

OF COURSE, I EXPECT SUSAN TO HAVE LEFT THE FAKE MESSAGES SO SHE CAN SAY THAT SHE KNOWS NOTHING ABOUT THE THREATS AND THAT IT WAS AN IMPOSTER. ALSO, I EXPECT SUSAN TO PRETEND THAT SHE NEVER LEFT THE THREATS TO MY FAMILY.

IT IS EVIDENT THAT SHE IS BACK IN TOWN BECAUSE SHE STARTED PRANKING DAVE STARR AND MYSELF AGAIN...SUSAN, YOU GAVE YOURSELF AWAY. YOU MIGHT BE ABLE TO FOOL THE DUMB ONES ON HERE, BUT NOT THOSE WHO KNOW WHAT'S GOING ON...

DON'T TRY TO COVER UP, SUSAN!!! I GOT IT ON PAPER!! ROSCOE.

Subject: Nucleons

You are correct, nucleons are general subatomic particles, and so were the nucleons that I was talking about in my message. Perhaps (actually probably) I did not mention this: the 'nucleons' that I was referring to are any subatomic particle, WITH 'k spin' which is a complex spin extending through a 7-dimensional hyperspace. Application of this spin changes the properties of particles in unusual (to say the least!) ways, and by 'nucleons' I meant 'nucleons under k spin'. I should have been more clear there. Thanks for catching that. Look up the article if you really want to know the whole story; it's quite interesting.

(Application of k spin is the most difficult part, with spin in each successive dimension much more difficult than the last. Eight-dimensional spin has been considered and could possibly be achieved with very very strange techniques, but it would extend the range of the nucleonic powers to such a degree (several light-years) that creation of one such nucleon would destroy everything in the universe... Ick.

Like I said, I'm no friend of Susan's I'm just someone who has seen you two jumping from machine to machine throwing obscenitys & other havoc back and forth. What you were experiencing could be due to a bad line. It might also have been caused by someone trying to do a 'emergency verify'

Subject: DES things

Hi John,

Nice to see someone else interested in 'secure communication'. From what I've read, it seems that the NBS DES encryption method is secure from exhaustive key search attacks for at least the next 8-10 years. The alledged reason the NSA asked IBM to classify some of their working papers on the DES algorithm was that IBM accidentally (independantly) duplicated some of the methods that NSA uses to crack foreign gov't traffic. There was a back issue of BYTE mag that had a gooc description of the DES algorithm. The NBS will only certify hardware implementations of the algorithm 'cause they say that a software emulation could be compromised. I've got spec sheets for the INTEL, WD, and AMD chips. I plan to use the WD (Western Digital) chip because it is fast, easy to interface and simple to program. It is available locally fcr about $70. Any of the DES chips would be compatible with each other at the message level. One of the major drawbacks to the use of the DES for BBS msg's is that it requires some secure way of exchanging the keys. I'm trying to get some info on the Hellman and Diffie 'public key' system. It sounds like it would be much better suited for BBS use. Let me know if you have any ideas for applying DES or other methods to BBS msg's.

Well, I just got off the phone about 1 hr. ago with good old Paul, and according to him, Susan T. didn't turn him into the FBI, or local cops, but was accused of ripping off an IBM 1570 (or something like that).
Ofcourse he did not do this, but he is under house arrest, and isn't communicat ing with the outside world.. Just thought that you all would like to know that Paul sin't getting busted by the FBI, etc. (although he is in trouble about this theft). He says that the trial is nothing to worry about, and that they really don't have anything to back up there charges with. Hopefully Paul will be back into full swing sometime in the near time to come.

Rick, etc. I am still alive, and really don't know where you got the idea that I wan't (not alive, but laying low). Its true that I'm not on this system much (but who is?? Its always busy!). I have had some trouble with the FBI & MIT (long story, and no need to talk about), but I only stayed down for a week or two until it all blew over. As for the list, its currently at 500+ numbers, but I really haven't had much of a chance to work on it! I have school work (UGH!), and am working on a sorting program that will sort them all into 3 different categories, and then will need to add about 100 or so more to the list to complete it. I'm shooting for 700, and think that I might just get there...If I run into a large list of phone #'s, I might even get 1000. Who knows...I'm not really putting much effort into this, and if I was, I think that 1000 would be a low estimate of the amount that I could get!

Well, just so you know that I'm here, HELLO!, and if you ever need some phone #'s, or info, just leave me a RP message, and I'll get back to you soon.

In regards to ROSCOE's allegations that all the sysops around the country would rather not have me around, I offer this quote from message number 5310, which was left on this system on Jan. 13, 1981 to the Sys of this system. I have taken the liberty of shortening some of the obscenities with respect to some of the Christian members of our audience, but this IS an actual quote:

"...I WILL TAKE YOUR SYSTEM DOWN, DISCONNECTING IT INSTEAD OF CHANGING THE NUMBER, I WILL LEAVE YOUR HOME PHONE ON ALL OTHER SOURCES(BBS, COMMENT LINES, AND IN PAPERS), I WILL SHUT OFF YOUR PERSONAL LINE, YOUR ELECTRICITY, ETC. AND I WILL CALL ALL YOUR NEIGHBORS UP AT STRANGE HOURS AND TELL THEM WHAT AN A--HOLE YOU ARE. DON'T THINK I CAN'T T.D. YOUR LINE BECAUSE I CAN DO IT BETTER THAN ANYONE ELSE!!...BY THE WAY, I'LL ALSO F--K WITH YOUR RELATIVES AND ALL THOSE PEOPLE WHO APPEARED AS LONG-DISTANCE OR MESSAGE-UNIT DETAIL ON YOUR PHONE BILL..I ALREADY HAVE THE NUMBERS. I'M PISSED AT YOU.. F--K WITH ME AGAIN AND I'LL PUT YOU OUT. I DARE YOU TO F--K WITH ME AGAIN. I'LL SHOW YOU WHAT BEING SORRY IS."

Now, come on, ROSCOE, is that any way to make friends with sysops? And I'd love to see ANY letter sent by me logged in on MIT!!! I didn't even know how to use the mail until a week ago, so never sent any!!

here are some good books on compilers...arranged in order from most practical to most abstract:

1. The Anatomy of a Compiler, John Lee, Van Nostrand Reinhold, 1967. (describes the implementation of a FORTRAN compiler)
2. Compiler Construction for Digital Computers, David Gries, John Wiley & Sons, 1971.
3. Principles of Compiler Design, Aho & Ullman, Addison-Wesley, 1978.
4. Compiler Design Theory, Lewis, Rosenkrantz, & Sterns, Addison-Wesley, 1976.
5. Theory of Parsing, Translation & Compiling, Vol. I: Parsing, Vol. II: Compiling, Aho & Ullman, Prentice-Hall, 1972. (very abstract)

Collections of papers on compiler implementation:

1. Programming Systems and Languages, Editor - Saul Rosen, McGraw-Hill, 1967. (Part 3: Compiling & Translating)
2. Compiler Techniques, Editor - B. Pollack, Auerbach, 1972.
3. Compiler Construction: An Advanced Course, Editors - Bauer & Eickel, Springer-Verlag, 1976.

as far as languages go, Professor White at Stevens Institute of Technology, Hoboken, N.J. had written a set of notes used for teaching MACRO-10 around 1973. They may still be available from the Stevens book store. Two other references on MACRO-10:

1. DECSYSTEM-10/DECSYSTEM-20 Hardware Reference Manual.
2. DECSYSTEM-10 Assembly Language Manual.

(both available from DEC)

(if you want the order numbers, let me know...)

For MACRO-11 the PDP-11 Assembly Language Manual and any of the 11 Series Processor Handbooks will describe the instruction set.
These, too, available from DEC.

For LISP:

try: LISP 1.5 Primer, Clark Weissman, Dickenson, 1967.

Hope this is helpful... have fun!

To Bill Murray at 06:21:48 on 10-Mar-81.
Subject: Call Waiting and Modems

The best way to prevent Call Waiting from disturbing your data connection is to temporarily disable it. Call Waiting is "cwf" under the following circumstances:

1. If you forward you calls somewhere.
2. From the time you begin to make a three-way call until you have connected everyone together and the third party has gone off-hook (answered).

In a Number 2 ESS there are some additional conditions under which Call Waiting is disabled, such as while you are waiting for a long distance call to answer, and for the entire duration of a three-way call.

I strongly recommend using Call Forwarding, since it doesn't tie up any of Mother's precious resources. The only problems are figuring out something reasonable to forward to (preferably something that is always busy (watch out, some of Bell's busy test #'s "answer")) and remembering to cancel it when you are done. The other method is to call some recording and then add-on 8bbs without connecting both.

Western Digital WD2001 Data Encryption Device (37.5K bytes/sec)
AMD 9518 Data Ciphering Processor (1M+ bytes/sec)

I think there is at least one other LSI chip (Rockwell?) that is available, but I plan to use the WD2001 since the INTEL 8294 is too slow and the AMD 9518 is too complicated to use. The WD2001 is available locally for about $70. All 3 chips have been certified by NBS as valid implementations of the DES algorithm. Regards,..

To Synthesized speech experimente at 09:25:48 on 11-Mar-81.
Subject: VOTRAX SC-01 group buy

A recent issue of BYTE magazine contained an article on VOTRAX speech synthesizer work. VOTRAX now sells a single chip phoneme synthesizer that is capable of generating continuous, high quality speech, of unlimited vocabulary, from low data rate inputs.

The SC-01 chip contains 64 different phonemes that are addressed by a 6 bit code. The inflection (pitch level) of the voice phonemes can be varied with a 2 bit code. The SC-01 is very easy to interface to a 8 bit parallel I/O port. All that is needed is the 8 data bits (6 +2), an output strobe pulse. The only input from the SC-01 is a busy line that indicates when it is ready to accept a new phoneme. The output from the SC-01 is the audio speech signal which is amplified to drive a speaker.

Now the hard part. VOTRAX will only sell a minimum quantity of 5 chips at $95. each. I already know a couple of people that want one. What is needed are a few more people who would like to get this chip. I'll co-ordinate the buy when we get 5 firm commitments from people for $95. Leave a msg if you want to get the chip for $95. If you want spec sheets, call VOTRAX at 313 588-0341. Regards,..

I am seriously thinking of shortening the *O*ther systems list, by deleting all systems that are not really public access systems. This means that systems such as the HP-2000's, or any system that requires special or unusual procedures to gain access would not be listed. I think most of your STARCOM's would be in this category. Systems that require a ring-back or answer only after the 13th ring, etc. would also be deleted. Regards,...

For example, the wd1771 disc controller worked fine, but the 1791 had a bug that often resulted in the inability to read a disc written with the 1771. Also, the infamous micro-engine which is their pdp-11 (lsi-11) re-coded to execute p-code had so many bugs in it they actually are swapping the entire chip set to all users for free (but so far, one guy I know has been waiting to get his micro-engine cpu board BACK from WD for 4 months!!!!) PROceed with caution, even if the chip is certified, they might have hand-picked a good one when they submitted it!!!!

Subject: Timing for carrier tone

Hi! Can you change the parameter which controls the timing on your carrier tone generation upon initial dial-in? I lost the connection and had to re-dial several times, which is oppressive when doing it long distance, because your machine only gives the tone for 7 seconds (I timed it instead of trying once). Long carrier detect delay, which is the standard on many devices, can take from 2.5 up to 6 seconds; if it doesn't have all that time, it may not respond and let your line drop even with a good connection. When you count the time needed to react to hearing the tone and putting the receiver in the acoustic coupler, that subtracted from 7 seconds doesn't leave enough time. Please double your time to at least 15 seconds. It shouldn't cost you anything, and would save your callers trouble. Thanks

Hi Ed,

Yes, I've noticed that some callers are a bit sluggish about getting things together when calling 8BBS. The modem is currently set to disconnect after 6 sec's if no carrier is present. The other setting is an 18 sec time-out. The problem with the 18 sec timeout is that (for local callers) the line is still busy when they re-dial the number. I really can't understand why it should take more than about 2-3 sec's after 8BBS modem answers to have your equipment send a carrier. If you don't get a busy signal - you know 8BBS modem will answer. However... I will temporarily change the switch to allow 18 sec time-out. If there are any complaints about the 18 sec setting it will go back to 6 sec. Regards,..

I like your idea of having your company OEM the VOTRAX chip. VOTRAX would much rather deal with (and talk to) a business instead of individual hobbyist. I doubt if there would be any sales tax since the chips would be shipped from Michigan. You have at least one firm order from me. Maybe more, depending on what your markup is. I think there are at least two other people that are serious about getting the chip. Let me know when you want to place the order. Regards,..

Jordan,

The ONYX system was not down for weeks, let alone one week. It was down for PM only 2 days! I don't know where you got the notion it was down for more than a week, but, it is up, and the net connection was only taken down from BERKELEY, not from the Onyx itself. Tim is working on a program that will call (via 1200 baud autodialer) a Unix which is on the net, login, and use unix-to-unix copy and put it on the Onyx's mail system.

Anyway, keep me informed on your BBS, it sounds like its really coming along! Remember, once you get the autodialers, I will help you anyway I can on AI.. I am hacking the mailer right now anyway!

Subject: LEWIS DE PAYNE

Somebody has run an off-prem extension from one of my phone lines and monitored my computer activities, therefore they were able to obtain my password to the MIT systems. They subsequently logged in under my account and after sending some destructive mail in my name they tried to crash the system. A user that was on the system and works for security on MIT called me and let me know that there was this problem, and my password has now been changed. And the OPX on my line has been removed, so I hope this little problem is over with.

It has occurred to me that there is only one person who could stand to benefit from such activities, (and only in a strange egotistical way, at that...), and that person is Lewis DePayne, otherwise known as ROSCOE.

So I guess it's war. I've tried to ignore him, I've tried to call and talk to him about this in a civil fashion, and there is apparently no dealing with him other than by his own tactics. It has come to my attention that he has hired people on various occasions to sit outside my place of residence and follow me to work to see where I am employed.

Therefore, after much thought and consideration, I have decided to make public the following information. I am fully aware that his retaliation will probably include the publishing of my telephone numbers, etc., but the price seems to be worth it in this case.

---LEWIS, I AM TIRED OF YOUR SHIT. I HAVE RECENTLY PAID ALOT OF MONEY TO FIND OUT WHO, WHERE, AND WHAT JO MARIE IS, DOES AND LIVES, AND IF YOU KEEP F-CKING WITH ME THIS INFORMATION WILL BE MADE PUBLIC NEXT.--- (AND IF YOU'RE WONDERING WHETHER OR NOT THIS THREAT HAS ANY VALIDITY, PERHAPS YOU SHOULD THUMB THROUGH THE YELLOW PAGES AND CALL A FEW DANCE STUDIOS...)

Another thing I'd like to point out is the abundance of "never-heard-of's" that have surfaced in the last week or so since ROSCOE crawled back out of the sewer: people such as "ELVIN RICHARD", "JOHN BILLINGS", etc., all of whom I've never heard of, yet seem to take a really strong dislike towards me for no apparant reason.

In fact, for any of you who may be making your decision based on the bullshit you see being slung back and forth, I invite you to give me a call, and let's have a chat!! Take this opportunity to see who I really am!! Even call COLLECT!! (See next message for numbers...)

Feel free to call collect, and for your convenience I am listing here three of my phone numbers:(213)781-9060,(213)781-9078, and (213)781-9152. I am looking forward to talking to all of you who may want to ask me any questions.

As for the information regarding ROSCOE'S place of employment, he works at Ernst and Whinney, apparently a Law/Accounting firm in downtown L.A., located at 515 Flower St., and the Phone Number is (213)621-1666.

In the unlikely event that you'd want to talk to LEWIS DE PAYNE, just ask for data-processing. If you would like to otherwise harrass him, perhaps the personell dept would be of some assistance. He has made my life miserable ever since I stopped going out with him, and it's time for me to retaliate. So if anybody out there would like a thrill, by all means, give them a call and let them know what kind of scum they employ. (These are the exact plans he had for me in the event he found out where I was working, so all you moralists can ease off...)THUNDER

If I may, two of my favorite systems whose performance is equal to pdp-11 and which are reletively inexpensive (compared to systems with equal capacities) are

1) Onyx System's Corp. Z-8000 Unix Version 7

The Z-8000 is somewhat like the LSI-11, and the UNIX it runs is comparable to the PDP-11's.

Price: $25,000

Comes with hard disk drive, tape drive, 128K (I believe), 8 user ports, 2 printer ports, and all the facilities of unix (with all subroutines, system calls, and file handling programs)

2) Terak 8150/a Graphics computer

This system is an LSI-11/03 or 11/23 (I can't remember at the moment). You can get many OS's for it. Most popular is the UCSD Pascal OS, which has some very nice graphics features, as well as an extremely good visual editor. The system comes with:

Subject: Re: Onyx availability

 ONYX *****
Everyone: The Onyx is NOT (repeat NOT) down. The 'ferns' account does not work at the moment, though. This is because the present version of the C compiler we have often messes up when it comes to character-arrays, and thus messes up file accounting and buffering. We are presently polling for a new version of both the operating system AND the compiler. When this is done, the 'ferns' account at (408) 425-8000 will be graciously revived. Also, I am changing the message system to work through a system of protections. Thus, people I trust more will be able to access various things accordingly.
The only thing that really needs to be guarded is the 'system' command, by which one may enter the Onyx Unix Version 7 Operating System itself. The only problem with this is that people might decide they want to go and delete the message and accounting files for ferns. Everything else is safe. So, if you want to use the main OS, and I don't trust you, or 'ferns' is down, then you may log in as account 'guest' (lower case), no password.
That is ABSOLUTELY FREE, and you get ALL PRIVILEGES of a normal any reason for her to respond to it with more biting rebuttal. Up to now (since she returned), she has at least had the tact not to blow up like you do. Forced into a corner by your insinuations and actively disgusting commentary, she began to once again act like you. If everyone were like you, this planet would have been destroyed long ago by wars and other types of violence. I have written ROSCOE a message detailing what I think about the current (childish) controversy. Read it, please (last message). I suggest that you continue in a calm manner, and ignore anything that Roscoe throws at you. The reason that I suspect Roscoe more than you on this is primarily BECAUSE you have not resorted as much to muc-slinging and childish yelling as has Roscoe. I also have noticed the marked similarity to many of those new users' message, how close they are to Roscoe's and Dave Starr's. Still, I think if you ignore all this stuff, and don't try to defend yourself to the hilt, as they do, then the people on the systems you use won't really care about what Roscoe and his cohorts say. You will get a much more positive response if you simply treat his babblings as nothing important and valid, than if you get angry and get down to his level to argue. I have many times seen arguments like his, and they have all been from 7-12 year-olds who find using a computer where no one knows who they really are facinating, fun, and secret. See what you can do.

One of the best compiler books I have read (as an introduction to compiler-writing) is:

An Introduction to Compiler Writing

By J. S. Rohl (MacDonald and Jane's/American Elsevier Computer Monographs, 1975)

This book describes the construction of a compiler, starting with a very small, restricted subset of Algol, and expanding it until it has described a full Algol compiler, with info methods, optimization, etc. It doesn't delve too deeply (at all) into theory, which is what I liked about it. Once you have read it, you will be ready to write your own compiler quite quickly. Also, it does not discuss much of the rhetorical questions about compilers over and over, so it is only about 300 fast-reading pages long. Look into it.

Why do you keep switching you attitude back and forth?
First you apologize, then you scream, then you threaten, then you apologize, then you phylosophize. When will it ever end? Make up your mind. I am officially taking no stand, though I DO find Ms. Thunder's attitude slightly less offending than that of Roscoe's, and yours (in your more recent letters).

Why are you angry at me? I merely suggested (quite calmly, too) that it is not important to try and 'get back' at anyone. Why would you want to ruin, kill, deny access, and otherwise harm anyone, for any reason? I am getting so dismayed with this entire situation I am beginning to think I will call the FBI and have them do a rundown on everyone involved! Of course, I won't do that, but I am getting to feel that way. Calm down, think about the things you say before you say them, and replace thought of revenge, harm, and ruination with those that will most quickly bring this controversy to an end: disinterest.

Hi Richard,

The disconnect could be due to 101 things that go wrong at this end, your end, telco stuff in-between, etc...

When you enter a RP msg, 8BBS verifies that the WHO TO: name is in the user name file. If you spell it wrong, it won't accept a RP msg. You can use the I function to find a user name, or do a S summary and find a msg from that person if you don't remember the spelling. Regards...

- several earthquakes
- power outages
- system crashers
- death threats to the SYSOP
- PT&T monitoring
- phone phreak pranking and 48 revisions to the software.

There have been no hardware failures in the system (DEC makes good equipment), but the Novation modem has had a few problems. Perhaps it wasn't meant for 12,000 + calls.

There are no plans for multi-user operation, but there will at least one or two more revisions to the software. 8BBS may even get a 1200 baud modem sometime later this year. Regards,..

Subject: Problems

Hi Chuck,

I noticed your comments about 8BBS. I too would prefer not to see personal attacks and foul language on 8BBS, but since it is a public access system, just about anyone can leave just about any kind of msg. I travel a lot and don't have time to sit and monitor what people type into their msg's. If you see a msg you dislike, attempt to kill it, even if unsuccessful, it will show in the log file. If there are several people that object to a msg, it will probably disappear soon.

Some users may not wish to be associated with a BBS that allowed ads from your company, but if you wish to leave recruitment ads on 8BBS, that is fine with me. You can kill protect them, and of course there is no charge.

I did not understand what you meant by "... IF A PERSON HAS A LOT OF TROUBLE WITH A COMPANY IT SHOULD BE KNOWN TO ALL AS WELL AS THE GOOD ONES."

Regards,..

As you can see in the welcome, 8BBS doesn't take 600 baud. However, messages not of enduring interest usually get killed in a couple weeks, so you really won't have that much to go through. Those of us lucky enough to get through every few days find about 150 messages a week (NOT counting the RP ones we can't see) to wade through.

We had a 4.0 earthquake at 0245 this morning. Didn't headcrash this system, so it must not have been too serious...

Are you considering the vadic triple modem? That is the most versatile and allows virtually any kind of 1200 bauder to call in. (IT supports Bell 212 and Vadic 3400, which are the two universal 1200 baud protocols, which, of course, are not compatible with each other. (Like Telenet has two sets of lines for 1200, one are vadic and the other are Bell. A real pain if you forget which one is which unless you have your own triple modem.)
The price $900 is a little too steep, otherwise cbbs santa clara

I have been watching this system for awhile, and it has finally occurred to me that Susan Thunder is one and the same as Susy Thunder. For those of you who do not follow rock and roll, (i.e. read CREEM, CIRCUS, etc.) Susy Thunder was probably the MOST FAMOUS groupie of the mid-to-late 70's!! Apparently this Roscoe thinks he's going to embarrass Susy by sending out copies of one of her magazines, but what he doesn't know is that she's most likely PROUD of it, and WILLINGLY gave the interview to let everyone KNOW that she has dated Rod Stewart, Jimmy Page, Mick Jagger, etc. Somebody like her has to be very pretty and very clever to get backstage at these concerts, and into the hotels where these bands stay, and party and travel with them. I would, by all means, suggest that EVERYONE request their copy of Roscoe's Leaflet TODAY!! Find out who Susy Thunder really is in the eyes of the public! Read one of the over 2000 magazine items that were printed about her during her illustrious career! She has appeared on many, many t.v. shows such as Tom Snyder, Dinah Shore, Mike Douglas, etc., talking about the upper-echelon rock and roll world, and I, for one, even joined her fan club!! She was quite a celebrity 3 or 4 years ago! (I was beginning to wonder what happened to her, in fact...I see that she's in computers now...)
Anyway, get Roscoe's leaflet, and happy reading!!

Which magazine article are you sending out? There have been several recently.

Did you used to date Susy?

I met her one time and she really does turn heads, huh? You are so lucky to have gotten that close to her after all those rock stars.

How did you guys meet? How long were you going out together? Why do you hate each other so much now?

Sorry so many questions.

See ya later, Leslie

Dear Susy,

Let's get together sometime!! Where have you been these last 2 years?
I heard that you finally got off the drugs and stuff. Was it hard?
What do you think about Rod's wife Alana? I think she looks just like you did when you had long hair! Funny, huh? Too bad you could never get pregnant by one of those rock stars, you'd have made a fortune!!
Please call me sometime and let's talk about the good old times!
I'm leaving my number in an RP message.

Love, Leslie

P.S. In case you don't know who I am, I'm the one who used to send you the letters in the green and white envelopes. You wrote back to me 3 or 4 times. I'll let you know my fan club number if I can find it. I may have thrown it out.

HELLO CALLERS ONCE MORE!,
DON'T FORGET, THIS SATURDAY FOR 5 DAYS I WILL BE RUNNING THE SUSY TAPES!
AND BY THE WAY, YOU KNOW THAT LESLIE GIRL WHO MYSTERIOUSLY POPPED UP ON THE BBS SAYING ALL THOSE NICE THINGS ABOUT SUSAN? WELL, ANOTHER GOOD TRY SUSAN,
BUT YOU FUMBLER. LESLIE, WHILE WRITING THOSE MESSAGES ASKING SUSAN TO CALL HER SOMETIME, WAS SITTING IN SUSAN'S ROOM USING SUSAN'S TERMINAL TO WRITE THEM!!! AMAZING WHAT FEMALES CAN THINK OF. YOU SEE, SUSAN CALLED HER

FRIEND LESLIE TO HELP HER SWAY THE PROOF THAT I HAVE. SO , I ENCOURAGE YOU ALL TO CALL MY LINE THIS SATURDAY + AND HEAR THE "SUSAN CHRONICLES". YOU WILL LEARN THE TRUTH IN SUSAN'S OWN VOICE!!!

BEWARE, FOR LESLIE IS GOING TO PRETEND THAT SHE NEVER HEARD FROM SUSAN AND THAT SHE DOESN'T KNOW WHAT I'M TALKING ABOUT. OF COURSE THIS PLOT TURNED OUT VERY SLOPPY. LIKE I SAID SUSAN... YOU ALWAYS HAVE TO GET ON ANOTHER NAME TO GET SOME COMPLIMENTS!!! WELL, ALL CALLERS, ASK ME FOR THE FREE SUSY THUNDER MAGAZINE COPY AS LESLIE SAYS, AND SEE FOR YOURSELF WHAT SHE (SUSAN) REALY IS. ALSO, LISTEN FOR YOURSELF !!! (213) 462-5788 WILL BE PLAYING SUSAN TAPES BEGINNING SATURDAY..SO, CALL THEN, AND STAY TUNED ON THIS BBS AS SUSAN MAKES HER NEXT MOVE... JUST LIKE A GAME OF CHESS!!!! HELLO ALL,

I THINK IT'S TIME THAT WE ALL WELCOME THE NEW CALLER, LESLIE MCKEOWN, TO 8BBS. AT LAST, SUSAN HAS BEEN ABLE TO DIG UP ONE PAID,,,ERR,,,FRIEND. WELCOME LESLIE, HOW LONG HAVE YOU KNOWN SUSY?
WHERE WERE YOU ALL THIS TIME?

I NOTICE THIS IS YOUR FIRST TIME ON, I HOPE YOU ENJOY 8BBS, IT REALLY IS A FINE SYSTEM.

BY THE WAY, WHAT TYPE OF TERMINAL ARE YOU USING?

I DON'T THINK SHE LOOKS LIKE ROD STEWARD'S WIFE ALANA, SHE (ALANA) DOESN'T HAVE FAT HIPS AND BUCK-TEETH LIKE SUSAN, AND ALANA IS NOT THE JOLLY GREEN GIANT. GRANTED, SUSAN MIGHT HAVE MORE EXPERIENCE IN THE SEXUAL DEPARTMENT.

BY THE WAY, I AM NOT INTENDING TO EMBARRASS SUSY, AS YOO SAY, I ONLY INTEND TO LET THE CALLERS HEAR WHAT SUSY SAID, AND ALSO LET THEM READ THE COPIES OF THE MAGAZINE FOR FREE!! AREN'T I NICE ? BY THE WAY, ANTON (KEVIN MITNICK) CALLED ME TO TELL ME THAT YOU'RE AT SUSY'S HOUSE USING HER TERMINAL. ISN'T THAT NICE OF HIM? AREN'T WE CLEVER ? WELL, TELL SUSAN THAT QUEEN TO KING'S PAWN 4 PUT HER IN CHECK, AND THIS WEEKEND SHE WILL BE

Subject: Auto-dialer

I found out where an autodialer can be connected to a phone where it will be blocked from getting ringer and dialing voltages. Connect it to the same terminals on the terminal block inside a standard phone as the voice transmitter in the handpiece. If you have a direct-connect modem connected to the line, then connect the dialer AFTER the isolation x-former in the modem; I found out that even a 2500 ohm load will load down the phone line too much and prevent the phone or modem from hanging up! Also, put another isolation/load matching x-former between the modem/phone and the autodialer to block ringer voltages. The x-former that I used is a T-31X made by Triad. It is rated for use above 60Hz, and should block tthe 20Hz ringer voltage. I have several of these x-formers if you would want one. Regards...

Really, you shouldn't begin to get so barbarric in your tone. It conjures up images on this end of a savage warrior with war paint and a bone through his nose going into a wild frenzy when he spots his prey. You should calm down. For instance, no matter what she has (allegedly) done, you shouldn't go crazy over it on this system. If you were really as smart and as fair as you claim, you would approach this calmly, logically, and intelligently. You don't have to say "KILL! KILL! KILL!" to get people's attention. You don't even give specific enough details to warrant such outlandish behaviour. I suggest you make a list of EXACT things that Ms. Thunder has done, list them here, and be ready to have evidence for them that would stand up in a court of law against the highest scrutiny.

Hi Kerry,
The 'Read Protect' msg idea has always been a problem area. 8BBS doesn't take any chances when working with RP msg's. The next version of 8BBS will allow you to Get and Kill RP msg's that are TO / FROM you if, (only if) you have assigned yourself an access password with the U function. If you don't have a pw'd someone else could log in with your name and Get or Kill your RP msg's, so that is why it now has those restrictions. Regards...

Subject: Onyx accounts

In order to get an account, you must supply me with the following information:

- 1) Your full, real name
- 2) The account NAME (NOT number) you want, which may be up to 36 characters long, and is composed of any combination of letters and/or numbers (no white spaces or odd chars)
- 3) The password you want, with the same restrictions as the account name.

Once I respond that your account has been initiated, call:
(408) 425-8000 for 300 baud and

(408) 425-8004 for 1200 baud (Ven-Tel 212A, I think) and press return a couple of times. When it says 'login:' you type 'ferns' and press return. If it asks you for a password, then something has gone wrong. It means either:

- 1) The account is missing for some strange reason
 - 2) You are sending upper case and the login program doesn't convert to lower case
 - 3) The characters you are sending have some bits set incorrectly
- In any case, if something happens, leave me a message. Try several times. Cont.

Once it has accepted the account name, it will (should) type out the last login time, and, after a few seconds, say "Account name: " (notice the difference between 'login:' and 'Account name: '). Once you have gotten this, type in the account name I have assigned you, and press return. If it doesn't know it, it will say so and log off, back to the 'login: '. If it does, it will greet you and ask for your password with 'Enter Password: '. Then enter the password I have assigned you. It should then log you in. For your first time, type 'help', 'menu', etc. Commands cannot be shortened, so, for instance, you may not use 'r' instead of 'read'. I am working on a way to make it possible to have shortest-possible-alien type commands. In the meantime, ask me for an account!

Hi Bob,

No, the msg flagging code works fine. I seem to recall someone using your name that was attempting to login with oddball names, so I thought 6766 was appropriate.

8BBS does not directly support multiple "WHO TO" msg's. But you can use the Get msg feature to copy msg's to several people. I don't see why you'd need to do that, since a public msg can be seen by everyone and you can't Get RP msg's anyway. If this is really important, let me know, and I'll describe how it can be done. The RP msg capability is meant for private msg exchange between just two users, not pseudo-private mail to a group of users. Regards,..

Quement is a retail store so there is no minimum order. They are at 1000 S. Bascom Ave. in San Jose. They charge very high prices on everything, so be prepared. The maximum load you can put on the phone line seems to vary quite a bit with where you are, so you just have to try it to find out. The xformer you are looking for would be with all of the other matching xformers at Quement. So far I haven't found anybocy else that has them, so you just have to pay Quements price for it.

Hi Allan

Not sure what happened to cause the 'hang' symptom. If 8BBS stops echoing the characters you type there are several things you can try to get it going again. Try a ^K, ^C, ^Q or S to tell 8BBS to resume output. If a character that you typed got garbled, 8BBS might see it as a S or ^S which would tell it to suspend output. Regards,..

I TRIED A BUNCH OF LOW PRICED CALLS IN DECEMBER, AND GOT CREAMED
BY JANUARY -- I'M CONVINCED THEY'RE MOSTLY A WAY FOR THE SPECIALISTS TO MAKE SOME POCKET MONEY. WHEN GRANVILLE LAST KISSED THE MARKET, I DROPPED
THE CALLS AND BOUGHT GAF PUTS (JULY 10'S). SO FAR, THE PUTS HAVEN'T DONE TOO WELL, BUT THE STOCK HAS DROPPED A LITTLE. I AM CONFIDENT JOE HAS ACCURATELY CALLED THE LONG TERM TREND, BUT I PITY THOSE PEOPLE THAT SOLD SHORT. I THINK KODAK 80'S LOOK GOOD, MAYBE BUYING THE OCTOBER PUTS AND WRITING THE APRILS OR JULYS. BUT, I THOUGHT THE 70 PUT LOOKED GOOD A FEW WEEKS AGO -- GOOD THING I DIDN'T HAVE ANY MONEY LEFT.
A STOCK THAT SEEMS TOO LOW TO ME IS NATIONAL SEMI. IF THIS MARKET WERE TO CONTINUE ON PAST THE 1000 LEVEL, I THINK WE MIGHT SEE A STRONG RECOVERY THERE.
GOLD ALSO SEEMED INTERESTING; I HOPE I HAVEN'T MISSED THE BOAT THERE. I EXPECT TO SEE IT BELOW THE RECENT LOW IF THE RUSSIANS INVADE POLAND (THUS TAKING THE HEAT OFF -- I'M BASICALLY A CONTRARIAN).

Hello.

I have alot of faith and respect for those dinky little game stamps that fast food dives and supermarkets like to distribute. Maybe it's just because I've been extroidinarily lucky in the stupid games: I don't know...

The possibilty is very slim indeed that they have different "rare" game pieces for different parts of the country, after all, it's just to easy to "reach out, reach out and touch someone" if ya know what I mean.
There is also, however, another very slim possibility, and that is the possibility that more than 2 or 3 million dollars worth of those prizes will end up being claimed! Most people get the thing, see if it's an instant winner, and if not they trash it...most people figure that they would never win anything. Therefore, many of the rare pieces never make it to collector's books, and it says in the rules that any prizes not claimed will not be awarded.

Now to the luck I've had: I found the "rare" piece to the $1,000 winner in the last contest on the ground in the parking lot!!

Ok, what I want to do is connect an autodialer that I built to the phone lines directly. I have a 600 ohm matching audio x-former connected already, but it loads the phone line down too much; even with a 2500 resistor in series with it! Got any better ideas? Right now I have it connectec in parallel with the mouthpiece on a standard phone; but I'd like to use a direct-connection. Any ideas? Regards,

Subject: MK5087, etc

I assume you solved your MK5087 problem? what was wrong? I didn't see your msg sooner, otherwise I could've helped you. From what I can tell, the mistake is that pin 7 should NOT be wired to +12v and the xtal should be wired from pin 7 to 8. the 5087 has an internal resistor so the 1meg/10meg resistor should not be needed. good luck. i might add that pin 7 is internally wired to the input of an inverter and pin 8 is the output. this means you can use an external clock wired to pin 7. you have probably solved your prob already. i agree, direct is MUCH better than using an xformer. somewhere you have to isolate the computer from the line though. i am somewhat perplexed about what the point of adding the 2.5k resistor to the xformer was. will talk later... -Dr. SLI, T.I.D.

regarding msg #6842 to bill murray about carrier loss: call waiting, call forwarding, etc. I am 90% certain these services are provided in your area. Read the front of your phone book. Certainly YOU should know at least what legit services are avail. I feel your sys should tolerate a 3 second carrier loss. Many commercial acoustic couplers (my anderson jacobson for one) have a one second delay from reception to xmission of carrier. this is so it will not be beeping when hearing speech, etc. They do not have this delay at turn-off, the will stop xmitting within about .1 sec. after loosing carrier. Let's say your mom lifts up the downstairs phone and hearing the usual whine, asks if you are on. Hearing no reply, she hangs up & yells for you to get off the phone. (familiar, right?) This incident resulted in a .25 sec hit (tech. name for carrier loss (almost)) to the user's modem, which immediately drops carrier. .25 second later it recieves carrier and starts its 1 sec countdown. Thus 1.25 secs after the start of the dropout it turns on again only to find our friendly 8bbs leaving... TBC...

My second unwritten rule was that we respect each other. We had our own room with 5 tty's and no teachers ever entered. We brought in our own furniture, file cabanit, etc. We worked together on each others projects. I never tried to hold back the resources of our account. Those at the other schools each had fixed accounts with 50 sectors and could only be used for math, and with an obnoxious teacher leaning over you. I gave everyone all they needed (most had 5000 sectors) and all capabilities. We were completely responsible for our actions. When the teletypes (often) broke down we (mostly I) had to fix them. I felt our system worked awfully well. Alas, the good ole days...

Hi Steven,

I checked with PT&T again today, about special services for this prefix. None of the ones you mentioned are available. They said perhaps late this summer when they go to ESS. I use two different types of AJ acoustic couplers and have had no problems with delayed carrier detect. I don't know of any valid technical reason why the 6 second timeout should be lengthened.

I too would prefer not to see hate mail on here, but 8BBS is NOT my main interest. I don't have the time or inclination to maintain tight control over msg content. Yes, I've had several types of threats from users, mainly just verbal abuse, but there really was a death to the SYSOP threat. Your situation at the PALY HP3000 was different that being the SYSOP of a public access system. It is not easy to deny anyone from using this system and still allow new users to call in. Your ideas about rating messages and user identity are certainly possible, but I have no interest in doing it.

About DES software... I know there was a very good article in a BYTE back issue that gave a very detailed explanation of the DES algorithm. I think it also included a machine language implementation. I don't know what issue. Regards,..

Out of curiosity I have a few questions to ask of you.

- 1). assuming that all of your i/o routines are in Pal 8, how much space is required for your basic program.
- 2). How much space do you leave in core for the current message?
- 3). What type of data structure are you using for storage of msg's.
- 4). I thought 20 lines was the maximum but msg #1 is labeled at 28 Lines.how is this done?

TO ALL WHO MAY BE INTERESTED....

I have completed and tested all required i/o routines for my Apple Pascal bbs
I am currently working on the data structures and the menu of procedures

WHAT NEW PROCEDURES WOULD YOU LIKE TO SEE ON A BBS?

Dick will you be going to the faire on friday? I would like to visit with

Joe,

You can start in stocks with next-to-nothing. Cardinal rule: risk only what you are SURE you can afford to lose. If you get forced (by financial emergency) to pull out of the market, it will ALWAYS be at the worst time.

Merrill Lynch (big brokerage firm) puts out a paperback book with some pedestrian title like "How to Invest in Stocks" which is a reasonably good intro to the language and mechanics of playing the stock market. You can learn a lot just by talking to account execs (=salesmen) at different "houses" ... their advice is free.

Hi Larry,

8BBS is mostly a "do it yourself" system. If you want a password, just help yourself by using the U function. Some things you should know... only the first 4 char's are used as the password. To Robert Kohler at 09:03:10 on 24-Mar-81.
Subject: 8BBS secrets...

Hi Robert,

As you can see from the I function, Dick hasn't been on for about a month. So I'll try to answer the questions and let him know that you want to talk to him. The BASIC portion of 8BBS takes about 19K of 12bit words. About 4K of that is stored ASCII prompt strings. When a user is entering a msg, all 20 lines of 80 char's are stored in a string array and written to disk only when the Save command is given. The file structure is record I/O for all the data files (User Name, User Data, Messages, Message Index) and sequential I/O for all the text files (Other Systems, Help Info, Bulletins, Welcome). Messages longer than 20 lines can be created by using a program to take a OS/8 text file and insert it into the 8BBS message files.

I'll be at the Faire on Friday, but I doubt if Dick plans to be there any of the days. I'll be passing out free 8BBS reference cards. [NOTE: to others... Don't bother to ask to me to mail you a card, get someone to get it for you at the Faire]. About the clock 'accuracy', that was a totally random coincidence that it was that close to NBS. I re-enter the time every evening after I restart the system. It is often a minute or two off since I don't enter the seconds. Regards,..

From the TELENET users reference guide..."If you have any questions, the Customer Service Desk (800-336-0437) will be happy to answer them."

TELENET signon procedure. Dial access number. Type 2 carriage returns. When TELENET says "TERMINAL=" enter 4 character id for your terminal or simply press return. TELENET prompts with an @. Type a C, skip a space and type the network address of the computer you want to talk to followed by a carriage return. It appears that the normal address format is the telephone area code followed by a two digit number (e.g 408 45). Other commands possible after the @ are D (disconnect from computer but stay on TELENET), <cr>D<cr> to interrupt your computer session and return to TELENET. CONT<cr> to return to your computer session after being in TELENET command mode. FULL<cr> full duplex and HALF<cr> for no echo. STAT<cr> gives id number of TELENET port you are using. TAPE<cr> to signify your input will be paper tape or cassette.

TELENET has a booklet (I don't know address) of various public Data Bases that can be accessed via TELENET (provided of course you have an account with that company).

The Other systems list is just one file. I can see no valid reason to break it into several files. 8BBS does recognize the XON - XOF protocol. This means that if your micro is loading data into a buffer it can send XOF (^S) to 8BBS. 8BBS will then suspend transmission until your micro is ready to receive more input. Your micro then sends a XON (^Q) to tell 8BBS to resume transmission. If you use this protocol, you should be able to write the buffer to a disk file whenever you need to to avoid losing info. WELL,

THE SEMESTER IS ALMOST OVER...AND SUSAN AND I WILL BE GOING OUR SEPARATE WAYS AS WE GO OUT INTO THE BIG BUSINESS WORLD.

FOR THOSE OF YOU WHO ARE STILL IN THE CLOUDS (IE:MORONS), SUSAN AND I HAVE BEEN ATTENDING THE SAME UNIVERSITY FOR THE PAST 3 YEARS, AND SHE HAS BEEN MY ROOMMATE IN THE DORM FOR THE PAST YEAR.

WELL, FOR OUR FINAL THESIS PAPER, WE DECIDED TO DO A SUBJECT REACTIONARY STUDY. THIS STUDY INCLUDED GULLIBILITY FACTORS, ETC, AND WE HAVE CHOSEN 8BBS TO BE THE MEDIUM. WELL, ALL YOU GUINEA PIGS HAVE HELPED US TREMENDOUSLY, AS OUR RESEARCH HAS NOW COME TO AN END. BY THE WAY, THE PHONE NUMBER RUNNING THE TAPE RECEIVED 149 CALLS SO FAR, SO I GUESS THAT ABOUT 80%, OR 100 CALLERS FELL FOR IT, OUR RESEARCH, THAT IS.

WELL, I MUST SAY THAT DURING MY RESEARCH, I FOUND DAVE STARR TO BE THE MOST GULLIBLE FOOL AROUND. THE REST OF YOU WHO ACTUALLY SIDED WITH ONE OF US WERE ALSO FOOLS. AS SUSAN AND I SAT IN FRONT OF THE TERMINAL READING ALL YOUR MESSAGES TO US, WE HAD A GREAT TIME!!!! ---YOU PEOPLE REALLY ARE FOOLS AND ARE WEAK-MINDED GULLIBLE CHILDREN!!!!

BY THE WAY, MY CONGRATULATIONS TO TIM BESSIE FOR FIGURING OUT EXACTLY WHAT WAS GOING ON... TIM, YOU ARE TRULY A BRIGHT INDIVIDUAL!!!! AS FOR THE REST OF YOU MORONS....WELL HA HA, THE LAUGH IS ON YOU!!!!!!

I WILL NOW BE GRADUATING WITH A BACHELOR'S DEGREE IN SOCIOLOGY, AND SUSAN WILL BE GETTING ONE IN PSYCHOLOGY. THANK YOU ALL FOR YOUR RESEARCH EFFORTS.....SUCKERS!!!!!!

BY THE WAY, WE KNOW VERY LITTLE ABOUT PHONES, AND ONLY USED THE INFO YOU ALL PROVIDED TO GIVE BACK TO YOU ALL, AND YOU TOOK IT GRATEFULLY!!!

BOY, SOME PEOPLE!!!! BY THE WAY, WHEN I START UP MY COUNSELING CENTER, ALL YOU SICKOS OUT THERE ON 8BBS CAN GET A DISCOUNT FROM ME.. THOSE WHO GAVE ME THEIR ADDRESS WILL BE RECEIVING A BROCHURE...

TO THINK THAT ONLY 1 PERSON REALIZED WHAT WAS GOING ON!!!!!!

FINAL RESULTS:

DAVE STARR - GULLIBLE SUCKER OF THE YEAR, FOOL OF THE MONTH.

TIM BESSIE- BRIGHTEST 8BBS CALLER, SHARP, WITTY, RESTRAINED.

ALL OTHERS INVOLVED IN CONFLICT- GULLIBLE FOOLS, BUT NOT AS BAD AS STARR. BY THE WAY.... LOOK AT THE NEXT MESSAGE FROM MY *ENEMY***

THANKS FOR YOUR NUMBERS...YOU'RE RIGHT, AS FAR AS I CAN SEE ABOUT US NOT HAVING ANYTHING YET.

I liked your insights about the obtaining procedures for these things: It does seem to fit the McDonald's mentality that if you ask for a game stamp you receive several, where-as if you ask for a couple stamps you receive ONE with the admonition about one-per-person-per-hour-per-store. I have a way to access the McDonald's inventory control computer, and I'm trying to figure out a way to order myself an issue of stamps for my own personal use. I'll keep ya posted on this.

Why the hell do you call all the way up here in the Bay Area for your childish fights, when you live in the L.A. area??? Why can't you just find a BBS near you, and save some money, as well as relieving us all from the chore of seeing all those messages ... although it does get interesting seeing who's going to do what next to whom ...

Amazingly enough, some of us really couldn't care less what Susan has done to you or you have done to Susan.

So why not just send a message to ALL telling that you are moving your fight to a L.A. BBS, and all who want ringside seats can just call there, probably at $$$ per minute!

Are you tired of having your ears continually blasted out with that familiar blaring busy signal? Well, why not call 2KBBS at (408) 727-1640? It is an HP2000-based BBS, and it is multi-user so you don't get busy signals! The system has recently been improved, and there is now a Chat feature so you can talk with other users. The procedure for calling is:

Call (408) 727-1640 [a Santa Clara number]
Hit <return><return><linefeed>

The system types PLEASE LOG IN

Type HEL-B200,,3 to get the bulletin board account
From there it's pretty self-explanatory...

I am not connected with them; just a concerned user who would like to see some more people using the system!!

Just think: NO busy signals!

I keep thinking that if it would be possible to go through old 8BBS backups and compile Susan's, Roscoe's, and Dave's messages into a pamphlet or book, the resulting work would be a masterpiece of prose fiction, jam-packed with exciting, unusual characters, loads of laughs, hair-raising plot twists, and numerous levels of meaning and understanding. Whatever may happen in the denouement, I will know that after all this stuff, most people who give a shit (however small) about their tiff will have been so baffled and disillusioned by their tactics as to discredit all of them for life. Believe NOONE!!! That kind of stuff seems more than ever to have come from someone like a 20th-century Lewis Carroll than from supposedly rational humans. I guess after all that they are all probably living one great big fantasy...

Subject: CATV converters

OK, there is a nifty little box called a "V to U" converter that takes all the cable channels including mid and super band and converts them to UHF. Its a broadband device so for example, the "Z" channel on Theta cable in LA (pix carrier is 109.25 Mhz.) will translate to UHF channel 45 with this device. Some of the big electronic stores in your aera should have them. Try Muntz if you have one there, or else I can arrange to send you one. This thing is totally legal, provided that the cable in your house has the info, without having to tamper with any traps in the service drop. Some cable systems put "garbage" near the chroma carrier to foul up getting the movie channels, I have had no experience with these systems. Best bet for fooling around is over the air systems (ON TV or Select) or Multipoint dist. systems, if youre into microwave, or sat. TV if you got a big dish and LOW noise amp. Leave messages for me on PMS LA (213-291-9314), this thing is too hard to get into, I've been trying on and off for a month, and this is the first time I've gotten in.

Thermal lances have been around for several years. Putting one together requires no great skill, just a basket full of money for the components. Mosler and friends are busily trying to figure a way to block the use of a lance, but all that heat has to end up somewhere! About the only thing they've gotten is a safe with a refrigerated metal layer, but even that's not good enough against the incredible amount of localized heat. I haven't seen the movie. I do hope they were wearing gas masks.

To sysop at 07:40:18 on 30-Mar-81.
Subject: trapdoor ciphers

The big problem with these is that they are VERY expensive in terms of computation. Encoding a message with the Rivest/etc method involves breaking it up into the equivalent of 100-digit numbers and then multiplying them by the key. Know any fast 10x100 multiply routines? Care to iterate over a long message with one?

It's also expensive to find a key-pair (encoding/decoding keys).
It's of course not nearly as expensive as finding the second key from the first, which takes several hundred years.

When I get around to doing some security stuff, I'll probably use a DES-like algorithm, but put it back to 64 bits like it was before the NSA shortened it so they could decode it. If you truly care I'd suggest doing the same. It means you have to do it in software instead of hardware, though.

Hi John,

Thanks for the info on the public key encryption methods. I'd heard that it had something to do with finding large primes. Sounds like it is not feasible with 8 or 12 bit CPU's. Maybe a 68000 or iAPX-32 would make it. How would you get fast enough throuput with a software implementation? I've been thinking of using a hardware DES chip (WD 2001) and using double encryption method. That is, encrypt the encrypted data, wouldn't that be faster than software and result in a longer effective key length?

Subject: Speach and Spiel

I have been playing for a while with a T.I. Speak and Spell, trying to connect it to my PDP/8 system. A friend has a board, sold by PERCOM, called a "Speak to me two". This incredibly expensive toy allows you to connect the S+S to the printer port of a Trash-80 expansion interface. For better than 60 bucks, you get just two chips (a 7414 and a 7474!). Anyway, I tried to copy the circuit, and modified a S+S. It doesn't work! I get all kinds of gibberish, of a generally random nature. If you know TRS-80 hardware, can you give me any information on how the printer interface works? Specifically,

- 1: When I do an output instruction, does a one bit in the A register become a logic low or a logic high at the printer port?
- 2: Is the BUSY line into the interface high for busy, or low for busy?

With this information, I should be able to get this kludge working.
Thanks,
Dick

To sysop at 09:25:11 on 01-Apr-81.
Subject: Rivest codes

To solve a Rivest code, the essential problem is to find the two prime factors of a very large number. (200+ digits). The keys that you keep secret are two primes. The encoding involves doing a modulo multiplication using the product of the primes, and decoding is the same operation using one of the primes. (It's more involved than that but I don't have the paper here.) The en/decode function can be done by a multiply/shift function, which doesn't take as long as you might think. However, as was pointed out, factoring a large number is a non-trivial problem (it's called NP incomplete) and finding the primes to do is not easy. A method was discussed that in a sense developed numbers that were PROBABLY prime (a very strange concept).

LATE AT NIGHT AT A PUBLIC MAILBOX, THE SUSPICIOUS CHARACTER DROPS IN A MYSTERIOUS PARCEL. IN THIS ACT, HE HAS JOINED THE RANKS OF THOUSANDS IN THE LATEST HIGH-TECHNOLOGY CRIME FAD -- MAIL PHREAKING!

THE STORY BEGINS ON COLLEGE CAMPUSES OF THE MID-1980'S WITH THE 'BROWN BOX', AN INNOCENT-LOOKING PACKAGE EQUIPPED WITH A MECHANISM TO CHANGE THE CARD IN ITS ADDRESS WINDOW. BY WAITING UNTIL IT HAS PASSED THE WEIGHING AND STAMP CANCELLATION STATIONS, IT CAN RIDE ACROSS THE COUNTRY FOR THE PRICE OF TRAVELLING TO THE NEXT TOWN.

ANOTHER TOOL OF THE TRADE IS THE 'LETTER DIVERTER', AN ORDINARY MANILA ENVELOPE WITH A SLOT CUT IN THE SIDE. WHEN JOSTLED AMONG THE OTHER LETTERS IN A MAILBAG, ONE INEVITABLY FALLS THROUGH. A PIECE OF TAPE INSIDE THE ENVELOPE OR A PAPER TRAPDOOR ATTACHED TO THE SLOT RETAINS THE LETTER UNTIL ITS NEW DESTINATION IS REACHED.

PERHAPS THE MOST FAMOUS EXPLOIT OF A MAIL PHREAK IS THAT OF THE LEGENDARY 'POSTMASTER CRUNCH', WHO MAILED HIMSELF FROM LOMPOC TO HONOLULU. HE WOULD HAVE PICKED UP A VACATION IN HAWAII FOR LESS THAN TEN DOLLARS, IF THE ADDRESSEE HADN'T REFUSED TO PAY AN ADDITIONAL FIVE CENTS POSTAGE DUE.

Subject: Your concerns

Hi Gary,

It is nice to know that you have a serious interest in 8BBS. I don't... I only run it for my own personal amusement/enjoyment/curiosity/etc.. The fact that others may find the system usefull or interesting is incidental.

The only 'right' a 8BBS user has is the 'right' to choose not to call the system. I refuse to let users intimidate me into performing any type of 'work' for them on this system. What this means is that users do NOT have the 'right' to demand that the system conform to their expectations.

I too, would prefer that ST, RD, DS and such types, would refrain from using the system as a dumping ground. Don't expect the SYSOP to clean up after them. I understand that they have had their accounts on MIT systems revoked, so it does seem that they are being denied access to some systems already. Since 8BBS is a 'public access' system it is NOT possible to keep someone off this system.

Your parting comment of "READ MY MESSAGE OR YOU COULD BE SORRY!!" seems odd. What did you hope to gain by that? Users that make threats give the impression that they are unable to express themselves coherently and therefore must resort to threats. You are certainly welcome to use 8BBS, feel free to expand on what you meant by your threat. Regards,..

Subject: Eric Moyer

Hi Eric,

For info on 8BBS you could answer the logon question by indicating you are a 'new' user, then read the files that describe 8BBS software. You could also check the first few msg's for info. 8BBS software is NOT easily transportable to any other systems (not even another PDP8/E). 8BBS uses non-standard DEC software and some non-standard DEC hardware.

I talked to the Novation rep at the Faire today, and he claimed that the Auto-Cat does have auto-dial capability, but since it requires special CPU generated timing it is not advertised. He said that it is documented in the manual and that it involves the use of pin 25. But... what I'm waiting for is their 'promised' new modem that will have 300-1200 baud direct connect, auto-answer and auto-dial using ASCII character sequences. I tried the 800 number and it doesn't work for me either. Regards,..

P.S. The Novation 1200 baud mode is only compatible with Bell 202 or another Novation 1200, doesn't work with Bell 212A or Vadic.

Message number 7919 is 20 Lines from George Burdell
To sysop at 11:46:04 on 04-Apr-81.
Subject: DES and the width of the key

If you encrypt the message by feeding it through two chips, each of which uses an n-bit code, you can take the two codes and interchange them through separate methods. This reduces the possibility that the code will be compromised, allowing immediate access. Compromising the code is the most dangerous.

However, you have not encrypted the message with a 2 x n key. There will be some other n bit key which can decode the algorithm in one step. The key has not become harder to guess or determine by exhaustive search.

Two examples:

Consider the following chip, which accepts the message and encodes it using the algorithm "add m to the ascii value of each character". This is a key which is likely to be 8 bits of information.

If you pass information through two of these chips, you can decode it with one eight-bit key (key-1 plus key-2).

#####

Message number 7920 is 19 Lines from George Burdell
To sysop at 11:58:51 on 04-Apr-81.
Subject: sysop

The same thing would happen with the DES chip. (Otherwise, why do you think the Government successfully prevented the chip manufacturers from producing chip with twice the key width (which would have produced a key that could not have been forcibly cracked in a lifetime)?)

Second example:

If you have an algorithm with an n-bit key, you can split it up into n information packets, each of which contains the binary value of the bit it represents and its position. Depending on the length of the string, this position information could be further split up, in a tree structured fashion.

There are an infinite number of things you can do to split up that information and transmit it separately. Doubling the length of the key simply doubles the point at which this infinite tree starts, but doesn't provide any benefits on any reasonable algorithms.

#####

Message number 7921 is 15 Lines from George Burdell
To sysop at 12:24:47 on 04-Apr-81.
Subject: sysop

If you split a key in half, you reduce the amount of time it takes to perform the algorithm the key describes by 2 to the n/2.

With a sixteen bit key, you reduce the amount of time it takes to decode a message by a factor of 256. (A lifetime, maybe?) This applies to the type of machine on which this decoding would be done.

Now with half of a sixteen bit key known, (if you know its position, that's only one more bit) you only have to perform 256 guesses instead of 65536.

Taking the DES key twice, you do get twice as many bits available for transmission of the code from point A to point B.

Subject: ENCRYPTATION SPECIAL ISSUE

The December, 1979 issue of ACM Computing Surveys is a special issue of Cryptology. There are articles on public-key systems, Encrytation and secure computer networks, and a general update on the "state of the art". Also many useful references. See also July, 1979 Scientific American, July, 1979 IEEE Spectrum, Novemberr, 1978 issue of the newsletter of the IEEE Communications society and August, 1977 Scientific American. These are all fairly readable, since Computing Surveys carrier only tutorials, and the IEEE articles are tutorials also (as opposed to in-depth slinging among the inner circle...)

The system at 313-846-6127 is called TCBBS (Technical CBBS) It is a remote CP/M system with MINICBBS (comes up in CP/M giving instructions for help.) 300,450,600,110 baud. Has 3 double-density double-sided 8" drives for downloading. The C drive holds one volume of the CPMUG disks, rotated through periodically. SYSOP will put up any CPMUG prog within 24 hours on request. Has master catalog of all programs avail on A: drive.

The RIBBS sys you list at 313-797-6416 should be 607-797-6416 and is a SJBBS system in Johnson City, N.Y. An obvious typo - this is listed next to TCBBS in Bill Blue's List! The TCBBS is actually in Dearborn. Download-80 is in Fraser.

Dear Gary;

It's truly amazing how some of us can complain so emphatically about the arguments and disagreements of others, when in fact their sole goal is to acquire some attention for themselves. Well, you got it. Not because I want to get into it with you, but because you told an outright LIE about ROSCOE and I.

We have never carried our hassle to any other BBS system, (other than a very brief exchange on MOM, and a couple of private messages on Starshit), so I wonder just who all these sysops are all over the country that allegedly don't want us on their systems because we dirtied it up with our smut-throwing.

I would be very interested in seeing a list of sysops that these allegations were made by, for the purposes of verifying your accusations. And, in the likely event that you are full of bull about these allegations, and don't know what the hell you're talking about, then I will be happy to forget about you and your accusations if I don't see my name mentioned in your messages anymore.

Personally, I'm against any censorship by the sysop. I'd much rather have the people involved clean up their act by themselves. And, if I can believe the messages by Susan and Dave, I think that maybe they have figured that a clean-up is best for all involved.

If we encourage the sysop to impose restrictions on message content or callers, then the system stops being an open forum, and just more of an ego trip. [I'm not accusing you of anything, Bernard!]

I hope that the wave of crap is over. This system went way downhill when all it was was mudslinging. Let's get back to whatever we normally do, instead of namecalling.

8BBS, so why don't we clean up the system ourseelves.
This means, Gary, not to sling profanities at other users.
No one here needs that, least of all Dave, Sue, and Roscoe.
Have you forgotten that there are people like me that said that we'd be happy to have Dave, Sue, and Roscoe if they would just not fight on the systems? The whole reason for getting them to stop the fight was so that there would be more time available for dialing-in to 8BBS.

How about just waiting, and I think that those three can carry themselves as responsible 8BBS users. Now is not the time for vigilante/militant users to carry on a dead fight.

Cheers,

Ok Guys,
Now it is your turn to clean up YOUR acts.
Susan, Dave, and Roscoe have ended the fight. Now, doesn't it seem wise to you to stop slinging profanities at everyone? If you can't hold back something as simple as that, than you probably don't deserve this system. There is no censorship policy on 8BBS. This is a free system, now PLEASE, use it, don't abuse it.

When 8BBS first started out, there was a grandfather that let his four year old granddaughter use the system. He hasn't been on since last September. Why? Because a few users don't know any words that are longer than four letters. Can 8BBS become a respectable BBS and not be home for the low-life of the earth? You answer that question yourself.

I have ignored it lately, I mean it is kinda ridiculous; it's like reading the national inquirer N times over. It is also sad that the most technically sophisticated BBS is given to having such collections of unsavory messages. One just hopes that stupidity ignorance and violence are thier own punishments. However sigh Americans have never learned to be Gentle and worse yet it seems that we are currently not on such a path. However this in no way condones obnoxiousness and idiocy. Sometimes I wish we lived in a fundamentally different and better world, or at least one that had large sized better parts, however I don't see how to create such a thing in a society that rewards aggressiveness and downright ruthlessness so much. Subject: Hardware

John, do you have the serial numbers on the equipment that you could publish on this system. A lot of stolen equipment goes up for sale right way to unsuspecting people... If you could leave the numbers and description of what was stolen, we could broadcast it over the bay area...
Do you need people to call up the other Bay Area bbs to distribute the info, will also keep my eyes in the paper for similar items...
Hope you have luck
Mike

I BELIEVE A DAY WILL COME WHEN PETTY ARGUMENTS ARE SAVED FOR RECESS ON THE PLAYGROUND, WHERE THEY BELONG. I BELIEVE A TIME WILL COME WHEN BBS's ARE USED FOR THEIR INTENDED PURPOSE TO EXCHANGE INFO AND BE A HAVEN FOR PHREAKS.

I BELIEVE THAT SOON, VERY SOON, THIS WILL ALL COME TRUE. SUSAN AND THE OTHERS HAVE TAKEN THE FIRST STEP. NOW IT IS UP TO THE LIKES OF DODA TO... <AS A VERY WISE ROCK GROUP OF THE '60's PUT IT>...LET IT BE.

To get off a host on Telenet, but still be on the Telenet system, (Like for Host-Hopping), just type the atsign on a line by itself, hit return, and when you get the atsign prompt type the letter D. It will disconnect you from the host and leave you ready to continue your scan.

Subject: Telenet Hosts

The best way to find out what is on Telenet is by scanning. Pick a popular area code and start with 10 and go all the way to 150 or so... Every time you hit a system, try to hack the login. Sometimes you can login as DEMO, or OPERATOR, or GAMES, etc. I have been very successful with this type of scanning. At the @ type C AAA NN where "C" means Collect, "AAA" is an area code, and "NN" or "NNN" is a number between 10 and 150+. If you get a host that you can't login to, type @ <CR> D and it will return you to system prompt. Telenet no longer publishes a user-guide that lists the hosts, but it is rumoured that there exists such a list on one of the 909 machines...909 95D is a list of all their dial-ups. And there is a guy that answers their voice line (the 800 number) in the middle of the night who can be persuaded into giving out occasionally useful tidbits of info on the system. Have fun.

Come on and act like adults. If it really was Susan who sent those messages, then don't fight her on this system, that won't hurt anything, except innocent 8BBS users. Maybe you ought to set up your own private bbs just for your fights...? We all want the truce to continue, if you 3 won't honor your own truce...

Let me put it this way, everyone is sick of your stupid wars, if you must fight, do it down on some system in LA. 8BBS is too busy to support wars. Benard won't kick you off, but if all of the users get mad enough, they will force you off, one way or another. Subject: privacy of user log

I think you did not see one of my msgs. My interest in user log privacy was an intellectual/academic one, not a real concern for myself. It was sparked by Bernard's interest in DES encryption my point (to summarize) if you get all that trouble (des) of encrypting msgs, don't you think the user log should be private info also? Remember, lots of 'security' is by implied access, for example, a programmer writes a program that processes data. He does not have access to the data, that is specified by the user when the program runs. But the programmer can compromise the data by writing a program that say, blinks the lights on the computer or stops printing a report for a while when a certain type of info is processed. Like 'if president's salary = salaray then for I=1 to 5000 do...' if the data is read, a noticeable pause in the program execution (assuming the programmer can watch the program) indicates effectively, the value of the data. This is not original, I read tis in a book on privacy/security whic I started reading after all the accusations of Ma Bell monitoring this line, using DES, ETC.
p.s. Did anybody ever recover those stolen floppies??

Of course some of you are surely wondering what good it does to know what the computer-generated trouble messages mean...Well, if somebody were to be screwing around with various CCIS commands, it is helpful to know what the return trunking messages mean, so that one knows if one's commands have been useful. Note the DSBL message. Could it be that one's hacking efforts have been successful if this message is generated? Does anyone know of a place where I can get a drive cable for the Ormikron mapper (TRS-80 modification for 8" drives). I need drive A a 5.25", and somplace in there another 5.25", and one 8" or more. The cable I have now (which doesn't work) is two 5.25s, and 2 8"s. I would call up Ormikron, but I was not the original owner, and they might start asking questions. The person I got it from is very hard to make do things, and I have an 8" just sitting her looking nice.

The cable MUST be TRS-80 (Shugart) 5.25", and Shugart 8" compatible with a TRS-80 compatible edge connector (to computer).

Subject: Zork

Well, the UCSC Unix B has zork, plus many other very good games.

They have a games account, games managers, and even a games shell. It is very good. Unfortunately, they are a little restrictive about giving accounts out. You cannot get one for free unless you are a student or a faculty member. Of course, you can always pay for one. I believe it is $1.00/connect-hour + $0.05 for every block of disk storage, per month. Plus about $30.00 to start it up. I DO know an account I might let you use, but I must talk to you about it first. The dialup for UCSC is:
(408) 425-8023. unix A is number 1, unix B is number 2, and unix C is number 3. My number, if you want that account, is (408) 425-0754, and (408) 425-0842 if I don't answer or am busy.

Subject: Re: Taste

I think you should consider your emotional state when you write messages here. Responding to violence with violence, or violence to non-violence, or (in this case) violence to mediocrity just demotes yourself to the level you are condemning, or lower. I am referring to the message you left for Ms. Thunder recently, condemning her lifestyle, her speech, and her use of this system. I don't remember her saying anything like that to you. Why do you have to be so reckless when writing messages to someone I doubt you even know? Almost no one on this system knows any other person (picked at random) who uses it, so long arguments, criticisms, etc. are never called for (to quote ZORK) in a high class establishment like this. How do YOU know if Ms. Thunder is really that bad? I don't care what someone writes about me on this system. I can only form an opinion after meeting them. And if I don't like them, I don't start fouling computer systems with nonsensical comments, but tell them myself. Maybe that's the only way you can relate to people, by telling them nasty things over computer systems, where you don't have to see them. If that is the way it is, I feel sorry for you.

Unfortunately, we are not served by sprint or any other such system I know of, so I have a rather large phone bill. They may put in SPC service here soon, though. UCSC has 2 PDP-11/70's running UNIX V&, oops. that is UNIX V7, and a VAX-11/780 running UNIX V7 too, as well as a Magnusson M80 (IBM-360/75 simulator). There are also many smaller computers scattered around the campus, and terminals all over the place.

Hi Marc,

Sorry 'bout being exposed to such language. It is just another sign of people's inability to express themselves coherently in a civil manner. It is perhaps unfortunate that 8BBS does not have a dedicated SYSOP to monitor all message entry and immediately remove any info that could cause offense. I am away a lot, and don't check the system very often so it is rather difficult to maintain tight control over msg content. I too, would very much like to see a rational, reasoned flow of words. HELLO THERE, PACKARD HERE,
AND NOW FOR SOME TELEPHONE STUFF!
THE TELEPHONE HAS TWO BASIC STATES: ON HOOK AND OFF HOOK. WHEN THE PHONE IS ON HOOK, IT LOOKS LIKE INFINITY OHMS
TO THE INCOMING LINE. WHEN OFF HOOK, ITS RESISTANCE DROPS TO ABOUT 660
OHMS. IF A 660 OHM, 1 WATT RESISTOR
IS CONNECTED ACROSS THE RED AND GREEN WIRES, THE LINE LOOKS LIKE AN OFF-HOOK
PHONE IS CONNECTED TO IT.
LINE VOLTAGES:
WHEN ON HOOK, THE PHONE LINE SUPPLIES
APPROX. 48 VOLTS ACROSS THE RED AND GREEN WIRES. WHEN RINGING STARTS, A 20 HERTZ, 45 VOLT AC SIGNAL IS SUPERIMPOSED ON THE 48 VOLTS DC, MAKING THE SIGNAL LOOK LIKE AC
THAT SWINGS FROM 0 TO PLUS 90 VOLTS.

...WHEN THE PHONE IS TAKEN OFF HOOK, THE VOLTAGE ACROSS THE RED AND GREEN WIRES IS CHANGED TO ABOUT 4 OR 6 VOLTS (I'M NOT SURE ABOUT THIS). TELCO REFERS TO THIS VOLTAGE CHANGE AS 'CHANGE OF BATTERY' BECAUSE THEY ACTUALLY SWITCH IN A DIFFERENT POWER SUPPLY.

WHEN YOU TALK ON THE PHONE, YOU GENERATE AN AC VOLTAGE OF ABOUT 1 VOLT SUPERIMPOSED ON THE 4 TO 6 VOLTS DC. (AGAIN I'M NOT POSITIVE ABOUT VOLTAGES). NOW, HERE'S A TRICK, TRY TO FOLLOW THIS:

A CHANCE TO SET UP ON THE LINE. WHAT HAS HAPPENED IS THE RINGING HAS BEEN STOPPED, BUT THE PERSON CALLING YOU IS STILL ON THE LINE! THAT PERSON WILL STAY THERE AND THE SWITCHING EQUIPMENT WILL THINK YOU HAVEN'T ANSWERED AS LONG AS YOU DON'T CONNECT 660 OHMS ACROSS THE RED AND GREEN WIRES! NOW, WHAT YOU DO IS CONNECT A PHONE (OR JUST A HAND SET) ACROSS THE RED AND GREEN THROUGH A 1 MFD CAPACITOR ON EACH WIRE. NOW, THE AC VOICE CURRENT PASSES THROUGH THE CAPACITORS TO THE PHONE, BUT THE PHONE DOESN'T LOOK OFF HOOK! YOU CAN TALK TO YOUR FRIEND AND THE PHONE LOOKS TO THE TELCO EQUIPMENT LIKE IT'S STILL RINGING!

Subject: LANGUAGE

Ho-hum. Regarding responsibility and other such matters, do exactly what you want. If I feel a need or a desire to use smutty language I intend to. It's hardly a matter of responsibility. Seems to me it is more a matter of freedom of choice. Dirty words don't hurt anyone, far as I can tell--and even the spectre of self-censorship rather bothers me. Remember EC Comics? The Comics Code, and all of the restrictions imposed there, came about as the result of self-censorship.

As a result, creativity in comics has been rather arbitrarily restricted. Similarly, the Hayes Office of Hollywood was the self-censoring unit for the movies, and went way too far...possibly actually damaged the freedom of expression in the movies until the last ten years. If smut offends you, you, the user, may feel free to use a system that practices censorship. But don't expect me or anyone else to choose my style to meet with your sensitivities. It doesn't work that way for me, anyhow. Do what thou wilt shall be the whole of the Law. The word of Sin is Restriction.

Subject: Sequential msg read

Hi Lynn,
For info on sequential msg retrieval see msg # 1161. You can also get info from the Help files with H;SEQ . The main reason 8BES doesn't support the sequential retrieval mode where you are asked if you want to read each msg is that that method is VERY slow and time consuming. Since this is a single user system it is important to make efficient use of your connect time. If you use the R;NNNN,- or R;NNNN;^ format you can always use the ^C or C to skip a msg you're not interested in. Typing a ^K or K get's you back to the Function: prompt. Of course you can still use the S or ^S - ^Q to stop and start output so you don't miss anything.

Just one thing I want to add--My voltmeter gave a 6 volt reading for off-hook voltage. Also, I think the way Ma Bell prevents people from doing what you said is by disconnecting the line about 20 seconds after the person receiving the call hangs up. Before they started that, people could hang up (the person being called hung up, caller stayed on) and re-answer with a capacitor in series. Now, it would only be good for 20 seconds

Subject: 8BBS backup

Hi Joshua,

Yes, 8BBS files are backed up. Not because of fear of user damage but due to realization of my own carelessness when I do msg purges. A user does not actually delete a msg when he 'kills' it. All that happens is that that msg is flagged as being 'inactive'. It is very easy to re-activate 'killed' messages. A msg doesn't really get deleted until I do a msg purge. Sometimes I've messed up the msg purge procedure and have lost a few msg's and scrambled the file structure so that is the reason I make a backup. Regards,..

There is not a physical change of the battery across the line. "Change in Battery" is short for change in the measurement of the battery.

The C.O. is providing a constant current source of about 55 ma. So as you vary the resistance across the line, the voltage will vary but the current remains fairly constant.

To Steven Inness at 11:04:14 on 26-Apr-81.
Subject: A bit more on 212 / Vadic dif*s

The differences in modulation technique between the Bell 212 and the Vadic 3405 give rise to an important operating difference:

With the Vadic operating in "High-Speed" mode, speaking to another VADIC, data may be transmitted at any speed up to 1200 bps. The high-speed frequencies are used even if the data is at 300, so a normal 300 baud modem can't talk these frequencies.

With the 212 operating in high-speed mode, the data better really be at 1200, otherwise it won't get sent correctly.

The Vadic 3451 incorporates ALL THREE modulation techniques. It can automatically answer with any one of the three (the "HS" switch is ignored when answering). When originating, the "HS" switch will determine whether to start up with the low-speed frequencies or to try both the Bell and the Vadic High-Speed frequencies. (You can end up with two Vadic 3451s handshaking at the Bell frequencies

I DECIDED TO CALL THIS A MONOLOGUE BECAUSE THATS WHAT THIS

THIS AND THE FOLLOWING MESSAGES. I HAVEN'T BEEN HERE FOR TWO WHOLE MONTHS (I FEEL SO DEPRIVED) SO NOW I HAVE TO MAKE UP FOR IT.

FIRST:

SUSAN IS ONTO A GOOD THING. CCIS IS WHERE ALL TELCOS ARE AIMING TO GET THEM SELVES. CCIS IS THE STATE OF THE ART.
THE ONLY PROBLEM - I DON'T UNDERSTAND CCIS. I AM HOPING SUSAN CAN HELP ME OUT THERE. (ONCE AGAIN - SUSAN THUNDER DID -NOT- SNITCH TO MA BELL OR ANYONE ELSE ABOUT ME). AS IT WAS STATED AT LAST YEARS PHREAK CONVENTION, BEING ABLE TO MAKE FREE PHONE CALLS DOES NOT MAKE YOU A PHONE PHREK.
PHONE PHREAKING AND COMPUTER PHREAKING HAVE MERGED. IF YOU CAN'T SPEAK BASIC THEN YOU CAN'T BE A PHREAK, OR SO IT GOES. MA BELL IS BECOMMING TOTALLY COMPUTERIZED, BOTH
IN RECORD KEEPING, AND IN SWITCHING. THE CRACK BELL ENGINEERS ARE MAKING THE SAME FATAL MISTAKES WITH THEIR NEW FANGLED COMPUTERS AS THE DID 20 YEARS AGO WITH THEIR SPACE AGE AUDIO SUPERVISORY TONES IN SWITCHING.

MANY PHREAKS I COME INTO CONTACT WITH ARE SO DEEPLY INTO

GUESS IT IS BECAUSE PHONES LINK THEM WITH THE COMPUTERS.
I STARTED OUT AS A PHONE HARDWARE NUT, COLLECTING EVERYTHING
I COULD GET MY HANDS ON. NOW A PHONE IS JUST A PHONE.
NOW FREE PHONE CALLS ARE JUST A CONVINIENCE. I LIKE AND AM
AFTER THE INFORMATION. ONCE I CRACK A SYSTEM OR WHATEVER, GRÉAT. NOW I CAN GET AT THE INFORMATION. THEN I GO OFF IN SEARCH OF MORE INFO, AND LEAVE THAT SYSTEM ALONE.
PHONE PHREAKING SHOULD BE AN INFORMATION EXCHANGE MEDIUM.
NOT A WAY TO SEEK REVENGE. IF WE DON*T SHARE WITH EACH OTHER, THEN WHAT IS THE USE OF BBS'S LIKE THIS?
ANYWAY, I*M LOSING MYSELF IN ALL THIS RAMBLING, SO I HAD

Subject: Magick by the Page

Dear Joshua;

There was once a time in my life when I was asked to assist somebody with something because of my "vibes". I was having a drink at a club called the Rainbow in Hollywood (this was in '77) and this guy comes up to me and says, "Jimmy Page would like to have the star you are wearing." Of course my reaction was something like "What kind of bullshit is this guy laying on me??" The star, by the way, was on a chain around my neck: I had bought it in a curiosity shop on Santa Monica Blvd. It was sterling silver, had 7 points, and I had engraved the word "THUNDER" on it. I wore it constantly, never taking it off because I thought it brought me good luck. (This was before I had been initiated into anything)...So I tell this guy that if Jimmy Page wants my star, then he's going to have to come over and get it himself. He did.

And we sat and talked for a few minutes. Avoiding alot of details that have no pertinence to the topic at hand, I was introduced to Crowley and his theories/philosophies. I was invited to participate in a ritual celebrating the vernal equinox. And, apparently, my performance must not have been up to par because that was the end of that.

Subject: What is it about this system?

Hi Mark, & others,

There have been several queries lately by users asking how to do "keyword" or selective searches. Is there some sort of psychological revulsion associated with the word "HELP" or the "H" character? Or perhaps users immediately change to EXPERT mode when they know very little about the system and thereby miss many of the prompts that offer information?

How is it possible for so many people who seem to have played ADVENTURE to lose their curiosity when on 8BBS? Are they afraid to experiment? 8BBS software is quite robust and is not likely to crash if a user enters unexpected input.

P.S. 8BBS does indeed have selective search and/or retrieve.

Bull-

Please retrieve a message left to you by me and others after reading your obnoxious message which you left on Bill Blue's PMS in Santee, California.

You may not realize it, but leaving a message as you did on Bill's system does NOT encourage callers to dial the system (this system) but rather tends to alienate them.

Many times, on many other boards around the country, I see messages from people like you (who luckily, are in the minority in the telecomputing world) and read many replies saying exactly what I am saying.

If you don't like a particular board, why not simply exit the board quietly, without leaving comments as you did, saying one board or the other is better or worse than the other. (See next Message)

Subject: your comments on other systems

This is a public copy of my msg 8619 which I sent to you as RP. You can concider this as my "apology". Upon reviewing your msg left on PMS Santee, as well as the copies brought here by John Revelle, I stand by the below statement. I await your apology.

I think that it's funny that you immediately brand PMS Santee as "boring" without exploring all that it has to offer. Did you check out the ALT command? Did you look at the nearly 300k of text files available for reading (including some on security of communications)? Did you look at the download programs?

Or is it that any bbs that doesn't have talk about Adventure or phreaking "boring"? ..phil

The users of various systems use those systems because they find the contents of interest. Comments like yours only make people think that the person is a JERK. (Note: I'm not saying that you are.)

I would advise that you reconcider your attitude of "advertising" 8BBS for Bernard. I'm sure it doesn't help.

Well, there is no reason why you couldn't connect the video output to a TV, but (is I remember correctly) the vt100 is 80 column, so that the characters would be almost totally garbaged on the TV because a standard TV only has a bandwidth thru the tuner of about 3 MHz, and for 80 column, you need at least 10 MHz. About the smallest you can use with a TV is 40 columns. There is no reason you can't try it tho, but I wouldn't go buy a RF mod. for just that purpose, it would most likely turn out a waste of money...

Subject: 1200 baud

I am looking for info on 1200 baud data transmission standards. I am aware (but I know others are not) that data transmission over voice grade switched phone lines at 1200 baud is not standardized (unlike 300 baud <Bell 103>).

- 1). What formats are used (fsk, am, dpsk, etc.).
- 2). For the systems which use half duplex (no reverse channel) what protocols are used for direction shifts?
- 3) Who makes what? With what formats and protocols?

If we upgrade our modems to 1200 baud without getting together on standards the upgrades will be of limited use.

If any one has a favorite system please tell us (what/why).

Hi Paul,

You didn't specify what size dynamic RAM's you plan on using. You could check out the INTEL refresh controller chip or the AMD refresh controller IC. I don't recall the IC numbers, just call them (or a distributor/rep) and ask them for what you need. Dynamic RAM's do have some drawbacks compared to statics, but they are much less costly and if you design it properly the refresh doesn't get in the way. Regards,..

To Bob Kohler at 22:54:55 on 03-May-81.
Subject: 1200 baud chaos

Hi Bob,

I am aware of 4 different 1200 baud transmission 'standards'. These are:

- BELL 202 half duplex only
- BELL 212 half duplex (not sure how it differs from 202)
- VADIC 3400 full duplex
- NOVATION 1200 full duplex

The above 4 types are mutually exclusive. Meaning that none of the above can be understood by any of the others. VADIC makes several models that automatically detect either 212 or VADIC mode and use the appropriate mode.

I believe that the BELL 212 is the most widely used (not the best, tho).

I expect that when 8BBS eventually gets 1200 baud, it will be the BELL 212 'standard'.

What I'd really like is the new Hayes "Smart Modem" if it could handle 1200 baud... Maybe next year.. Regards,..

Just wanted to point out that Bell 212 is FULL duplex 1200 baud both ways.

Standard voice grade lines can support up to (with luck) 2400 baud, which can be divided any number of ways (2400 baud half duplex, 1200 baud full duplex, or 1800 baud computer->terminal:150 baud terminal->computer, to name three.)

oh, also, I believe that Vadic 3400 is 1200 baud full duplex as well. The Vadic Triple modem will detect 103, 212, or 3400 and switch into the proper mode.

Subject: Bob Kohler

Hi Bob,

I am aware of 4 different 1200 baud transmission 'standards'. These are:

- BELL 202 half duplex only
- BELL 212 full duplex
- VADIC 3400 full duplex
- NOVATION 1200 full duplex

The above 4 types are mutually exclusive. Meaning that none of the above can be understood by any of the others. VADIC makes several models that automatically detect either 212 or VADIC mode and use the appropriate mode.

I believe that the BELL 212 is the most widely used (not the best, tho).

I expect that when 8BBS eventually gets 1200 baud, it will be the BELL 212 'standard'.

What I'd really like is the new Hayes "Smart Modem" if it could handle 1200 baud... Maybe next year.. Regards...

Subject: My question about the Bible

Dear Anton;
Several weeks ago you left a message letting everyone know that if they had a question about the Bible that you would be pleased to be of assistance. Subsequently, I left you a message explaining a little situation that God seems to have gotten us into way back in Genesis, but I have yet to get any response from you...Therefore, to refresh your memory, I will cite these circumstances for you once again:
God created man and woman (Adam and Eve), and I think we can all agree that they were the first man and woman there ever was, right?
So they have a couple of kids, namely Cain and Abel. Now, here is where my question comes in: One of them goes off to the Land of Nod and takes a wife. I don't remember which one it was, but one of them did this thing. If Adam and Eve are the only two people, and they have kids, then theorhetically the two of them and their kids should be the only people here. So where does the wife hail from??

This has been baffling me for years...
Thanks,
THUNDER

HI SUSAN...SAW YOUR QUESTION, WHICH STILL DOESN'T SEEM TO BE GETTING AN ANSWER. LET ME TELL YOU MY THEORY, WHICH WAS TOLD TO ME BY A MINISTER BACK IN NEW YORK STATE SOME YEARS AGO.
FIRST OF ALL, LET'S TRANSLATE THE WORDS 'ADAM' & 'EVE'...IN ANCIENT DAYS, THESE WORDS MEANT 'MANKIND' AND 'MOTHER OF MANKIND' RESPECTIVELY.
ADAM & EVE WERE NOT INDIVIDUAL PEOPLE, BUT NATIONS WHO HAD FINALLY SETTLED IN ONE PLACE FOR A WHILE. (ROVING PEOPLE CANNOT WRITE HISTORY.)
FROM THE 'UNION' OF THESE TWO NATIONS, TWO GROUPS BROKE OFF...(LET'S CALL THEM CAIN & ABLE FOR LACK OF BETTER NAMES)...AND, NOT BEING ABLE TO GET ALONG WITH EACH OTHER, FOUGHT, AND, AS OUR HISTORY AGAIN TELLS US, CAIN WON...(KILLED ABLE ?, NOT NECESSARILY, BUT...).
NOW, IF YOU BEGIN TO EXTRAPOLATE ON THIS THEORY, YOU MIGHT BE ABLE TO UNDERSTAND IT THE WAY I DO.
HERE'S ANOTHER QUESTION FOR YOU TO THINK ABOUT...

HOW WAS A CHILD BORN OF A VIRGIN ?
I ALSO HAVE A THEORETICAL ANSWER FOR THAT ONE TOO..
I AM NOT RELIGIOUS, MY CURIOSITY FOUND THESE ANSWERS FOR ME, AND I'M HAPPY WITH THEM. TAKE CARE, AND TALK TO YOU SOON, I HOPE....

Hi Mark,

My old RK05 has held up very well. I did replace a temperature sensitive IC in the data separator about 2 years ago. Have had no mechanical problems at all. The absolute filter has to be changed about every year (costs about $80). Head crashes are rare if the packs are not left on dusty floors. The servo adjustments need to be trimmed every year since the values drift as the transducer bulb light output changes with age. Head alignment could be a problem if you want to exchange packs. You really need a special alignment pack to do the job right. Regards,..

Subject: The "Virgin" Mary

Dear Roger;

Thank you for your input on the Genesis issue. That is, of course, the first of many questions I have about the "Good Book"...I have my own personal theory, but I love hearing what all the self-proclaimed Bible experts have to say about the subject, too. It can sometimes be an entertaining venture. Now for my Virgin Mary theory: If you take the seed of a fertile woman and put it with the seed of a fertile man under the right conditions conception occurs. We have proven this with the Test Tube Baby thing just recently in Medicine...some nut in Germany or somewhere actually got a VIRGIN impregnated with these methods JUST TO PROVE IT COULD BE DONE!!! Now, we don't know a whole hell of a lot about what was going on 2000 years ago, but one thing is certain: If you wish to take the Biblical version of the Immaculate Conception literally, then it IS POSSIBLE that something like this occurred. After all, if there was a group of beings on the Earth 2000 years ago that had the technology to get a virgin pregnant, then they sure as hell knew how to cure diseases, alliviate pain, even bring people back from the dead!! WE DO THIS COMMONLY, EVERY SINGLE DAY!!

My question, therefore, is how in God's Creation did anyone KNOW SO MUCH THEN, AND YET HAVE FORGOTTEN IT ALL UNTIL JUST RECENTLY?????? Or did some of us from the future merely travel into the past and leave a little behind??

Well early christianity was a more interesting and perhaps slightly more humanistic religion than what is called christianity today. There is some hint that mystery religion stuff went on in the catacombs, I doubt if they did Tantric stuff or anything of that flavour however it was a more interesting flavour than what we know christianity today, I mean only the Catholics and the Hebrews have retained some of the true value and uses of ritual. What happened is as one specific group or coalition gained power it declared opposing view points "heresy"...It called it's own views of things dogmas and was proud of it. It was Paul (referred to as Saint Paul) and Jerome (also referred to as above) who really fucked things up Both of these cretins had severe sexual hangups and managed to project them 1400+ yrs

The protestants later thru much of this out which made things from bad to worse... I feel a religion is more important than whether it's base miracles were true or not or were misinterpretations of things that did happen or whatever. It doesn't really matter whether Siva and his complement Parvarti (sp?) and Lord Ganesha are as real as you or I or not just that putting energy into something gives it some aspect of realness and in some way makes it real... It did not matter if they were worshiping (in broad sense) Ganesha, Allah, Siva, Kali, Christ or even rehashed Babylonian religion with heavy doses of paranoia.... The universe will do interesting things for a variety of people... However there are some people who are more comfortable in one structure than another, same as there are those more comfortable with DEC operating systems than with IBM operating systems... The problem with Born -Again n -Christianity is that it evolves from repressive reduced protestantism plus repressive variations on American society... American society is coercively repressive in that it does things like say "be what you like to be, however if we don't like what you are, we can make it unpleasant for you"

SET UP IT'S GROUND RULES (LIKE WRITING AN OPERATING SYSTEM.)

BELIEF IN GOD, I THINK, IS TOTALLY OPTIONAL. ONE WHO BELIEVES IN GOD CAN'T REALLY PROVE HIS EXISTENCE, JUST AS ONE WHO DOESN'T CAN'T REALLY PROVE THAT HE DOESN'T EXIST. I THINK THAT WHAT ONE BELIEVES IS NOT AS IMPORTANT AS HOW ONE BELIEVES. IF YOUR BELIEFS MAKE YOU A HAPPIER, MORE LOVING, MORE RESPONSIBLE PERSON, THEN THEY'RE WORKING JUST FINE. BUT IF YOUR BELIEFS MAKE YOU HATE OR FEEL SUPERIOR OR DO OTHER 'UNGODLY' THINGS, THEN YOU MUST BE WRONG. I KNOW CHRISTIANS (AND JEWS TOO FOR THAT MATTER) ON BOTH SIDES OF THIS COIN, & THEY BOTH PROFESS TO BELIEVE THE SAME THING.

I DON'T BELIEVE IT'S NECESSARY TO BELIEVE EVERY WORD OF THE BIBLE LITERALLY--

THE JUDEAO-CHRISTIAN SYSTEM OF RELIGIONS HOLDS THAT GOD STARTED WITH NOTHING IN THE UNIVERSE--JUST A TREMENDOUS VACUUM. HE SIMPLY THOUGHT UP THE WORLD & THE HEAVENS ETC. SURELY A BEING WHO COULD DO THIS COULD THINK A WOMAN PREGNANT! NOT BEING A CHRISTIAN, I'M NOT OBLIGATED TO BELIEVE THAT EVERY WORD OF THE BIBLE IS GOSPEL TRUTH, BUT RATHER I BELIEVE THAT THESE STORIES HAVE VALUE IN WHAT WE CAN LEARN FROM THEM. WHETHER OR NOT JESUS WAS BORN OF A VIRGIN (& SOME CHRISTIANS DON'T BELIEVE IT EITHER) IS NOT IMPORTANT--IT'S JESUS'S PERSONALITY & TEACHING THAT MATTER. THE ANCIENT GREEKS BELIEVED THAT ZEUS TOOK THE FORM OF A SWAN AND SEDUCED LEDA TO BEAR BACCUS (ANOTHER MAN-GOD, GOD OF DRINKING AND CONVIVIALITY). THE MUSEUMS OF EUROPE ARE FULL OF PICTURES OF A BIG, PLUMP, RENAISSANCE-LOOKING WOMAN HAVING SEX WITH A SWAN (IN SOME OF THEM LYING DOWN, IN SOME OF THEM STANDING UP, ETC.). I DON'T THINK THE ANCIENT GREEKS REALLY BELIEVED THIS STORY, BUT IT HELPED EXPLAIN ABOUT THE PROCESS OF FERMENTATION AND THE PROPER USE OF WINE.

THERE WAS A CASE IN AUSTRALIA SOME YEARS AGO WHERE A GIRL WHO WAS A GYNECOLOGICALLY-PROVABLE VIRGIN GOT PREGNANT & IT WAS FINALLY ATTRIBUTED TO LOOSE SPERM IN THE COMMUNITY SWIMMING POOL. BUT AREN'T WE KIND OF SPLITTING HAIRS? I MEAN DOES THAT SHOOT DOWN THE WHOLE BIBLE? THERE'S GOOD STUFF IN IT TOO, I THINK. LEN

Heres a number for all you people interested in calling those relatives you may have residing in deep space. Its simple to use, and all it takes is a little call to your local operator. Just dail 0, and when the friendly voice of the bBell Tell employee comes on line, say* long distance call, please. Charge it to may home phone(Look up any phone # belonging to some huge ccrporation like G.E. or anyone who makes bombs or agent orange or that shit) and ask for the interstallar area code to your favorite star system (try Betelgeuse, thats my fave.)

and dial away, friends. Theres still a problem of time delays, it takes about 17.2 years for your message to come back.....calling Alpha Centuri, for example. But other than this problem of time, your call will be completed as dialed.

As for Jesus, I seriously doubt that Mary was an actual virgin. It seems more likely that in reality Joseph and Mary considered themselves husband and wife, (maybe even married in a secret ceremony, perhaps to save joseph from the wrath of Mary's parents) and the virgin story got made up by some fanatics. That would make Jesus "just this guy, you know?"

Hi Eric,

The 8BBS line does exhibit strange behaviour at times. Just the other day, when I went to dial out on the line, I found that the line polarity had been reversed within the past week. Odd... Yesterday a PT&T repair man came by twice and left a card saying that they wanted to "check my phone" and to "call 511 to arrange a time". Seems unusual that PT&T should be so concerned about my line especially when I hadn't even called in a complaint. I suspect part of the problem might be that the line doesn't work properly after it has been busied out for several hours. Whenever I'm using the system, I busy out the line. Regards...

I enjoy teasing questions also...what the hell difference does it really make whether or not a big guy God exists, anyway? Do what thou wilt shall be the whole of the Law. The biggest problem facing mankind is coexistence on a tighter and tighter planet. The doctrine of Will, "every Man and every Woman is a Star", however it is couched in whatever religion or philosophy you care to espouse, is the only path to freedom for yourself and your fellows. Genesis could indeed be true. The Big Bang could indeed be true. The world could well be on the back of a big turtle, for all I care. I'll not likely find out, and if I do achieve Gnosis, the direct personal knowledge of the nature and existence of God, it will still only be true for me, not for anyone else. It doesn't matter at all what you believe. Just don't tell me I'm wrong, or that I'm full of shit, or that the answer you have is the only possibility. You cannot possibly know my experience of the Universe. Why does it make any sense to assume that the Truths were passed down way back when the Bible was passed down, and that no Truths have been received today that could be as valid, as important, as Holy as those that Moses and Jesus were working with?) Blah blah blah. I don't know. I don't care. I just want to experience what I can, and I won't limit myself by anyone else's definitions. Try it. You might like it.

What did happen to Jesus in the desert? A common theme in religion and mythology (difference? Your religion is my mythology, especially if you are deader than I am) is the man who disappears and returns enlightened. It happens to races, also--the Jews under Moses...One theory has it that JC and the others went into the desert and were enlightened by a transcendental experience of the sort that happens best when a man is meditating alone, Moses on the Mountain, the Buddha under the Bo tree, Jesus in the Desert. Indeed, the Knowledge and Conversation of the Holy Guardian Angel, a way of looking at the revelation of the inner man, almost requires solitude and introspection.

Or, for that matter, he may have et some of the wrong berries, and hallucinated to the point of schizophrenia. It's hard to tell the difference...

I don't know what you think, but I feel that we are philosophizing (sp?) about the creation of the universe and the actions/reactions of man and his "soul" more than we are talking about religion. I personally was born and raised a Catholic, but I consider myself an agnostic philosopher. I study love and creation of love. The Judeo-Christian religions say that God created the universe because he loved man. Well, we aren't the only ones in the universe so why should we believe that we are special? Isn't it more important for us to first learn to love our brothers and our sisters than to worry about how the universe was formed? My "belief" in an extra-universal force is only spurred by my belief in the big-bang theory. What was there before the first bang? How did the hydrogen monobolc appear? I do have one comment that is one that turned me off to Catholicism and Christianity <in the 700 club sense>. They say, all of these christians in the world that believe this CAN'T be wrong. I say well, what about ALL of those Hindu/Budhist? There are more of them than us! It is insignificant! What really matters is whether one cares for others. Not if/how he worships a god or gods. -PST

Subject: My opinion

Well, I am back after a long absence, in which I was doing much work. I have strong opinions about religion. I do not actively campaign 'against' religion, but I will criticize a religion that tries to push its values upon others. Christianity seems to be foremost in this, which is why I reject it more than any other religion. If god (notice the small 'g') is supposedly so wonderful, how can a 'good christian' explain all the horrible deeds done in the name of Christianity? i.e. the slaughtering of the Hugonouts, persecution of the jews, torturing of the various indian tribes and eastern peoples, etc. These were actually done for political and greedy reasons, but under the guise of 'Christianity.' That is how the christian religion gained so much power... it provided an excellent medium for the growth of ignorance, violence, and greed. Many of the eastern and tribal religions, although strict, held the conviction that men and nature, as well as personal honor, were more important than money and power. Education was put foremost, and profit was held at a lower value than in Christian nations.

As for my ideas about the existence of some 'supreme being', I am extremely doubtful. Even a 'life force' has yet to be proven. I work on proven facts, and not on a twisted faith passed down through ages by (cont) senile old men who could not remember history properly.

In a historical perspective, religious writings have very little value that I have seen. Their mythological value, however, is high, and describes that philosophy of the people from which it came. The bible is just as valid as the Book of the Dead, the Elder Edda (the Norse 'bible'), and the various legends of the European Teutonic tribes. Personally, I find the Norse and European myths much more colorful and interesting than the ones brought back from the 'holy' lands.

Worship of a diety provides material to fill a gap in people's lives. However, any group of people could be just as fulfilled if they considered knowledge and facts, rather than ancient legends, as more important and worthy of study. This would fill the void in their lives caused by their ignorance. All around them they see things beginning and ending. So it is natural that they want to have a beginning and an ending, as well as simple answers to their questions, about their own existence. If a society would search for facts, instead of accepting stories made up to satisfy their curiosity without having to do any work, they would find life much more enjoyable, interesting, and rewarding.

Unfortunately, some cretin either from this system or from the ARPAnet, has been fooling around on the Onyx, and has been trying to ruin the system. Whoever it is has changed several files, several times deleted the password file (Luckily we do backups every day), used our autodialer to call distant places, tried to make it so that I could not use the autodialer, and written sarcastic messages about how nice it was to have use of the system and that he might try other things 'next time.' Thus, we have found it necessary to DELETE the ferns account and the guest account, as well as some complimentary accounts (sorry, Bernard, but we have to keep TIGHT security now. You weren't using your account much anyway).

I am very dissapointed in this, in that now one person with the mentality of a 7-year-old, who has cravings for power which apply only to harming others, has ruined it for everyone. I would be glad to allow unlimited access of the system, but one person here cont.

decided that he wanted to see how far he could go. Well, he went far enough to cause us to tighten security, and so we are no longer giving out guest accounts, nor will ferns be active. I am very sorry that this had to happen, but as long as there are people who abuse priviledges, there will be security, and it will affect people who are completely innocent. Please send me comments here.

Sorry to learn of the problems with the ONYX *ferns account. I'm curious as to why you imply that someone from 8BBS was doing the damage? Was ferns only mentioned on 8BBS? I haven't been using ferns lately 'cause no one else seemed to either. Perhaps you could explain why you deliberately included a command to allow the user direct access to the UNIX operating system/shell? That seemed rather unusual. Regards,..

Subject: Piracy

I agree completely with Tim Binder. The profit margin in writing game software (as opposed to operating software) is remarkably small, considering the time and energy that goes into it. If I work my ass off to write a program, expecting to be able to make some money off of it (and I should be able to, shouldn't I? I am an artist, and should be able to reap the rewards of my work!!) it is completely unfair for you to deny me my just reward. The only payoff (after the joy of programming is finished) of the work is the royalties. I think that freeloading software is reprehensible, and there is no ethical justification for it. IT HURTS THE WRITER, plain and simple. I also don't buy pirated albums, or videotapes, if the art is available for sale. Folks--if you want to be fair to the one person hurt by your software theft, you don't have to pay the $30-$40 bucks, maybe, but at least you might consider sending a dollar or two to the author. There is not yet a standard royalty for software authors, but usually that is about what the author gets--the rest is for distribution, publicity, and profit for the company. Dig?

Continuing the theory that JC was just a guy, you know,
I begin to have my doubts on the validity of the Bible.
Raised a Jew, but I believe myself to be an agnostic, and I think that if you find my Jesus theory buyable, you may like this one.
The Bible was little more than actual events (phenomenons) that were attributed to Jesus or God. I don't put God in all caps because I doubt he exists. God is just a name, therefore.

I have said that Jesus was just a psychic/healer in a land in need of a "savior", the Bible was just, naturally, attributed to him or his "dad". For example: The parting of the Red Sea has happened and will happen again, it is a known fact that sometimes during an extreme low tide (called perigee) (or is it apogee?) (whatever) a sea bed can become visible. The star of Bethlehem was, according to a lot of scientist, a nova. The flood was a flood and if Noah happened to have had a premonition about it, it was attributed to God. Coincidences, phenominon, premonitions.

These are the three basic ingredients to a great story. But it is just that, a story. Now these poor, ignorant people saw these things, misunderstood, and then these three Rabbis (or priests, ministers, whatever) were sitting around and decided that the flood was the hand of God and that he brought us (or them, depending on your faith) out of Egypt. Ok, why not, but it is still a story. Now I know some folks are going to say; why was there a perigee tide at just that time, and why was there a nova at that time? I say coincidence, some say God. More theories to come...

Actually, it seems the flood myth is more complicated than just one flood around the time of Noah. See, a whole lot of religions have flood myths, and not all at the same time. Floods are the lifeblood of any river civilization, but have the unfortunate tendency to once in a while flood out of control--like, the whole population runs for the hills, but this time the flood goes higher thar before, and oh shit, bye bye populace! Time for new heroes!

Regarding the parting of the Red Sea--why did it happen when it did? Well, think about it for a second--if it hadn't, who would have survived among the Hebrews to talk about it? Failed revolutions are a dime a dozen...93 jpg

Just looking at the schma..makes me believe that it should be simple.
they use a n-programmable divider to drive a motorola 14112 0-600 baud modem chip. On the MMII it appears you only need to change the traces to the divider to provide divide by 208(300 baud) and divide by 104(600 baud).
Does anyone have any knowledge showing why this wouldn't work.

Instead of changing traces I will mount the divider and jumper around on the socket.

any info would be appreciated.
Last month I ran up over $60 in long dist alone! I must run faster Subject: Why no "marked messages"?

There have been several recent comments left complaining about the lack of "marked message" retrieval. There are several reasons why 8BBS does not have that 'feature'.

8BBS software is modeled after CBBS software and as such, endeavors to maintain some semblance of similarity. The "marked message" retrieval method is usually associated with ABBS, PMS or Conn-80 type BBS's.

Perhaps the main reason 8BBS does not support "marked messages" is that I personally do not think it is particularly well implemented in that it requires the user to quickly type a 'marking' char at just the right time in order to later retrieve "marked messages".

I think 8BBS has something better. This is the selective Retrieval capability. It is documented in the HELP files, but it allows a user to selectively retrieve messages with the same type of command format as used with a selective summary. In fact, there is no need to ever use the S command, since selective or sequential Retrieval combines the functions of the Q, S and R functions. Just use the ^C or C character to skip messages you are NOT interested in. The ^K or K character gets you back to the Function: menu. Why not check out the HELP file and try it sometime.

Regards,..

WHEN YOU ATTACK THAT LOVELY COLLECTION OF OLD FOLKTALES AND MYTHOLOGY, THE OLD TESTAMENT, BY SAYING THAT YOU DON'T BELIEVE IT HAPPENED JUST THAT WAY, YOU ARE FIGHTING ON THE WRONG LEVEL, I THINK. EVERYBODY WHO BELIEVES IN GOD ISN'T THEN FORCED TO BELIEVE EVERY WORD OF THAT STUFF. EVEN THE MOST FERVENT BORN-AGAINERS WHO BELIEVE "EVERY WORD" OF THAT NEW PART DON'T SWALLOW THE TORAH WHOLE (AFTER ALL! MOSES WASN'T BORN AGAIN! HE WAS JUST A JEW AND YOU KNOW HOW WRONG THEY ARE!)

TRY TO IMAGINE WHAT YOU WOULD THINK IF YOU DID BELIEVE IN GOD, BUT YOU WERE ALLOWED TO INTERPRET ALL THIS LITERATURE HOWEVER YOU WANTED.

BUT IMAGINE LISTENING TO, FOR INSTANCE, THE STORY OF THE TORTOISE AND THE HARE, AND THEN SAYING THAT THE STORY WAS JUST "DUMB" BECAUSE IT COULDN'T HAVE REALLY HAPPENED!

I BELIEVE IN GOD SIMPLY BECAUSE I CHOOSE TO (IS THERE ANY OTHER ANSWER THAT YOU WOULD RESPECT?) BUT I SEE THE BOOKS OF MOSES AS A BUNCH OF REALLY INTERESTING STORIES. SILLY OLD FOLKTALES MIGHT HAVE A FEW WITCHES OR DEMONS OR SHAMANS & MAYBE A CYCLOPS OR A UNICORN OR TWO. BUT THE FIRST FEW BOOKS OF THE BIBLE ARE MUCH MORE REALISTIC, ESPECIALLY CONSIDERING HOW OLD THEY ARE. I THINK THEY'RE VERY VIVIDLY-PAINTED AND FULL OF ACTION AND HAVE SOME VERY COMPLEX CHARACTER-DEVELOPMENTS. IF YOU SAW IT IN A MOVIE YOU'D LOVE IT. THERE'S INCEST AND MASTURBATION AND ALL KINDS OF IMAGINATIVE PUNISHMENTS. A WHOLE CITY IS DESTROYED FOR SODOMY (BORN-AGINNERS SAY IT WAS HOMOSEXUALITY, BUT I DON'T KNOW).

SO WHEN YOU SAY THAT ALL BELIEF IS B.S. BECAUSE THESE STORIES ARE A BIT TOO SPICY FOR YOUR ENHANCED 20TH-CEN. JEWISH INTELLECT, YOU ARE PICKING A FIGHT WITH A STRAW MAN & NOT LIVING UP TO THE INTELLECTUALISM IMPLIED BY A PROPER AGNOSTICISM. (WHEW!)

just a note, (i usually stay out of these arguments) someone raised the point how can you really put much stock in a bunch of tales (the bible) that was passed through the eons and got mangled and changed along the way etc.
well, the FACTUAL point i want to make is this:
Not to long ago (in our current lifetimes) a bunch of clay jars were discovered in a cave by a small body of water known as the Red Sea. The RED SEA scrolls were a collection of manuscripts (written on fan-fold continuous lamb-gut printout paper no doubt) of which a majority were copies of the old testament and other books of the bible. The amazing thing about this discovery was the fact that they were the oldest known copy yet to be found (verified by reliable carbon-14 tracing.) that is the archeological significance, the religious enlightenment was the fact that the text of the bible and other documents matched 'current' versions exactly. Thus, hard evidence seems to prove that the bible has remained unchaged til this day. So, it gave a strong credence to the non-human divine inspiration view about the source of the bible (i.e. from you - know - who, word for word, never changed Interesting your plans, i wonder if cbbs santa clara (408-241-1956) will beat you in the 'multi-user' race? i am sure you will win in the dsc storage / capacity game, as we cannot afford a hard disc and the local vendors such as corvus don't give a damn about donating their 50 cents worth of hardware they sell for $50 to a public access free system such as ours and 8bbs and any other system except of course, for computer emporium because the owner is married to a corvus employee. (too bad that store can never 'keep it up' they either sell the hardware right out from under it or keep run sh--y software because they won't spend 100 bucks to get the pms software from bill blue in santee ca. and give a surpurb programer his just deserts ($$$$ for a good job done.) BTW---looks like 8bbs will win the 'first with 1200 baud' in the local area race, but really, unless you are vadic triple, i still think you 'logically' not really fully 1200 baud. Subject: Re: Bible

So, you are stating that since the bible has changed so little, it is evidence for the argument that some devine power was at work.
If you want to put it that way, then it must follow that, since the Bible says that 'God' created the earth (including trees, animals, etc.) that the earth hasn't changed since it was created (at least hasn't been changed by humans). But then, you see that the earth HAS been changed, most extremly by humans. If the REASON that the bible didn't change was because it was devine, then the Earth shouldn't have changed, since the bible SAYS that the Earth is devine too, right?
Or are you now going to give some argument like "That's the WORD" or "The bible is more important than the earth" or some such irrelivant argument? Please qualify your statements, and compare them with the contrary evidence, before stating them.

Subject: Ackermann's Function

Ackermann's function can be stated a couple of ways. Here they are:

$$\begin{aligned} A(0,n,p) &= n + p \\ A(1,0,p) &= 0 \\ A(m+2,0,p) &= 1 \end{aligned}$$ and

$$A(m+1,n+1,p) = A(m,A(m+1,n,p),p)$$

You might want to do it more specifically (without p) as $A(0,n) = n+1; A(1,0) = 0; A(m+2,0) = 1;$
 $A(m+2,n+1) = A(m,A(m+1,n))$

Another way of stating the thing is--whoops, not gonna have room, see next...

Message number 9001 is 16 lines from Joshua Gordon

To Phil Reed at 11:47:27 on 11-May-81.
Subject: Cont...

Another way of stating Ackermann is:

A(m,n) :=
  if m = 0 then n + 1 else if n = 0 then (if m = 1 then 0 else 1) else A(m-1,A(m,n-1)).

By the way, this function blows up really fast, depending upon the value you pick for m and n (and p, if you use it). It is the most frequently used example of a function which is general recursive but not primitive recursive (if you dig computation theory jabber). Source for this is Ralston and Meek's "Encyclopedia of Computer Science", a good general reference for all sorts of things, like number systems, random number generators, history and trivia. Regarding the Dead Sea Scrolls--There is a heck of a lot more in those manuscripts than merely re-statements of the Bible. There is a lot of doctrine in direct opposition to the current Christian philosophy/politics. (There, and more important, in the Nag Hammadi manuscripts, discussed as The Gnostic Gospels.) The "biblical" words that have been suppressed are a lot more interesting than the ones that have "survived". By the way, the Dead Sea Scrolls might well be similar to the current bible--well, does stagnation imply Truth?

Thanks for your comments about 8BBS. Several other people have also suggested multi-user operation, but there are currently no plans to expand beyond a single user system. The main problem is that multi-user operation would require a TOTAL re-write of the program into 100% machine code. This could be done (I presume) but 8BBS would be down for program development for a L O N G time.

Perhaps the addition of 1200 baud support will help alleviate some of the system loading. Regards,..

Hello,
I dont participate much in these discussions, but I have seen many people downgrade the Bible. I guess that is your right, but let me tell you how I learned it.
As you might recall, the Jews were tortured in the OLD testament, (B.C.) that is before the new testament, thus before Christianity. That means the Christians could NEVER have possibly tortured the Jews.
We all have a choice whether to beleive or not beleive. I guess the ones who believe have some reason for believeing, and you can see that most of the people on here are not very stupid. Most people who are born with an interest in computers are more than your average ignorant person. Also, I suspect the main reason that so many of you dont believe in a god, is because you have to think with facts. You cant believe aything without seeing it.

Belief is irrelevant to facts. Facts are irrelevant to belief. That is the fundamental difference between Theism and Gnosis, incidentally. Those who consider themselves Gnostics believe they can have a direct knowledge and appreciation of God. Other believers take it on faith alone. Many born-again Christians know for a fact that God and Christ exist and are as powerful as the Bible implies. For them, that suffices for truth--no, that IS truth. Their frame of reference, their paradigm, might not be the same as yours or mine, but for them, God is a Fact, and what business have we to impose our conception of reality upon them? Any more than the other way around?

Where do we go when we die? Cleveland, obviously.

Hi Mark,

Thanks for the comments regarding 'non-existent messages'. Yes, alternate wording could be used, but the end result for the user is indeed that the 'message does not exist'. The 'message does not exist' can occur if the requested msg has actually been purged from the system or if the message is just flagged as 'killed' or if it is a RP msg to someone else. There is a bug with RP msg's that we hope to have fixed for ver 6.1. If you use a system access PW'd you should be able to read RP msg's that you enter, but ver 6.0 won't let you read them 'til you log in again, we also hope to have 212A 1200 baud support soon. I suggest that you read msg 8651 after this. Although that msg applies to people raiding computer systems, I suggest that the same thoughts can be applied to those who STEAL software. There is no other word for what you do. Some people have invested many thousands of hours into development of those programs, (don't forget, programmers earn about $10-$20/hour these days) and then we have to deal with people like you who go around ripping them off by copying their stuff and passing it out. Calling it "piracy" (cute name, huh?) doesn't change what you're doing. It's people like you who make life miserable for the honest users of those uncopyable software packages, when we can't make backup copies without breaking the law.

I suppose that I could make brownie points by turning you in, (did you know that unauthorized copying of software is worth a $10,000 fine?) but I'd rather let you reconsider your habits.

Well, I tried your functions, and it degenerates into returning 1 after about A(3,0). I don't know what I'm doing wrong, but it can't be far off. The function I was using before was generating numbers in the correct range, it's just that (I thought) they weren't right. Here's the old one:

Ack(m,n):= if m=0 then ack:=n+1 else if n=0 then ack:=ack(m-1,1) else ack:=ack(m-1,ack(m,n-1))

which as you note, is NOT the same thing. For m=3,n=0..3, this function gives ack(m,n):=5,13,29,61. Maybe if you got a version running, you could check these numbers. ...phil

Hold it, I thought we were going to stop argueing about the Bible and other related works (Koran, etc..).

How about talking about the nature of God?
I am a Gnostic/Christian. That is, I believe in Christ, he was a great person, and performed many signs and wonders (some faked by gospel writers) but I question whether he was really the son of God. (If there is such a position).

God is:
(According to philosophy/beliefs of many religions that I have analyzed)

A very powerful person but:
He sets rules for himself, and for the most part doesn't make waves. My main cause of belief in 'a god' is that I support the Big-Bang theory of cosmic evolution. What was there before the FIRST hydrogen monobloc? God is kinda a random hacker (that can handle timeslicing). He (in his cute way) threw a bunch of Hydrogen together and sat back to see what happend.... <see next msg>

My attack on God:

If He is so great and powerful, why does he always hide arround the corner when one is looking for him?
Psychologists, Philosophers and many people have tried to find him, why does he refuse to show himself? Born-again's haven't found god, they have found a 'minister' who happens to be good at public speaking and likes power and $$$ (Sourds a bit like Adloph!) Do you know how much that Schuller guy

You are plain and simple a thief and a criminal. Piracy from big and nasty corporations, with SPRINT or whatever, might be ethically justifiable in terms of stealing from the rich (though I have distinct qualms about that myself); stealing the labor of individual programmers has no such justification, and is little different from stealing from the corner market. I'm not particularly offended by David Lee's offers. I also don't think that the courts (if they matter, I'm not concerned with the legalities, only the manners) would consider trading software to be "not for profit". At any rate, I don't like being called an asshole. And I don't consider myself one, and I would appreciate name-calling be reserved for those people who have done something to deserve it.

As a professional software engineer (though not involved in any individual enterpreneuring), and as an author, I am keenly aware of the problems involved in the theft of one's labor. I would rather see a dialog on the matter of software piracy, rather than a battle of nastiness. I guess I did get a little carried away by calling Mr. Lee any names at all (what did I say besides "thief"? I don't even remember if I said anything). If so, sorry--but the basis for my argument remains. I ask again--would Mr. Lee steal from a blind man? How is that ethically any different from software piracy? Does the simplicity of the means justify the action? Do what thou wilt shall be the whole of the Law. Were I in the market for selling custom software, it indeed would be restricted by people giving it away for free. If I'm going to set myself in business as a whore, I think I have the right to complain about free nookie, no? On my correr?

WELL, for all of you who don't get TAP (And you SHOULD!), there is an artical in there that says that SPC, MCI & Ma Bell have joined togeather. What they have done (Please note that all this info is from TAP # 67) was to make all the SPC & MCI dial-ups "trap" numbers. What this means is that every time someone calls them, a card with YOUR phone #, time, what phone # called, etc. gets printed out from the Ma Bell computer, and put in storage so if MCI or SPC has a complaint about billing, Ma Bell knows WHERE TO GO!

So BEWARE! I don't know when this took effect, or when it will, or if ever, but I would give this serious thought!

MY WHOLE PROBLEM WITH RELIGION IS THAT IT DOES TEND TO DIMINISH ONE'S TOLERATION. IT'S PRACTICALLY IMPOSSIBLE FOR A PERSON OR GROUP OF PEOPLE TO THINK THEY HAVE "THE TRUTH" WITHOUT THEM COMING TO THINK THAT THIS TRUTH IS ENTRUSTED TO THEM AND THAT THEIR TRUTH IS MORE CONCRETE OR MORE ETERNAL OR JUST BETTER THAN SOMEONE ELSE'S. CHRISTIANS (OR ANYONE) WILL TELL YOU THAT PRIDE IS THE WORST SIN OF ALL, AND YET THERE IS A FORM OF INSIDIOUS SPIRITUAL PRIDE THAT IS RAMPANT IN SOME OF THE EVANGELISTIC TYPES. I CAN HARDLY BELIEVE THAT THERE ARE PEOPLE IN THIS COUNTRY THAT WANT TO TEACH THE BIBLICAL THEORY OF CREATION AS "SCIENTIFIC FACT"! IF I WERE JUST AN AGNOSTIC IT WOULDN'T BOTHER ME AS MUCH AS IT DOES. BUT I KNOW THAT RELIGION HAS ITS GOOD SIDE, AND, IN FACT, BELIEF SEEMS TO WORK WONDERFULLY IN SOME PEOPLE. I SUSPECT THAT IT'S ORGANIZED RELIGION THAT'S THE CULPRIT. SECTARIANISM. NONE OF THIS STUFF WOULD HAPPEN IF WE ALL HAD OUR OWN LITTLE PERSONAL RELIGION & DIDN'T GANG UP ON EACH OTHER. NOBODY WOULD BE TAKING CREDIT FOR ELECTING A PRESIDENT & PRESIDENTS WOULDN'T BE PRETENDING "CHRISTIAN" VIRTUES TO GET ELECTED. WE WOULDN'T HAVE NUTS TRYING TO LEGISLATE MORALITY & THERE WOULD BE NO 700 CLUB (THAT IN ITSELF WOULD BE AN IMPROVEMENT!)

FAIR USE IS A LEGAL TERM, IT DOES NOT NECESSARILY APPLY TO USE THAT IS TRULY FAIR BY YOUR PERSONAL MORALITY. THE LANDMARK CASE THAT ESTABLISHED THE PRINCIPLE OF FAIR USE CONCERNED A FINANCIALLY POOR WOMAN WHO MADE HER OWN MONOPOLY^TM GAME FOR HER CHILDREN. PARKER BROTHERS (COPYRIGHT HOLDER TO MONOPLOY^TM) SUED, AND THEY LOST.

NOW, WHETHER DAVID LEE IS BREAKING THE LAW IS A LEGALLY GRAY AREA THAT COULD ONLY BE DECIDED IN A COURT (ALTHOUGH IF HE SIGNED ANY SOFTWARE CONTRACTS TO OBTAIN HIS PROGRAMS, HE IS MOST CERTAINLY GUILTY). MORALLY, HIS GUILT OR INNOCENCE DEPENDS ON THE STANDARDS OF THE OBSERVER. OBVIOUSLY, YOU TWO THINK HE IS A THIEF AND HE THINKS HE IS SOMETHING MORE INNOCUOUS. AS FOR MYSELF, I HAVE A PECULIAR MORAL SYSTEM THAT DOES NOT CONSIDER THE QUESTION RELEVANT (HOWEVER, I SHALL TRY TO ORIENT WHAT I SAY IN A MANNER THAT MOST PEOPLE WOULD UNDERSTAND).

AS FOR THE POSSIBLE INSULT CONTAINED IN MY LAST LETTER, I ONLY MENTIONED THE STATISTICAL POSSIBILITIES OF SOMEBODY BEING AN A--HOLE, I COULD HAVE BEEN MISTAKEN (UNLIKELY).

In the June issue of Radio-Electronics there is a modem circuit that you can build for under $60 using the MC14412 low-speed modem IC. The article says that this should be good up to 600 baud under perfect conditions. Does anyone know of a modem chip/circuit that can handle to 1200 baud (orig/ans) and is also fairly inexpensive? Preferably, one that uses the BELL standard.

Subject: Modem

The Bell 212 (as has been explained here many times before) is a 0-300 or a 1200 baud modem, depending on the way it handshakes at the initial call. The originator throws a switch to indicate high speed BEFORE going into data mode. The answer modem can figure this out and goes into the right mode. [The VADIC triple takes the high speed two steps further. 1. It can automatically figure out when in HS mode whether the other end is a 212 or a VADIC. 2. When in HS VADIC mode, it is 0-1200.]

Note that with the Bell Modem you have to get your computer to either AUTO-BAUD or sample one of the lines from the modem to figure out what speed you are... you can't dial in at 300 and tell the computer to switch to 1200. You can with the VADIC if you handshake in VADIC HS mode. (Note that two VADIC triples will occasionally handshake in Bell HS Mode, and are then stuck to 1200, just as if they really were 212s.)

I'm not sure, but I suspect that the 212 is PSK. It actually runs some sort of synchronous stuff with your async data super-imposed; which is partly why it runs at exactly 1200 only.

Subject: RED BOX via Tape recorder

A tape of the Coin sounds is about a susceptible to getting caught as a Red Box itself, and maybe slightly more so.

Red Boxers get caught mostly by three methods:

1. If they are foolish enough to repeatedly use the same payphone, Bell Security will stake it out because of the receipts coming up short.
2. If they are sloppy with feeding the tones into the phone, the operators will get suspicious and cause the big eyes of all the ex-FBI Bell Security people to go to work. THIS IS MORE LIKELY TO HAPPEN WITH A TAPE RECORDER BECAUSE YOU ARE SPENDING LESS MONEY...
3. They are usually doing something else, too, which gets eyes working on them.

Good luck, and don't get caught.

Subject: Why Bell Security cares

Bell security wants to stop the people who are ripping off their competitors because they feel that they are getting ripped off, too. Since the call was placed from point A to point B by someone not authorized to use j-random-Bell-competitor's service, Bell should have been getting the money.

I know of a case where General Telephone successfully prosecuted and got a conviction for someone who was ripping off some OTHER COMPANY (not another common carrier) without much help from the ripped-off company, because Gen-Tel, too, was an injured party for having lost the regular long distance business.

I actually read the indictment -- all the phone companies involved got their money for the service which had been PHYSICALLY provided, but Gen-Tel felt they had been ripped off because they didn't get the revenue for the service which had LOGICALLY been provided.

Good luck, and don't run into Security at the wrong time.

Hi Mark,

The idea about being able to change msg header info after entering msg text is interesting. I'll have to think about it and check to see if it is feasible.

8BBS tries to maintain some semblance of command and usage compatability with the CBBS software. If a user wishes to send a msg to more than one person and have it flagged a separate msg has to be sent to each user. This does NOT mean you have to type it more than once. Just use the (G)et message function when at the msg entry function prompt.

Hi Marc,

You've been using the 212A for the past week, so you can see that it doesn't prevent low speed users from accessing the system. It only goes into 1200 baud mode when it hears an originating 212 type modem.

There are about 13,600 OS/8 blocks (256 12 bit words/block) on-line as hard disk (RK05's), but the 8BBS message data file only takes 1100 blocks and it is usually about 50% to 80% full.

Subject: 8BBS supports 212A 1200 baud

8BBS #1 now supports the 212A 1200 baud transmission mode. If you have a modem that is compatible with the 212A you can now use 8BBS at 1200 baud.

NOTE: The 212A is NOT compatible with the 202, VADIC, or NOVATION 1200 baud transmission modes.

If you log on at 1200, don't use the 'A' function to alter the baud rate because the 212A can't change to low speed. High or Low speed mode is determined by the originating modem when the call is connected to the 212A answer modem.

If you have problems while using the 1200 baud mode, please let us know. We don't have another 212A to check it out, so we are relying on your info.

Subject: 8BBS supports 600 baud?

Going all out this evening... Did some testing at 600 baud and find that the 212A seems to do about as well at 600 baud as some acoustic couplers do at 300 baud. At least it appears that way when I call from the other line in the kitchen... The old Novation 4103B had a MUCH higher error rate when used at 600 baud. I tried sending a full 80 char line of each printing char and found that the error rate (for me) is less than 2%. I was able to dump the full '0' list with NO errors, which tends to indicate that the 212A is sending 600 baud OK. I suspect that the major cause of errors is due to the AJ acoustic coupler not being able to originate very well at 600.

If you have a PMMI or DC HAYES direct connect modem, and are a local caller, you may find that 600 baud will work well. Currently, 8BBS does NOT support 600 baud at login. The 'A' function allows you to select 600 baud. We are very interested in learning if you find 600 baud operation worthwhile with the 212A. If you find that 600 baud works OK for you, please let us know, also let us know if you'd like 8BBS to recognize 600 baud at login. This would mean that 8BBS would start the 'auto-baud' "Press RETURN:" loop at 600 baud, wait for a char, if not a CR, then try at 300, then 150, 110, then back to 600 again. <cont'd next msg>

What do you think? Would this tend to confuse a novice BBS user? Would he be likely to press 'RETURN' at least once? Would this overly annoy and inconvenience 300 baud callers?

While I'm on this topic... has anyone EVER used 110 or 150 baud?

Subject: re: your comments: stealing software

Rather than let you put words in my mouth, I'll take up the challenge.
There IS a fundamental difference between reading messages left here for others, and copying proprietary software and passing it around. I'm suprised that you could logically connect the two. To start with, you do have the option to keep random people from reading comments directed to a specific person. If you choose not to exercise that option, you are specifically allowing anyone to read that msg who wants to. That is the whole basis of these public msg systems. These are, after all, BULLETIN BOARDS. This one is more sophisticated than most, precisely because it allows you to not let me read messages that you have left IF YOU WANT TO.

As for Mr. Lee, he may or may not be a thief in the eyes of the Law. That would depend on if he was passing out copies of the software that he had bought. If he was passing on copies of software that somebody had given to him, then legally he is in a gray area, however, (and this is the important point) he is still MORALLY a thief. If he did not pay for the copies of the software he is passing around, then he could be convicted for recieving stolen property, and more importantly, if he passes copies of the illegal copy around, he is STILL ripping of the authors of the program. As far as I am concerned, (remember, this is me talking)..more..

Subject: more on stealing software

..if he really needs the software (say visicalc), then he can afford to go out and buy it. If he can't afford it, then he probably coesn't need it, and therefore has no reason to go out and rip off the authors.

The reason that the large IBM installations don't have this problem (and therefore the reason that we can't talk about them the same way we can talk about the Apple software) is because you really can't do anything with just the software; you need to make a multi-million dollar investment to use it. Being able to back up your software for the IBM is just as important as for the apple, but the situations are different. (Not morally though, as you could send a copy of something to your friend in the next computer room down the street. That's just as bad.)

It's people like you and Mr. Lee, with the attitude that if you can get at it, you can do anything you like and everyone else can go to hell, that are causing the rest of us so much grief.

Hi David,

Just received my latest issue of "Cryplogia". In an article on the Public Cryptography Study Group I noticed the following quote that might be of interest to you.

*Cryptographic researchers and some other academics see in the NSA's efforts a severe threat to their personal freedom as well as to their professional work. "We're entering a stage of computerization where the use of computers is threatening whatever privacy we have," said George Davida of the Univ. of Wisc. and Georgia Inst. of Tech., who is one of the leading opponents of prior review (by NSA). "Telephone networks are computer networks in fact," Davida said. "There are opportunities for abuse in telephone companies in electronic mail and EFT. All these introduce new techniques for invading privacy that we didn't have before. We have to consider all of these applications along with NSA's mission to determine whether it's worth giving up a large chunk of freedom in return for whatever messages we may be able to intercept worldwide."

Although the NSA will not say specifically what has raised its eyebrows, knowledgeable observers in the field say recent papers on so-called public key crypto-systems, which are important to the US code system, have made the agency particularly jittery.

[Was Charlie R. able to help you with your project?] Regards,..

I THINK STEALING SOFTWARE IS FAR WORSE THAN THE OTHER THREE, BECAUSE

Subject: tape recording coins in pay phones

You are correct, Marc Mosco, taping the coins in a pay phone works very well. We did it a few years ago, in school. A direct tap to your home phone line works best; use an audio transformer and a 1 microfarad capacitor in series with the line (to keep the d.c. out). Try to use a good reel-to-reel tape deck, then make dubs to a cassette recorder. Have a friend call you from a pay phone, and deposit the money as you record. When he hangs up, all but the original dime will come back. If you don't have a direct tap, use a phone pick-up (one of those suction cup thingies) positioned on the earpiece for minimum hum pick-up. Your friend should pause between depositing coins, to make it easier to cue up the tape later.

The coins values are as follows - 5 cents, one beep
-10 cents, two beeps
-25 cents, five fast beeps

That is, a beep per nickle of money. Quarters are faster, to save time.

Playing a tape of the beep sounds money makes in a pay phone is an effective alternative to building a red box. Some thoughts on this follow:
A good order to have money on the tape is one nickel, one dime, then a long ($5-$7 worth) string of quarters. Have a two or three second pause between each coin sound. Then simply start the tape at the correct place to get the correct change.

Subject: Cautions on playing recordings into pay

There are a few things to avoid when beating a pay phone with a tape recorder.
Have the tape properly cued up ahead of time, so you won't start it in the middle of a beep. This is most embarrassing. Use an earphone for privacy.
Use an external speaker to hold up to the mouthpiece so the operator won't hear the noise of starting the cassette recorder.

Try not to play too much money in, the operator will want to "return" your money and have you "redeposit" it. If you are paying before the call, just tell her you will talk just that much extra. If you "pay" too much after the call, she will want to mail you the extra. Watch the name and address you give here. It is really suspicious to tell here to keep the change. I don't think the phone company likes it.

ALWAYS use a real dime or nickle first. There is a coin sensor in the phone that must detect the first coin or the operator will know you are fishy.

Always be super nice to the operator, and helpful. They will do anything for you if you are nice to them.

Subject: The most important tip of all

The most important tip of all:

Practice, Practice, Practice

Make a real long distance call from a payphone, and talk longer than three minutes so you will have to put more in at the end. Do this with real money. Now you know the format, practice it by calling another pay phone and having your friend at that end play operator, asking you to deposit an amount. Then he can listen to you doing it to see how good you are.

Spend a dollar now instead of paying a lawyer later.

Also a note: There are two different kinds of pay phone beeps. One uses a pure tone for the beeps, the other uses two mixed tones. You must be careful to know what kind of pay phone you are calling from, and use the correct recording for that phone. Listen real carefully when you deposit your first dime and you will hear the beep in the background.

You gave an excellent set of instructions, which should cover all the bases pretty well, except for two:

1. There is a new system going in rapidly where a recording, rather than an operator, tells you what to deposit. The system then listens to your tones. could that system notice that there is something fishy with your input, put the call through, but set a "Fraud Flag?" I'm not sure they are that clever...
2. When doing stuff like this, don't call your friends at work or home. When Ma Bell discovers fraud, she sends her goons after the people who have RECEIVED the calls, in the hopes that they can be intimidated to reveal the names of the callers -- often with TOTALLY FALSE CLAIMS that if they won't tell them who made the calls, they can be prosecuted themselves.

Good luck, and don't get caught.

Dear Len and Paul

Esp Len because Paul hasn't read it yet, maybe. I recall the episode in Mere Christianity when CSL was imagining that both he and a German soldier simultaneously shot and killed each other and found themselves both in heaven face to face, and they would both probably laugh at it all. Comments?
Also your comments on The Weight of Glory.

I left a message for you Len and scratched your name to read just Len so maybe you could retrieve it.

When did you start reading Lewis and why?

I highly highly recommend a tremendously intelligent work by Sheldon Van Auken called A Severe Mercy, which revolves around correspondence this gifted writer maintained with CSL. It discusses a lot, but one of the best, I think, is the idea that CSL did NOT want Xtianity to be true and he fled it with great energy, while Van Auken desparately wanted it to be true but fought it with his mind anyway.

Paul, happy hunting.

FOR YOU OUT-OF-TOWNERS, BART IS THE BAY-AREA-RAPID-TRANSIT SYSTEM.
IT IS AN ULTRA-MODERN AND HIGHLY UNRELIABLE RAILWAY SYSTEM SERVING THE SAN FRANCISCO AND EAST BAY AREAS.

ENTRY INTO THE SYSTEM IS PROVIDED BY PAPER CARDS WITH MAGNETIC STRIPES THAT ARE INSERTED INTO THE TURNSTILES. VENDING MACHINES SELL YOU CARDS FOR DENOMINATIONS RANGING FROM $.05 TO SEVERAL DOLLARS.

I HEARD THAT PEOPLE WERE COUNTERFEITING CARDS IN AN EXTREMELY ELEGANT LOW TECHNOLOGY FASHION -- THEY WOULD PLACE A CHEAP NICKEL CARD
ON TOP OF AN EXPENSIVE DOLLARS CARD, AND QUICKLY RUN A HOT IRON
OVER THE TOP CARD. THIS HEATS THE MAGNETIC STRIPE ON THE TOP CARD
PAST THE CURIE POINT -- THE TEMPERATURE AT WHICH IT LOSES ITS MAGNETIC PROPERTI ES. ON COOLING BACK DOWN (ALMOST INSTANTLY), IT BECOMES A STORE OF A MAGNETIC PATTERN AGAIN -- ONE IMPRESSED BY THE CARD ON THE BOTTOM.
A SIMILAR PRINCIPLE IS SOMETIMES USED TO DUPLICATE VIDEOTAPES (SEE THE BOOK 'INDEPENDENT VIDEO'). HAS ANYBODY OUT THERE EVER TRIED THIS?
IF SO, HAVE I DESCRIBED THE TECHNIQUE RIGHT? ANY FURTHER TIPS NEEDED?

THIS TECHNIQUE MAY BE APPLICABLE TO OTHER CARD SYSTEMS, KEEP IN TOUCH.

thinking long and deeply will most likely come to a different idea as to what "it" (no better word in english) is.
The big thing is that we are not advanced enough as sentient to have any real ideas as to what "it" is, instead we cast it in our human ideas as to what it is etc. Some use it to support what they believe to be the ideal of "right living" is, others to do even worse things. I feel that only by your own individual deep thinking can we even attempt to approach things in the universe that are outside

The dual tone beeps and the single tone beeps are identical in all respects (length, count, etc) except for one tone or two at once.

Frequencies, durations, etc are in a TAP back issue, I don't know which one.

Also when practicing (and also when for real), don't have the tones too loud or too soft. Have your listener listen to real coins and then the fake ones, and mark your volume control when they are of an equal loudness.

A quick method I once used to destroy a cassette of beeps was to chuck it into the microwave oven of the college cafeteria, which was nearby.

Subject: no 450 baud

Hi Gary,

The 8BBS serial line interface to the modem does not have a very sophisticated baud rate generator. It can only handle 110, 150, 300, 600, 1200, 2400, 4800 & 9600 baud. Obviously the last 3 rates aren't useable on a dial-up line. No doubt 450 baud would be just fine, but we can't run the interface at that speed. I've had reports from a user in Berkeley running a PMMI at 600, so you should be OK from San Jose. Regards,..

Subject: Auto-bauding

Hi Paul,

A BASIC FOR - NEXT loop is the main part of the low speed baud rate recognition code. The FOR - NEXT loop tries different baud rates and expects a RETURN char to indicate what speed the user is running at.

The code looks something like this...

FOR I = 2 to 0          ! Try 300, 150, 110 baud
  SND("Press RETURN")
  D = RCV(0)           ! Get a char from comm line
  IF D = 13 THEN exit  ! Test for RETURN char NEXT I                 ! Not a RETURN, try next rate

The FOR statement would be changed to FOR I = 3 to 0 to support 600 baud login. There is actually more code between the FOR and the NEXT to handle user time-outs, etc.. so it would require a lot more code to handle out-of-sequence baud rate testing. Regards,..

I want to start seeing some more msg.s about views on: Jesus (man or lord?), the Bible (fact or fiction?), Jews (chosen or lucky?) [I think the former, myself].
Nothing to be taken as an offense, just a good talk.
Here is a view I think should get the ball rolling again;
I think that if (IF) there is a God, he is subject to physical laws. It's always that God sent a messenger, this implies the traversing of physical time and space, which means he is subject to physical laws. Now, is it just because he is sticking to the ground rules he set up for all us mortals or is it just that he can't help it, that he isn't all-powerful? Hmmm?
Let'S hear some other views on this subject and get that old theological ball rolling again.

Subject: more on "marked msg's"

Hi Chuck,

Seems like you missed my msg #8960 where I explained my some of my views on "marked msg" retrieval. By nature I'm a generous person, which might be part of the reason why I dislike "marked msg" retrieval. To me the "marked msg" concept indicates stinginess on the part of the software designer in that the user is required to initiate the request to be able to read a msg later by typeing a char during a narrow time window. It smacks of 'batch' operation in that what the user desires (to read that msg) is not available until later after some portion of the summary is scanned through. Then the sys will dump the "marked msg's" when activated with some other 'special char', usually the '*'. The 8BBS selective and/or sequential msg retrieval methods are 'generous' in that the software wants to give you all the msg's and will do so immediately unless specifically requested to NOT do so. Since a selective or sequential msg retrieval combines the functions of the Q, S and R functions there is really no need to ever use the S function. It is only included for CBBS compatability.

To summarize... the "marked msg" concept represents the opposite view of the 8BBS selective/sequential msg retrieval method. The "marked msg" implementation will NOT give you a msg unless you request it. The 8BBS method WILL give you msg's immediately unless you want to skip them. Regards

Subject: 212a modem the greatest. ven-tel

I just picked up a VEN-TEL md212 Plus modem, and let me tell you it is an experience. It is a smart modem and once you plug a terminal into it and hook it to the line, you just set back and watch it run. It dials the number for you and displays what happened on your terminal. If the line is BUSY it says so and tries again. If it finally gets through it rings the terminals bell and prints "ONLINE". It runs 300 baud or 1200 baud and can remember 5 stored numbers + the last number dialed. To dial a number you just type K on your terminal and it will ask for the number. It can recognize a dial tone, busy signal, and a ring. Needless to say I think it is great. So just check it out before you spend those hard earned bucks on one that does less. I am not sure what it cost cause I have not received the bill yet.
So far the 1200 baud on 8bbs is running great.

Mr. Bell, for your information, IF you had checked the user log before sputing off about my not printing a retraction, you would have noticed that I HAVE NOT BEEN ON SINCE I PRINTED THAT MESSAGE! Now that you know why I was not on, I will explain why I will not print an appology. I consider the fact that I was fool enough to trust TAP with my CASH(no guys I didn't send a check since TAP is not an organization that can take a LEGITIMATE check!) stupid enough without retracting something I have already let be printed! If you read my message like a good reader and BBS POSTER should, then you would have noticed that I said that until there was an explanation as to why I have not received what I paid for, I suggested, and I believe SUGGEST was the word, that people not send their money into TAP for a subscription. I also said that I SUGGESTED that we ought to watch who we send our money to IN GENERAL!!! I was making a comment about the entire magazine and UNDERGROUND information industry. Lets face it Mr. Bell, I WAS THE FIRST PHREAK WHO TOOK THE CHANCE AND SENT MY MONEY FOR THE SUBSCRIPTION!!! Maybe you don't remember it, BUT everyone asked ME, NOT YOU or ANYONE else if I was going to get TAP NEWSLETTER delivered to MY PO BOX! Now, if you don't remember that then talk to Bill Williams, or Jon Edwards and see if they can(CONT)

Now, I suggest you retract YOUR message since it is just as MORONIC to request that AS IT IS FOR YOU TO REQUEST A RETRACTION FROM ME!!! I don't think that the message I posted was detracting from the HIGH QUALITY of the information contained in TAP. If you read closely enough, (WHICH YOU OBVIOUSLY DID NOT!) you would have seen that I was not talking about TAP's content but rather about TAP's deplorable operation. I think it is the worst possible practice to cry POOR MOUTH to the people that the newsletter serves and then to give someone the shaft (like I would EXPECT from MA BELL HERSELF!!!) by bilking them out of their money. I don't see a response from CATALYST or EDISON! ALL I see is ravings by people who can't take the time to read closely and are looking for someone to lash out at! All I am exercising is the right to do just what TAP does! TAP sees a story in ripping big business back and prints it. That, friends(or, is it former friends?), is what free speech is all about, and for that I applaud TAP. But I am doing nothing more than THEY DO! I am letting you people know about my experience and I gave logical reasons and advice! If you look closely at what you all have (CONTINUED)

I made no attack on you Mr. Bell, or you Mr. Junkins, and I still do not. I find it extremely troubling that you did not take time to read my message well before you went ranting like you did. You people should KNOW that I would not attack the PRINCIPLE behind TAP. The simple fact that you took my message the way that you did shows me that you are extremely worried that someone is trying to undermine your operations. Subject: phreaking suprisingly enough, I tend to agree with you. I believe that phreaks are a valuable addition to our sort of society, if for no other reason, then to find the holes that exist.

As for breaking into computers, well, the justification needs to be very carefully defined. While crashing the machine, deleting files, etc can be considered serious, under certain circumstances so can the using of machine resources (time, etc) if these resources are scarce and the machine usage is important.

As for bell, you're right. Presumably bell had a reason to leave those numbers out without access codes, but it's still dumb. I should poke around the ess here and see if I can find the bell numbers.

I still maintain that copying and passing around software is morally lousy. I have made copies of protected software, (visicalc, etc) to use as backups. If Personal Software doesn't like that, well they can just kiss off. However, Mr. Lee's idea of passing around stuff like candy pisses me off worse than anything.

Dear Bill,

Good you came out of the woodwork. It seems logical that the created should not outstrip its creator. Our children outstrip us, but beget and create are NOT the same. See CS Lewis again. Therefore, the Lord of the Universe and all it includes, though respecting His physical laws, can bend or break them anytime He choses in crder to make his power and deity manifest. Then, we are continually, through our worship of the creation rather than the creator, discovering new stuff in the physical world. Our grandmothers were available to see the age of horses and wagons fade into the age of space. The smallest piece used to be the cell, which bowed soon to the nucleus, which gave way to DNA which is giving way to mesons, quarks, and semi quarks. We as organisms are swimming in a sea of information we cannot receive but we know it is there because our instruments can receive it. The smaller gets smaller and the large gets larger andgod just plumb is whether you agree or not (not you but I mean persons) I used to think that anything was true if you just believed it. Dear Bill, Uh, what is backing/phreaking?! Srry to sound dumb. You used the phr phrase morals/ideals so I will say that Xtianity is not a set of rules but people outside it would like to point at the Xtians and holler "hypocrites" as humans so often do when we can't find any other name to holler. There is a bumper sticker on some bumpers that reads something like "Xtians aren't perfect, just forgiven." I always liked CSLewis idea of how absolutely cheeky it was for someone (Jesus) to forgive ME for running over YOUR dog without asking you about it. Implies some basic absolute authority. What it is, is Jesus promised abundant life now with nothing concerned about pie in the sky and if all I've had is all there is, OH MY GOD, IT'S BEEN ENOUGH! Please forgive my saying the following but it is just me; the reality of the relationship with the living person Jesus is for me now just about more real than automobiles and concrete and computers. If you think I'm really nuts I'll say I function full time as a dentist and have a seventeen year old son and four year old daughter and have two offices so I do read some and think some.

Subject: Information Density

I have been on several BBS's in the last few days and my impression is the amount of information in any one message or the information obtained in a unit of time is dreadfully low. Of course, the name Bulletin Board implies this from the start.

I would be much happier with messages of several hundred to about two thousand words, sort of like a magazine article.

I don't think this will happen until several megabytes of storage (available at both ends) and high-speed modems and automatic machine access of BBS's is common, however.

Also this depends on your style of communication. I have essentially described exchanges of long-winded messages. Perhaps this is more closely approached on actual conferencing systems. I see a lot of messages are of the form "Where can I find", "You can get it here...". My message just before this one is like that.

Well, that is all for this long-winded communication. Shannon

JIM, i am responding because this may help you and the rest of the Philly area phreaks. First off, if you are coming through the magic of M (is that MCI) do you have any codes to trade. Next here's the rest of the story of TAP. TAP NEWSLETTER IS a publication dedicated to the freedom of the common man to live as he chosses and above all GET BACK AT BIG BUSINESS! Now TAP has a lot of high quality information in it and I do have some of the back issues in my possession(somewhere in the famous JOHNSON archives).
Do not get me wrong about my comments! I do not condemn TAP and the content of the newletter! I suggest that you contact them via someone who knows how to get in touch with them and let them know ahead of time thaty you are sending in you order. Since yesterday, I had a talk with one of the other area phreaks and he reminded me of something I did not think of at the time.
I DID send TAP mail and never got a reply! I sent them a letter in the beginning of MARCH and IN the END of April. I never received a reply. Maybe I should have sent it via registered mail!
Anyway, I was reminded that I could have called them via one of the Philly area phreaks. I did not think of this sinc I felt that writing would have been enough! CONTINUED subscription request, IT WAS BEFORE THE PHREAK CONVENTION AND BEFORE I MET THEM! I WAS UNDER THE IMPRESSION THATTAP WAS RUNNING SOMETHING that could NOT receive a check, an impression that clearly was not my fault. At that time I was a relative newcomer to the scene of phreakdom. Now , to Mr. Junkins, I was the first phreak in this area, and I am refering to Jon Edwards, Bill Williams, Steve Pearl, Dave Horvath , Llib Legiew, and the others in MY area and I think you know which area I am refering to! So before we all go flyirg off the handle, Why don't you call TAP like you threatened to do anc let them know the situation! Now back to Jim and his request. Some of you may have noticed that the 8BBS dial-up number hasn't been working for the past couple of days. Seems that if a phone is left "off-hook" for a while the CO disconnects service to the line. I've always had service restored within a few hours of going back "on-hook" but this time it didn't work. So... I logged a trouble call with PT&T and they said that they needed access to the phone to check it out, 'twas very odd since he didn't do anything but look at the modem and phone and then said that "the problem" was fixed, sure 'nuf was, too. Almost gave me the feeling that PT&T just wanted an excuse to see what was on the other end of the line that went to 296-5799. Anyway, I've now learned that the 'proper' way to disable service to a phone is to NOT leave the receiver "off-hook", but instead just unplug the phone.

Well, after doing some digging, I found Ackermann's function written up in the Jan 1979 Dr. Dobb's. 1 page article. Turns out my original algorithm was correct after all; the article lists some results and mine correspond exactly. The article's values die at A(4,2), as does my Apple. So, I decided to try the BFBI approach. (BFBI=brute force, bloody ignorance). I quick-hacked up an APL version for the 370/158 that I have access to at work, and let her rip. After running out of stack space a couple of times, I allocated a stack of 10,000 (equivalent of around 40Kbytes) and let her rip again. Still ran out of stack, with 430 active calls of ACK waiting to be resolved. I'll push it to the limit here when I get the chance (not during the day; machine's too loaded) and I may add a counter to keep track of total number of calls to ACK. (oh, yeah, when I tried to calculate ACK(4,2), and ran out of stack at 10,000, the machine showed something like 4 MINUTES of CPU time burned, in about 6 minutes of real time. Christ! Do you realize how much that is???)

hi brother!

i am glad to see that the Lord is spreading His ministry to the computer world. i became a Christian about 2 years ago and have been studying the Word ever since. has anybody ever thought of putting together one of these bulletin boards for Christians and people interested in the Word? maybe i'm dreaming but it may be interesting - sort of like family radio! do you listen to harold camping on family radio? he is really knowledgeable and makes some very good points. i may send a message to the "religionists" and give my views, without the intent of arguing with others. i think it is wise that we make our views known so that God may inspire the people who read them and hopefully fill them with the Holy Spirit! keep up the good work and the prayers. God bless you and keep you, ozzie

OK, but remember, you asked for it....
It seems to me that the whole question of abortion, right or wrong, centers around one, and only one, point. That is, at what point is a fetus a human being? It is quite obvious that after 6 months you are talking about a human being. My nephew was born in the 24th week of my sister's pregnancy. You wouldn't claim that he was sub-human for the first 3 months after his birth, would you? I do not necessarily agree that human life begins at conception, but I think that a reasonable determination would be the same criterion by which we determine death- the presence or absence of heartbeat and/or brain wave activity. This starts in the fetus in the fourth week (week- not month) of pregnancy.
Any question of economics, is the child wanted, etc. simply do not apply, unless you think we should exterminate poor people and allow people to kill their children if they become bothersome, which I am sure horrifies you as much as it does me.

Dear Brother Ozzie (really Ozzie?)
In reply to your message to Anton Johnson which I read, I would like say PTL. Jack and I (Jack is my husband who logs in around 3:00 in the morning when we can't get on other times) have talked about getting one of these bulletin boards together for thebody but then what happens to the evangelism? Yes we listen to family radio but frequently prefer KFIA in Carmichael 710 AM. The first time we ever called BBBS#1 was about an hour or two after message 9044 was entered, which was quite neat if you scan its content and then compare it to all the other messages from the other religionists. It does get boring (see msg 9257) if you aren't talking about personal experience, doesn't it. Lets converse. First question to you and anyone else in the Body* have you had any experience with the the complete oneness of the spiritual and the physical body yet? I have been a believer since 1975 but was a church goer all my years before that. Received the baptism or filling of the HolySpirit just recently a few months ago. Being a Christian is the best of anything, wouldn't you agree? Do you get many chances to witness?

Do you listen to the Praise tapes by the Maranatha

Dear Bill

thank you for explanation. Yes I have a husband! Thanks. 19th anniversary next month.

I had an experience two weeks ago that gave me a different view of physical vs spiritual, wherein the spiritual world became much more real for awhile than the physical; almost as though the bricks and concret etc were the fantasy and the spiritual was the reality. And I was in my office doing some surgery on a patient and don't even drink (and not because I'm a Christian either).

How familiar are you with the first century discussion of physical as being separate from spiritual?

I DON'T KNOW IF THIS WOULD HELP, BUT THERE ARE UNPUBLISHED SPRINT
NUMBERS THAT ARE USED FOR DIALING OUT. DIALING IN TO ONE OF THEM
IS EQUIVALENT TO DIALING IN TO ANY SPRINT NUMBER. PERHAPS, THEY ARE A SAFE WAY (OR PARTICULARLY UNSAFE WAY) TO USE THE SYSTEM.

THE WAY I RECALL YOU FIND THESE NUMBERS IS TO ASK SPRINT TO DIAL
(415) 111 - 1970. THIS WORKED (SO I WAS TOLD) FROM AREA CODE 415
A COUPLE YEARS AGO -- WHEN THE A.N.I. WAS 970. THE SPRINT MACHINES
TRY TO DIAL 111-1970, AND END UP GETTING 970. THE A.N.I. THEN SAYS (IN A MECHANICAL VOICE) WHAT YOUR NUMBER IS -- WHICH IS, OF COURSE, THE NUMBER SPRINT DIALED OUT ON. DIALING INTO ONE OF THESE NUMBERS IS LIKE DIALING INTO ANY SPRINT DIALIN.

THE BIG QUESTION IS, ARE THESE NUMBERS UNTRAPPED? OR, ARE CALLS TO THESE NUMBERS THE MOST SUSPICIOUS CALLS OF ALL?

THE A.N.I. CODE IN YOUR AREA IS LIKELY DIFFERENT. IN 415, IT MAY HAVE CHANGED. IN 408 (WHERE I LIVE NOW), IT IS 760 -- BUT IT ONLY WORKS DURING MON-FRI 8AM-5PM. HAVE FUN

Dear Paul,

Great to hear again. I may slow down when we get our telephone bill. On conversion* The Lord does this through His own perfect timing and people don't convert anyone. The Holy Spirit calls people through episodes which have happened to you (like those) and these folks can either recognize it or not (that's free will, right?)

Personally, I think it's really neat that we called bbbs just when we did, which was the same evening you put in the first sensible message to the religionists and just a few minutes or an hour and a half later. The other msgs would have not inspired a reaction I don't think. In what way may one consider you a Christian? Do I have permission to introduce you to a neat thought-question that I ran into a few years ago? Just sharing, no pressure.

Please tell me what a Daniken freak is. Are you a Catholic still? Have you heard of Keith Green's Catholic Chronicles? I am a believer as you may have assumed and think the Lord is the MOST Adorable and Fun way of Life.

The 1200 baud speed recognition is done by the modem. It can tell if the originating modem is a 212A type by the tone your modem sends back. The 8BBS answer modem supplies a 'speed indicator' signal that the 8BBS program checks to see if 1200 baud is in use and sets the baud rate to 1200. The A function has no effect for 1200 baud users. Almost all 0-600 baud formats are bell 103 compatible. The deaf TTY network uses 45.4545 baud and different frequencies (1400/1800) vs. 2025/2225 for the 103. The 202 uses 1200/2200Hz. Common baud rates for the 103 are: 50, 75, 110, 134.5, 150, 200, 300, and 600. Digital modems such as the MC14412 have trouble (I could not get my 14412 to work at 600) above 300 baud since they can only resolve integer cycles. Digital modems work by effectively timing the duration between zero-crossings and producing a "1" if shorter than a specific duration. The comparison is 2125Hz for the high group and 1170Hz for the low group. Happy modulating, -SLI
P.S. You all do know MODEM stands for "MModulator-DEModulator", right?

A. I think there either is or isn't life. What is after life should therefore be equivalent to what was before life. I personally do not recall anything before life and thus do not expect anything after life. I have no reason to believe otherwise, except for being told by people who (as far as I can tell) know no more about it than I.

Religionist is a real word, it means "a person devoted to religion" or "a religious zealot or bigot" I.E. Mr. Falwell is a religionist. I propose we call ourselves "Religious philosophers" since philosopher means "lover of wisdom".

Q. What do I think about the "Moral Majority"?

A. I believe in tolerance. Tolerance even for the intolerant. Fire must never be fought with fire. Ghandi knew it. That concept has been lost from Ireland.

Last week Dick Cavett interviewed Gore Vidal, another self-proclaimed born-again-atheist. Gore spent ten years or so researching hundreds of religions and compiled them into a recently published book entitled "Creation" (I think). I think he would feel at home on this BBS.

I once asked a priest what a cult was.

He replied "A cult is the other person's religion."

Q4U: What religions do not require belief in a God?

Food for thought is more nourishing than raw answers. -SLI

Thanks for the info about the modems. (did I ask for it? I haven't been on for so long...) Yes, I knew what modem stands for. About a null modem, I'm not sure what issue of Byte its in, but its a recent one. All a null modem is is a box that enables to terminals to connect together. If your terminal or computer doesn't use the handshaking signals, then all you need to do is cross the rs232 data lires. ie: connect data in to data out and vice versa(pin 2 to pir 3 and vice versa) if it does use handshaking, there are a couple other lines that have to be crossed also, but I don't remember which ones they are....

I am supporting mostly H11/PDP11 and CP/M users, but all users are welcome to check into the system. It is running on my Heath H11 modified with a LSI-11/23 processor, running TSX, a time-sharing RT-11 like system. The CBBS program is written in RT-11 BASIC, and is similar to the one I operate on MicroNET for H11/PDP11 users. To use the system, call 209-591-8753. You will have to use the account number 70000,1 and the password "CBBS" to gain access to the system. It is 300 baud only, and the system is located in Dinuba, Calif, near Fresno. Hello Paul. Pleas clear up what a hacker is to you. I call a novice horsebackrider a hacker. Some of your statements are very discerning and advanced and lots of Christians don't ever ever ever get that far.
Such as what you said about the Pope and what you said about Jesus being a dentist and a garbage collector. I would like to dialoge about what you think a Christian is--I mean too about how would one identify one.
Some of the LOL's in our church (Little old ladies but that term is not exclusive or inclusive!) think a Christian is one who exhibits so-called Christian behavior. These, for example, really hack up the witness to the outside of what Jesus really is. One day a woman asked me, "Gail, if you died right now would you be sure of going to heaven?" (We can discuss that term after you have read some CSL)
I fell right into it when I innocently said "Oh, yeah. I'm sure, because I know Jesus and He knows me". Well, I got the old hugs, because that was the "Right" answer. I mean, in other words, that I didn't go into this good person baloney etc. I have learned lots since then.
I have an equal problem with Schuller but the word of God says we are to leave the judgement to Him so I have lots less trouble now.
How does Christ instill randomness? This is a very interesting thought to me and wonder where you feel this randomness, because in a sense and the interpretive writings of Watchman Nee called Song of Songs) and when Paul said he would prefer to die and be with Christ and when I (and I don't mean to compare myself with them!!!) have hac the definite feeling that the physical world and the spiritual can and do weld together in the spirit-filled Christian to the extent that even martrydom would be "easy" for an obedient believer who was prepared by the Holy Spirit for the experience (You have had lots of "not-so coincidental" experiences which convicted you that even though we are impossibly small, the King of the Universe really sees us in the minute details of our lives. These things cannot be understood by the "flesh" or the Natural man but rather by the spiritual man which occupy the same organism.

Yes, I also noticed the problem the other day, but since no one was complaining about it decided to wait 'til I got back to work to check out the code. (I have more free time there than at home)... About formatting the msg text on output... The version of BASIC that 8BBS uses does not support IF var THEN statement ELSE statement construct. You do NOT have to type a RETURN at the end of a line, just keep typing and it will automatically wrap to the next line (probably split a word tho).

No, I don't think the C-TREES are multi-user. Oh yes.. there are about 20-30 user names that have that special 'status' bit set. Regards,..

I may have said this before....

Mother Bell Security is run by a bunch of (mostly) ex-FBI types, who believe in upholding the law of the land. Fraud by wire is an offense by both state and Federal statutes. Catching a wire felon is a feather in a security agents cap, because if the felon is defrauding SPC, Bell is being defrauded, too, because Bell has also lost the revenue for the long distance call which should have been placed.

Bell REALLY sees it this way and has successfully gotten D.A.s to prosecute and WIN.

(That should have been Origins). Anyway, the only reason Christianity was developed was because a man was either very helpful, and was acclaimed a savior, or was unstable, and decided that he was a savior. Either way, all sorts of ideas have developed from that. i.e. "I know Jesus" or "I have been good" or "act like a saint" etc. If EVERYONE HAS A DIFFERENT IDEA about what Christianity is supposed to be, then THERE IS NO TRUE CHRISTIANITY, so, therefore, there should be no truth in the bible, Christianity, etc. It is all a matter of simple interpretation. Unless people who take the "I know Jesus" stand can explain themselves in terms other than themselves, how do they ever expect to make themselves understood? i.e. If I say "two plus two means you take two and add two to it", how are you supposed to know what that means, if you don't know what two nor add mean? Please, all religious people here should, from now on, explain themselves in down-to-earth terms that we atheists can understand.

Hi Bryan,

Modifying the software to support different catagory message data bases could be done. But.. I see absolutely NO purpose in doing so. What would be the probability of the appropriate type msg actually being entered into the proper msg data base? There are quite a few users that refuse to supply even name or location info. Why would they comply with placing their msg's in the 'right' data base? Sounds like it would end up being a full time job for the SYSOP to shuffle msg's from one data base to another.

There are some systems that do support this concept, have you checked them out? A suggestion... if a msg looks like it is going to be 'boring' why suffer through it? Just use the C key to skip it and gc on to the next one. I've also seen comments that indicate some people are bored with 'phreak' msg's. Hard to please everyone all the time.. Regards,..

An exclusion key has the function of making sure that no other equipment can access the line while the exclusion key is activated. Two examples:

1. An exclusion key can disconnect all other extensions so that privacy is "ensured."
2. An exclusion key can make sure that a phone and a modem/DAA are never both "off-hook" at the same time mainly so that the modem doesn't get disturbed.

Subject: WATS restructuring

Effective Monday, 1 June, the way WATS works will change DRASTICALLY. Currently, there are two types of WATS: 10-hour and Full Business Day. With 10-hour, you pay for the first 10 hours (whether you use it or not) and with FBD, you pay for the first 240. In each case you pay an overtime charge for each 1/10th of an hour of overtime. If you had a GROUP of lines (say 10 FBDs) you got 2400 hours of usage and only got billed overtime when you went over that (even if your first line got 500 hours, if your total wasn't over 2400, no overtime). What this meant was that large companies were able to make their long distance calling "Fixed-Cost", i.e., an individual call had no added cost (unless it made the lines busy, and caused a need for a whole additional line). THIS MEANT THAT NIGHTTIME USE OF WATS WAS "FREE."

NOW COMES A DRASTIC CHANGE: A WATS line now costs $27.50. You pay a certain amount per hour of usage (billed in 1/10th hour increments). The amount you pay is highest for the first several hours, and drops off as you use more (but never drops off to as low as the old 240 overtime was....). There are three separate periods, the same as the DDD periods. Your usage in any period (cont'd) counts only toward the reduced rate during that period. For the late-night/weekend period, you pay about $0.12/minute for a "Service Area 5" line if you are on one of the coasts -- but there is no reduction for large amounts of usage during the night.

At least TWO really important things have happened:

1. Companies which had only SA 5 lines should start placing nearby calls as DDD calls -- it's cheaper. What they really need is the appropriate mix of a few lines for each area, and a smart switch to sort out the calls by area code.
2. IF YOU MAKE (I mean PAY FOR) AT LEAST TEN HOURS OF LONG DISTANCE CALLS A MONTH YOU SHOULD PROBABLY BUY ONE OF THESE FOR YOUR HOME! (yes, you can get one for only $27.50... not a lot more than a plain black phone in New York or Chicago with metro service). The things to remember are that you can only call to outside your state and that calls within a few hundred miles should not be made on SA5 lines.

I'll put the whole rate structure in here in a couple of days.

Only one more thing to remember:

It used to be that when you used some j-random company's WATS line, you were PROBABLY only ripping off MA BELL.

Mother has protected herself -- now she'll get the money for the time you used on j-random's WATS line. J-random now gets ripped-off, and Ma Bell only loses the difference between the WATS rate and the DDD rate. She might even win if you call New Jersey from NYC on somebody's SA5.

If anyone has anymore that they would like to contribute or wants to know about another part of the country try calling Forum80 #2 in Denver. (303)399-8858. The sysop there has compiled about 500 BBS's around the country. Just tell him Bill sent you.

THANK YOU ALL FOR THE INFORMATION ON SPRINT AND OTHER FUN STUFF. I WAS NOT CALLING THROUGH MCI BUT THROUGH STANDARD LONG DISTANCE. I CAN'T GET SPRINT HERE BECAUSE WE ARE OUTSIDE THE CAMDEN AREA. IF ANYONE HAS ANY OTHER IDEAS, I WOULD APPRECIATE THE HELP. I WAS IN PHILLY THE OTHER DAY AND I CHECKED UP ON THIS SYTEM CALLED P1BBS. NO ONE SEEMS TO KNOW WHAT IT IS. I GOT ONTO A WHOLE BUNCH OF SYSTEMS UNTIL I FOUND ONE WHERE ONE OF THE EX OPERATORS OF THE SYSTEM WAS ON. HE TOLD ME THAT P1BBS HAS GONE UNDER A CHANGE OF MANAGEMENT AND WILL NEVER EXIST. IT ACTUALLY NEVER EXISTED IN THE FIRST PLACE BECAUSE THERE WAS NO SOFTWARE DEVELOPED FOR THE MESSAGE HANDLING SYSTEM. I WOULD LIKE A COPY OF THAT LIST OF DIALUPOS IF ANY OF YOU HAPPEN TO HAVE ONE. I AM AFRAID I DON'T HAVE ANYTHING THAT I CAN TRADE SINCE I AM NEW TO THIS SYSTEM AND AM WHAT YOU COULD CALL A TENDER FOOT. IF YOU WANT TO LEAVE THE LIST FOR ME OR AT LEAST SOME OF THE NUBERS, CALL THE HPBBS AT 415-653-2152 AND LEAVE IT UNDER THE LOGIN Q.MARTINEZ,MINE IN THE FM PACKAGE AS A PRIVATE FILE. IF YOU HAVEN'T USED THIS SYTEM YET YOU SHOULD TRY IT.

For us 1200 baud users, how about an option when using multiple retrieval that displays one msg and then pauses? That would be cleaner than hitting "S" after each msg, and accidently chopping off the top of each msg.

Hi Timothy,
Yes, it's fine with me if you kill your old msg's since there is no 'automatic' msg deletion.

Why do you make a duplicate RP copy of msg's you enter? Not really necessary since you can read msg's you've entered (unless there's some particular reason you need to do that?) Regards,..

by the way, the most complete board list is maintained by pms#1 in santee, ca. all other lists are not as up to date. Bill blue's list (the sysop) is the most widely distributed and the one to get your system on if you are not part of it already. lets stop having umpteem out-of-date lists and let one syste (pms#1) be the central focal point for the absolutely most timely bboard information.

this makes it a lot easier for us sysops to keep our status current on one list rather seventy-zillion.
especially us poor slobs still feeding the ma bell

Subject: Abought thoe's last 4 diget's

Hello I see you have discovered ACCOUNTING CODE'S on the SPC Network
One thing you should know is that you need onley put in 2 #'s not 4 #'s the format go's like this 5/or6 digit autherisation code /2 digit travel code if needed area code 7 digit telephone # 2 digit ACCOUNTING CODE !
Just like some code's need travel code's some also need ACT #'s to
BUT WHY ? because some busnises want to know witch employe made that call SPC will make seperet bill's fore each ACT code on the same 5 or 6 # code so the subscriber can keep thare billing strate !

Also you should use A # buton after dialing you'r call it tell's the system that you are not going to put in eney more digit's and if it didnt like what you put in it will give you A knew tone so you can start over again !
the 2 digit act number's can be eney thing it dosent matter ecsept when the bill go's to the subscriber and he saye's "I DIDENT GIV THAT # OUT" if you need more info abought SPC leave A message for ME you see " I " once was A subscriber and had to sampel all of thaer services !

To Dave Starr at 13:11:42 on 30-May-81.
Subject: Warning...

Hi Dave,

Evidently you didn't understand the message. I'll try to phrase it more emphatically. YOU ARE !NOT! TO DELETE MESSAGES THAT DON'T BELONG TO YOU. 8BBS is NOT a phreakers BBS, it is not a religionists BBS, it is not any one sort of BBS. This BBS is probably the most 'open' BBS in the country in terms of message content policy. You are to refrain from deleting msg's that are not TO or FROM you. Even though some msg's may not interest you, other users may wish to read them. You should learn how to use the ^C key to skip msg's or learn how to do selective msg retrieval. I hope you understand that you are NOT in charge of deciding which msg's are to be killed. The hundred or so msg's you 'killed' have been revived to allow other users access to them.

About logging in again with a 'new' name without having to re-dial... That is most definitely NOT going to be implemented.

Subject: BBS fade out

Hi Mark,

I read Frank's article in Kilobaud about BBS's fading out. Most of his comments about the negative aspects of running your own BBS are very true. Amount of time and money spent doing daily, weekly, monthly file maintenance and hardware upkeep, equipment usage and wear, no income, abuse and threats from users, etc... I estimate it costs me about $40 per month in electricity for the system and dedicated air-conditioner. About another $20 per month for supplies like paper and printer ribbons. I sorta justify the cost by rationalizing, that since I don't smoke, it's probably about what I'd pay per month if I did smoke. So I just consider it as a fixed expense. No, I have no immediate plans to shut things down, but I am thinking about a way to raise some money to cover a small amount of the expenses some time in the future. Will let you know if anything comes of it. Regards...

WHAT'S WORSE THAN THE ROSS BAGLEY SHOW? WELL, ORDINARILLY I WOULD HAVE TO SAY THAT IT IS THE JIM BAKKER SHOW. BUT. I WON'T KEEP YOU IN SUSPENSE. 1 2 3 READY-

IT'S THE JIM BAKKER SHOW - IN SPANISH!

YESSIR IT'S OUR FAVORITE PUTRID LOOKING COMBINATION TALK SHOW FIXTURE/JESUS JERK. YOU KNOW, DEAR OLD JIM ALWAYS LOOKS AS IF HE MISSED BEING ALIVE BY ABOUT TWO WEEKS. HIS SKIN HAS SUCH A UNIQUE PALLOR - KINDA A MIX OF GREY AND GREEN. SHERWIN WILLIAMS SHOULD NAME A PAINT COLOR AFTER HIM. ANYWAY, MY ADVICE TO JIMMY IS THAT HE SHOULD GET HIMSELF A NEW MORTICIAN.

YOU CAN TELL THAT JIM-BOY SURE DOESN'T KNOW SPANISH. WHY, HE ONLY KNOWS A FEW PHRASES OF ENGLISH:

- GEE, THATS SWELL
- PRAISE THE LORD. AMEN
- AND NOW... OUR NEXT GUEST.
- DON'T FORGET OUR WEEKLY DONATION.

Hi Bruce,

Perhaps those comments would have got more response if you'd left them in a public msg. I really don't have much temptation to copy software since there is very little mass merchandised software for the PDP8. It would seem that the question is really one of 'morality' or 'ethics' of the people that have the ability and motivation to make unauthorized copies of software. Some will chose to dc so, others will refrain. Seems like human nature is still what it is, has been, and probably will continue to be. Regards...

Hi David,

Yes, I have a copy of the "Phone Book". It's been several years since I read it, but it describes quite a few nasty things that telco's do to maintain their control over their employees & customers.

About the REMOB, I don't know what it is, perhaps a more sophisticated version of a RDL? (Remote Data Loopback). It was rumored that there was/is? a RDL on this 296-5799 line. It's function was described as a device or circuit that allows remote monitoring of a data circuit by someone who calls a number on the 'other side' of the RDL coupler. Does any of this sound useful or interesting? Regards,..

WERE NOT ANY MAJOR GODS. PROBABLY NOT, CONSIDERING THE WAY THAT FEMALES HAVE BEEN VIEWED THRU SOCIETY, UNLESS THAT GOD WOULD BE A SORT OF UNIVERSAL MOTHER-FIGURE (DIDN'T THE GREEKS HAVE A GODDESS LIKE THAT?).
I DON'T THINK THAT THAT GODDESS WOULD EVER BE TOO MAJOR, THOUGH.
NOW WHO'S TO SAY THAT "OUR" GOD DOESN'T PERMIT ABORTION/FEMINISM ?? I MUST ADMIT THAT MANY CHRISTIANS FEEL THAT WAY, BUT JUST HOW ACCURATE
IS FAITH AND SCRABBLING ABOUT FOR CLUES IN SOME ANCIENT BOOK ?! IT IS PROBABLY JUST THEIR CONSERVATIVE VIEWPOINT. YICH -- THAT'S AN INTERESING IDEA, WHAT IF THE WORLD IS JUST A WARGAME FOR GOD ?? I'D LIKE TO SEE THE RULE BOOKLET SOMETIME!
I SUPPOSE THE IDEAL GOD WOULD BE BOTH MALE AND FEMALE, OR NEITHER.
PROBABLY BOTH, SINCE SOMEONE/THING SHOWING NONE OF THE PERSONALITY TRAITS OF EITHER MALES OR FEMALES WOULDN'T HAVE MUCH OF A PERSONALITY!
PS. HAVE YOU BEEN LISTENING TO THE "HITCHHIKER'S GUIDE TO THE GALAXY"?
THERE IS A NICE QUOTE ABOUT THE BABEL-FISH, A CREATURE SO USEFUL THAT

One of the things I have against most forms of Christianity is that the "members" are "forced" to hold the same views about their god that the "administration" has. Now, don't get me wrong, I don't mean to have Moonies in the Baptist church (I rank them equal in sensibility and sensitivity). I am just against good old Dr. Gene Scott (chan 38) wasting good air time and such flaming about not getting enough money to run his station, and he promises not to speak until he gets pledges for $30000 ... Sigh! Well, I hope he continues his policy of not speaking, now we just have to get people to stop paying the luser to talk, and then he will "supposedly" shut his big mouth. Anyway, I guess I'm just in flameing mood right now, so if I have offended you in any way, you have my appologie.

I concider myself an Agnostic, and so kind of stood back from the discussion on Philosophy of religion, as well as the details. But now things are getting more towards where I have an opinion: These stupid video preachers. There are few things I find more disgusting on TV these days than Jerry Falwell, Pat Robertson and Jim Baker (the worst of the lot). Trying to "save our souls", by screwing around with the public opinion of America. Not to menton the way they suck $$$ out of people who really can't afford it. The most outrageous of these is Jim and Tammy Baker, who among other things offer a Bible for $1000. (Tammy says it's too big for her to lift.) It wouldn't be so bad if they used the money for what they say they do, but it was reported that the Bakers bought a $28,000 car and a $50,000+ house-boat. I wonder what the hell that has to do with religion?

Hi Eric,

Your comments were noted... No, 8BBS will continue to ask for a user name and location (the data you supplied is fine). I suppose the situation you describe is theoretically possible in Amerika. However, there is no requirement that anyone has to use this system if that risk is of great concern to them. C-Trees are fine things, but this is 8BBS. There is no foreseeable chance of 8BBS ever using C-Tree type software. C-Trees have some drawbacks also, such as lack of keyword topic search.

I suspect both types of public access systems will be around for quite a while. Regards...

Subject: THE ONLY BBS LIST

COME ON FOLKS, WHAT IS ALL THIS JIVE ABOUT NOVATION BBS LISTS. BY NOW, EVERYONE SHOULD KNOW THAT THE ONLY TRUE, UP TO DATE LIST IS THE ONE MAINTAINED BY BILL BLUE ON PMS#1 IN SANTEE CA. IN FACT, MANY SYSOPS UPLOAD / DOWNLOAD THIS LIST AND USE IT AS THE BASIS FOR THEIR LOCAL ONES. BERNARD DOES A GREAT JOB MAINTAINING HIS O LIST, MOST LIKELY USING PMS LIST AS AN AID. SINCE THE PMS LIST IS VERY FREQUENTLY UPDATED AND UPLOADED TO ARPA-NET WHERE MANY OTHERS DOWNLOAD IT VERY INEXPENSIVELY, MOST SYSOPS TAKE THE ATTITUDE, IF BILL WANTS TO KEEP A SUPER LIST, LETS SAVE OUR EFFORT AND KEEP HIM INFORMED. THAT WAY, EVERY SYSOP NEED ONLY CALL ONE SYSTEM TO HAVE HIS SYSTEM STATUS PROPOGATED THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY. I, AT LEAST, AGREE WITH THIS PHILOSOPHY. LOCAL LISTS ARE GREAT, BUT ONE, RELIABLE CENTRAL LIST REALLY SAVES A LOT OF HEADACHE. P.S. POP ELECT DID NOT EVEN TELL WHICH SYS WAS WHICH!! ONLY GAVE 7 DIGIT NUMBERS SORTED BY AREA CODE. COME ON! DO YOU WANT TO GAMBLE THAT A NUM ER IS SOME LOUSY STAR-SH-T SYSTEM OR WOULN*T YOU PREFER A LIST LIKE BILL BLUES THAT DOES NOT LIST QUASI-PUBLIC SYSTEMS AT ALL!

Taking it for the joke it was, I took the morning off work (I needed a hair-cut anyhow...)and went down to where this hearing was to occur...And right up there on the 18th floor was Lewis, sitting next to his STARR witness, none other than the illustrious pain-in-the-patootie DAVE STARR!!!!

-----I JUST ABOUT DIED LAUGHING!!!!-----
And the funny thing about it is that they both took it so seriously! Lewis was so nervous that his hands were shaking; his voice was weak... I thought for sure that he was going to pee his little pants!! He, (of course) brought THE TAPE-RECORDER containing THE TAPE, but he never even got a chance to play it because the hearing officer couldn't have given a shit. And neither did Dave get a chance to display the vast amount of printouts that he dragged along!! It's just too bad that nobody gives a flying frig about what either of them have to say!!! CCIS is GOD!!!!!!

For those of you who don't know, I suggest you hop on a CARCT terminal:
For those of you who do, as they say, LET'S PHREAK!!!!!!

By typing in the right commands, you can have a call originate within the system and go out to 10 or more people, linking them together on one party line, and then switching a "loop-around" trunk into this to "tie them together" and set it up so that the calling party "dumps" into the "Party-line" and the loop is free for more incoming calls. So you wind up with a NATIONAL CONFERENCE that DOESN'T SUPERVISE!!!!!!
All done through the convience of you home terminal. By the way, the conference can be either temporary or permanent...when you get bored ya just type it out, just like you'd type out ROSCOE's custom calling features on ESS!!

I finally managed to get through to this bbs!
You put your finger on an interesting irony of the whole right to life controversy- pro-abortion people are ususally anti-capital punishment, and anti-abortion people are usually pro capital punishment. This is true for me too, and I have done a good bit of soul-searching about why this should be. If you abort someone because s/he may (or may not) be unwanted, in which case s/he may (or may not) commit murder, you are punishing someone for something that you speculate that s/he may be more inclined to do than the "average" person. This is open to grotesque abuses- ghetto blacks have a statistically higher crime rate, so. . .

On the other hand, in capital punishment, an individual who has committed murder is being punished for his/her(arch!) own act. It is a question of an individual's responsibility for his/her own actions.

As for the 'unwanted child' question, with a 10-year waiting list for adoptions, I question whether there are any unwanted children at all- SOMEONE wants them...

I am a Christian, but I haven't watched Pat Robertson or Jim Bakker in a long time, so I don't know what they are doing now. When I saw them before, I didn't notice any obtrusive amount of solicitations for contributions.

I think if any minister has to harangue his listeners for contributions, that he had better take a good close look at whether he is really doing God's will. God is perfectly capable of taking care of any ministry that He supports. Case in point- Keith Green's group in Texas: he has an inflexible rule that he will NEVER solicit contributions: when God is through with the ministry, it will be terminated. Not that I think that no minister should ever ask for contributions, as long it is kept within reason. By the way, what do all you good people think of KQED and their interminable pledge drives? This seems to me to be more of the same (though KQED of course has no theological purposes). When is it too much?

Hi Ted,

Thank you very much for taking the time and doing the work of comparing the two lists. You didn't say what you were using to send the file, but it sounded like you can 'trigger' on a specific char. If so, you should trigger on XON code, ASCII 021 (same as ^Q). You should have 'prompt with no bell' set (P function).

To send the file, you should activate your prog when at the 1st line prompt (1?) and the prog should wait for a XON before sending the next line. That method does work. Looking forward to updating the '0' list.

Hi George,
*Nuther local 1200 baud user left a comment indicating no problems with using ^S or S. Perhaps there is too much transmission delay if you get a satellite link? I've had no problems at 600 baud. There is a 16 char typeahead buffer, so if you send a ^S within 16 char's of the end of the line, it will finish sending the line before stopping.
Clever use of the VT52 hold screen mode... Regards,..

A 212 modem uses dibit phase shift keying. The originating end xmits a 1200 hz carrier and receives a 2400 hz carrier. The answering end xmits 2400 and rcvs 1200 hz carriers. It sends one dibit (or 2 bits) at a time, here are the phase shifts for different dibits.

| Dibit | Phase shift |
|-------|-------------|
| 01 | 0 |
| 10 | 180 |
| 11 | 270 |

It is capable of running synchronous or character asynchronous formats. Hope this helps,

Subject: CSI Info...

Well, I've been a CompuServe (MicroNET) user for a long time now, and the system has really improved. Although DISPLA isn't the easiest program in the world to get along with (and very repetitive), it does get the job done.

There is an option someplace in DISPLA to make it so you're DIRECTLY logged onto MicroNET, not DISPLA... There is another option (same place as this one where ever that is) to be put directly into EMIAL if you have new mail waiting.

If you're a programmer, you'll love MicroNET.... They have just about every language that you can think of... Here is most of there: FORTRAN IV and EXTENDED, COBOL, APL, BASIC & extended, SAIL, MACRO, ALGOL, TECO, ROOT, and many other languages... You have a VERY large amount of core (private and some public) accessible to you... I don't think that you can get much public core anymore, but before they would allow your job to call up alot of it before (now there are just too many users).

If you're a game player with a big bank account, they have quit a few good games, and two excellent adventures.. The first is the Original Adventure written by John Wood at Stanford (don't think it's the same John Wood as we have on this system...), and the next is an extended version of the original that is VERY DIFFICULT if you haven't mastered the first!

They have word processors.....continued next message..

Subject: same as above that get the job done fast and without alot of pain... Such as FILGE (FILE GEnerator) that just allows you to enter text kind of like the 8BBS message system, BUT it has inline editing, moving of text blocks, calling of parts of stored text, merging of files, etc. They have RLN10 (used with FILGE it is very powerful), they have TECO, SOS, and another that is used for binary dumps.. don't remember the name.

All there manuals are written by them or DEC (they mail the original manual with supplements), and are reasonably priced.

As far as multi-user games (or interactive games), they have two.. CB and SPCWAR. Both are nice was to pass the time (expensivly). CB is just that, a CB simulator with 30 individual channels, and private talk modes. SPCWAR is a startrek type game (you go around and blast the other people who are trying to kill you), and is based on a point scoring system not a death rate!

If you have any questions that I have not answered (and I can think of a lot), leave me a message here, or on MicroNET..

#####

Message number 9641 is 20 Lines from Marc Mosko

Subject: MicroNET PPNs

The MicroNET PPN is a very basic thing (its also in the standard format for all PDP-10s using a TOPS-10 monitor [there's is just modified]). First PPN= Project, Programmer Number
In this example I will use that good old PPN 70000,1.
Project =70000 Programmer #= 1
The project # determines what kind of account it will be, and the programmer # is just to keep track of all the PPNs in that project. ALL PPNs ARE OCTAL!
Now, ANY PPN that has a project # of 70000, 70003, 70005 or that ends in a 1, 3, 5 is a FREE account (no one pays for it)! These are issued to people that do something for CSI.
Now, MNET uses the Project number to determine what STATE you're calling from. If I were to give an entire list it would take a lot of space (there are multiple project numbers for some and most states). But, such things as 70110 is in CA, 70150 is in MI, 70210 is in NY, etc.
Every so often you might see something like a 313,302 on CB or something.. Well, that is a transfer account from the CompuServe computers (a person with an account on COMPU SERVE not MNET) using CB or something... You'll notice that his Account ID is something like: 0003020010.. (think I left out a 0 or two but..) that means that his PPN is 302,10 (or 302,0010..0's before the first digit in the Programmer # don't are insignificant).. continued

Subject: MNET PPNs

Now, some projects are privileged. The 70000 project is privileged.. They can log on anytime, and execute some programs that normal PPNs can't, etc. There is also the PPN 1,2. This is the operator PPN, and can do virtually ANYTHING! Of course you'll never see this PPN anywhere, but it's there. There are the system libraries (1,40- 1,46) that hold the MNET & CSI programs. There is the CSI FEEDBK account (12,12 I think), and many others (such as the Tandy store accounts (the 70005 project) that are used by the stores).

Well, that just about does it. IF you have any questions, just let me know and I'll try to answer...

It is a shame that some people cannot argue or converse normally without quickly resorting to personal attack of the oppososng party. It has long been my experience that meaningless comments and insults are most often heard from the insecure party of a conversation. This person is often proved to be in the wrong most of the time. Too bad we will not know in this case, for i refuse to talk to anyone who stoops to such low levels of argument.. Would it really make any difference if your mother wore army boots or some such? except for one or two of you, you seem to miss my point. Of all those 'neat' languages available i think i have all but two on my micro. the CIS display program is a joke, and if you change your log-on to go into mnet you are admitting that. besides, CIS promotes CIS, did they not change their name from micronet and now only indicate that mnet is 'available' for the personal computer user? i can play the FULL BLOWN original adventure on my own system and my stars/wars/star trek programs are just fine (granted, they are single user.) FILGE as a word processor? I suppose you still think of paper tape as the 'ultimate' mass storage media. ('nuff said'). Filge is about as archaic as any pdp-1 software might appear to a XEROX-STAR or convergent technologies workstation user. No doubt you have probably seen our ads in BYTE and INFOWORLd. We are Interactive Business Solutions and we are offering the Telemail electronic mail system for use to the general public. This system allows person to person mail, access to a vast majority of bulletin boards with many created for major personal computers. This system allows you global communication for the price of $3.50 non prime time (6pm - 7am in your time zone), and the phone call for most people is local is you are in a local telenet calling area. Our charge is by far the lowest of other telemail systems available, and will be much better. We feel that overpriced telecommunications or extreme membership fees severely limit reaching thousands of computer enthusiasts who might otherwise be unable to use this revolutionary system. Our membership is growing each day, and new and inovative information is added to bulletin boards also. If you are interested in our offer, please send name, address, phone and a $25 deposit to:

Subject: RITES OF PASSAGE

I HAVE READ ENOUGH MESSAGES, BOTH PUBLIC AND PRIVATE (SOME ADDRESSED TO ME, SOME NOT), ASKING HOW TO USE A TIP. HERE GOES:

1. HIT AN UPPERCASE 'E' WHEN YOU FIRST CONNECT TO THE DIALUP.
2. AFTER THE TIP BANNER PRINTS, SAY '@ 0 123' TO CONNECT TO NODE 123 (OR SUBSTITUTE YOUR OWN NODE ADDRESS).
3. SAY '@ C' TO BREAK THE CONNECTION (TO RECONNECT TO ANOTHER NODE).

THERE IS MORE STUFF TO IT THAN THIS, OF COURSE, BUT THIS WILL GET YOU STARTED. BECAUSE TIP COMMANDS BEGIN WITH '@', YOU MUST SAY '@@' TO SEND AN '@' TO THE REMOTE HOST.

A LITTLE KNOWN FACT -- IF YOU SAY '@ 4 C', YOU WILL BREAK THE CONNECTION OF THE PARTY ON LINE 4 OF YOUR TIP (WE CALL THAT SOCKET #4).

IN FACT, YOU CAN FORCE ANY COMMANDS ONTO ANY SOCKET ON YOUR TIP.
THIS WAS INTENDED TO ALLOW THINGS LIKE CONTROLLING AN OUTPUT-ONLY DEVICE CONNECTED TO THE TIP (A LINE PRINTER, FOR EXAMPLE).
I WONDER WHAT HAVOC WILL BE CAUSED BY TELLING ALL YOU MONSTERS ABOUT THIS.

I AM NO LONGER PARTICULARLY INTERESTED IN TRADING FOR EQUIPMENT, EXCEPT A QUALITY MODEM (OBVIOUSLY A CHEAPO MODEM WON'T DO, BECAUSE THIS TERMINAL ALREADY HAS ONE BUILT IN). SOME PIECES OF A QUALITY
MODEM, SUCH AS VADIC OR NOVATION ENCAPSULATED MODULES MIGHT BE A POSSIBILITY. OF COURSE, I WOULD PREFER CASH, AND I WILL EVEN LOWER
MY PRICE TO A FLAT $200, ABSOLUTELY %100 FIRM.

C*MON PEOPLE, THIS IS A RIDICULOUSLY LOW PRICE FOR A COMPLETE PHONE TERMINAL SETUP. WHY NOT BUY IT JUST FOR THE KIDS' ROOM, YOUR CAR,
THE WORKBENCH IN YOUR GARAGE, ETC. IN CASE YOU HAVEN'T GATHERED, I KINDA WANT TO SELL IT QUICK (BEFORE IT'S SUBPOENAED AS EVIDENCE).

One other thing for all you TIP users: When you first dial up, the TIP will throw in 2-3 nulls after a CR. You can instruct the TIP to get rid of these by entering @D C A or, if you need more nulls (using a slow hardcopy terminal?) you enter @D C E

Another thing, the TIP doesn't care if the commands you send it are in upper or lower case. Also, when you want to send a @ to the host you're using, you type @ twice, and it will appear on your terminal three times, the first two echoed from the TIP, and the third from the host.

Wow, how nice. It seems i was impatient, the modem takes a few seconds to pick the proper answering protocol, I thought it was not working. I have been happily using it here and on the TELEMAL/IBS system. Did you know that TELENET/TELEMAL rates are all based on assumming 1200 baud access? So if you use 300 baud you are really not getting the most for your and money; and vice versa, no surcharges
buy a VADIC!

P.S> A vadic rents for about $50 a month on lease/purchase, I may be forced to do that when the owner of this modem returns from his vacation. Good thing there are no phone lines in backpacking

What character do you use for line cancel? Is there one? If not, I suggest the standard control-X to cancel input lines.
It would be nice if it was easier to abort from the early stages of entering a message (Subject?, Protect?, Review).
Control-K should work at this stage. If "E" is accidentally pressed you are stuck.

I have found another bug! There is no control-Q printed immediately after the ">" prompt when messages are left for the Sysop at logoff. This locks my keyboard out when I try to leave comments. The control-Q should be printed by the input routine, rather than along with the prompt string as you probably have it.

A while ago I needed to know what the pin 37 frequency was phoned Apple to ask about how the interface worked. The engineer I spoke with claimed what I wanted was "proprietary, confidential, and patented". He mentioned that there is NO 2MHz clock on the Apple bus, and after all, he should know. I phoned my friend again and he said it was definitely 2MHz. I was irked by this, so I phoned Apple back and tried to talk with someone else. I was redirected to the engineer whom I spoke with earlier. This time he said ABSOLUTELY, POSITIVELY, UNQUESTIONABLY, STAKE-HIS-MOTHER'S-LIFE-ON-IT, THERE IS NO

2MHZ ON THE APPLE BUS. THE FREQUENCY ON PIN 37 IS 1.023MHZ

Can't imagine why lack of XON should lock your keyboard. I'll check the code and see if it is fixable without too much effort. I no longer have much time or interest in doing 8BBS prog mods. I'm working on a 16 ch, 12 A/D module and a TI Speak & Spell interface.

Your comment sounded like you thought 8BBS used to run with a PMMI. Not so... it was a flakey Novation 4103B that was sometimes useable at 600.
600 baud was (and still is) optional at the callers own choice using the 'A' function to switch to 600 from some lower speed. The 212A that is currently in use runs MUCH better at 600. Give it a try, had reports that it worked OK at 600 to Berkeley, so it may be OK for you also. Regards...

Subject: NEW USER - ATARI

Hello people, I'm Dave Flory talking to you on an ATARI 800, using the smart program called 'DOWNLOADER' by Computer Age Software. ALL you ATARI folk should give it a try. $19.95 gets you the terminal emulator program, DOS 2s, Auto-SYS, DUP. Works pretty well, dumping all transactions to memory as you do it, and saving to disk and tape. You can load from disk and tape and send upload by saving to 'r' the modem.
I'd like to hear from any ATARI users out there. I'm half of the tape Librarian for the Bay Area ATARI user's group. If you have an ATARI you should come to a meeting. We meet on the first Monday of every month at Foothill College in the Community Center at 7PM and at INTERIM ELECTRONICS on Bascom Ave. in San Jose, just south of San Carlos 2 blocks, on the 3rd Tuesday of each month. Hope to meet you here and at meetings. Would like to talk to anyone who is interested or knowledgeable about FORTH and PASCAL and PILOT, etc. etc., etc. may your disk always run at speed.

Subject: use TELEMAIL/IBS INSTEAD!!

If you are considering compuserve, and you are, and you seem to already have determined that the information utility features are more a novelty once you get over the intrigue factor (a 60 cent paper in the morning is a lot cheaper than reading a paper at 300 baud for $5 an hour) and since you have your own micro so micro-net timesharing is not really needed, why don't you check into our TELEMAIL / IBS system which may be exactly what you are looking for. It is a global electronic message system like this board and CBBS Sunnyvale except it reaches much farther, is accesible via local phone call in most cities, and features sophisticated person-to-person mail beyond the reac-protected message facilities common on some boards (and very good here.)
Of course, a major point is that it is multi-user running on a $500,000 TANDEM NONSTOP(TM) multi-processor main-frame computer system. So no busy signals and reasonable response time.
If you are interested, check other messages here or on CBBS sunnyvale, 408-737-7543 or leave a msg for MIKE DOVE our system administrator.

the board may not really be 'busy' when you call, please bare with

WE WILL REMAIN IN SERVICE even though thinks are pretty shaky right now.

I appreciate your devotion in staying with us through this rough period of hardware failures. The sytsem has been up 24 hours a day for over a year, and we already blew out our crt three months ago, had the disc board repaired once, replaced the mother board. What next? Subject: telemail/ibs

TELEMAIL/IBS is on TELENET. Thus there are no hidden charges for using the telenet network and it is accessible from every telenet dial-up. The system feature a very good electronic message system, multiple bulletin boards arranged by subject for easy scanning, and multi-user capability running on a $300,000 TANDEM nonstop computer system for high reliability.

TELEMAIL/IBS is the lowest-priced, non-prime time message system and is also reasonable (but expensive) in prime time. We decided to pick the functions everyone wants, electronic mail (person-to-person private messages) and bulletin board or public broadcast messages) and offer the best system for that. We don't offer the electronic new york times or stuff like that; nor do we want to.
Did you ever notice that a lot of those 'information utility' stuff which sounds real neat is often an EXTRA SURCHARGE for use? Have you checked the prices on the stock quotations and other EXTRA services they offer which their advertising does not clearly state COSTS MORE above their minimum hourly rates?

Message number 9818 is 19 lines from John Wood
To all at 01:36:56 on 19-Jun-81.
Subject: file xfer -telemail/ibs

TELEMAIL/ibs supports file transfers in the following way: a 'message' on the system is simply any entity that a user keys into the system. If that message should contain the ascii text of a program or even the hexadecimal version, that does not matter.
Since TELEMAIL supports the DC1/DC3 (x-on, x-off) flow control protocol, it is very easy to upload a 'file' into a message and then have someone else 'download' the file into their own system.

What makes this easy is the fact that each user is communicating thru a local phone line, hence much better transmission and that a message is unlimited in length! no 16 or 20 line limits.

Also, any message can be saved in an individuals own private file storage which is currently billed at the rate of 1 penny per thousand characters per day. the simple command 'file in archive' will take the current message and store it away in a file called 'archive' for example.

Subject: more telemail info

TELEMAIL/IBS is a turn-key mail system. There is not a way to exit out and use the Tandem. The advantage of the Tandem as its hardware is the fact that it is the most reliable system so the TELEMAIL system is up almost all the time. Also, a big advantage is that the Tandem hardware is very modular. They can go from a 2 or 3 processor system up to a 16 processor system with no software changes (They do not even have to re-compile their programs, if they did it right.)

So, as the system grows, they can quickly keep up the load, unlike the other systems which must rubber-band together many dec-20/dec-10 computers to expand capacity or several prime systems.

TELEMAIL/IBS costs only $3.50 per hour during non-prime time. Non-prime time is currently 6 pm to 7am mon - Fri and all day Sat Sun, and certain Holidays.

Effective July 1, 1981 (unfortunately) TELEMAIL rates are doubling. However, TELEMAIL/IBS will still offer the $3.50 per hour rate, except non-prime time will be from 9 pm to 7am. Other rates: $16/hr 7am to 6pm, $8/hr 6 to 9pm

Novation has the Applecat modem with 202 in it for pretty cheap. Any other bbs's with 1200 baud probably all use 212A type modems. If you find any 202 systems, let me know so I can test mine when I get it hooked up.

p.s. The only reason that I am working on a 202 modem is because Eric Moyer has several of them, and I'm trying to figure out the pinout for him.

Everybody:

I need some help in figuring out a way of connecting a radio controlled thing to light off an M80 or firecracker. Is there such a plan in TAP? If so, please tell me which issue... If not, please tell me a way that it can be done (hopefully as cheap as possible). The way I am working it now is the radio receiver will complete a switch that sends electricity down a wire to an ESTES rocket engine igniter. This should be able to light a fuse. Please give me your comments/suggestions. Thanks.

Message number 9901 is 20 lines from John Wood
To all 202 users?? at 20:46:53 on 24-Jun-81.
Subject: about the bell 202

The BELL 202 was the first 1200 baud modem for use over 2 wire telco lines. It is half-duplex, that means only one end of the line can send at a time, and the other end must wait. The sending line then 'turns the line around' and each end reverses their role. The 'reverse interrupt' pin on the RS-232 is a primitive way for the receiver to tell the sender to shut up and let it get the line immediately because it has something important to send (usually a protocol message saying retransmit last msg, etc.) HALF-DUPLEX MODEMS (which are different from HALF-DUPLEX terminals) are really only useful for computer to computer lines, where typically a file transfer or several thousand characters go down the line in one direction. An interactive terminal (or virtual terminal) such as a CBBS, where the user may type 1 or 2 characters, then wait for the other end to reply, would be very SLOW with a 202 because there is a minimum hardware delay required to 'turn the line around.' Also, note that most current SATTELITE based communications lines suffer almost a 5 sec 'end to end' line turn-around delay, so satellites ARE NOT the answer to INTERACTIVE long distance computing (commuting.) At least, currently.

#####

Message number 9902 is 8 lines from John Wood
To all 202 users at 20:48:43 on 24-Jun-81.
Subject: more about 202 quirks

I think that if you can get 202's cheap (which they seem to be available) an interesting use would be a link using two dedicated phone lines. Then one line could send and the other could receive. This would eliminate the line turn-around delays. Unfortunately, again, i think this would only work from computer-to computer because each end needs TWO RS-232 ports and the software (intelligence) to multiplex them (look at one for incoming data, send data out on the other.)

8BBS is generally implemented as a superset of the CBBS program running on Ward & Randy's system in Chicago. As nearly as we can tell, 8BBS does everything that CBBS does except for reporting the number of characters sent by the system and the caller. There are many subtle enhancements in 8BBS that may not be apparent to someone used to CBBS. Some of these are...

- 8BBS Has several features connected with your name that are automatically set whenever you dial in. These include such things as terminal characteristics (nulls, echo, line-feed) and whether you are a novice or expert user (The "U" function is used to set these)
- 8BBS Allows you to define a password that must be used for you to log in.
- 8BBS Tells you when you have a message waiting. It also tells you the range of the new messages since your last time on the system.

- 8BBS Allows you to sequentially retrieve messages (that is, you can automatically read all the messages from any starting point by the use of the "^" or "-" characters during retrieve.)
- 8BBS Allows messages to be 'private' i.e. they can be read (or summarized) only by the sender or receiver).
- 8BBS Allows you to see previous users ("Z" function)
- 8BBS Allows you to yell for and talk to the operator ("Y" function)
- 8BBS Allows you to set your terminal width ("F" function)

Subject: 1200 free on TELEMAIL/IBS

As some of you who own 1200 baud modems are now finding out, SOURCE, COMPUSERVE, and DOW JONES CHARGE YOU EXTRA IF YOU use a high speed modem. DOW JONES (and i assume the others) claims that if you use the system 4 times faster charging you 1.5 times more is still a good deal.
Well, TELEMAIL/IBS does not surcharge for 1200 baud!!! Actually, TELENET prices all their service based on the assumption you are using 1200 baud. So, if you use 300 baud, you are actually not taking full advantage. BUT NO 1200 BAUD RIP-OFF!!
Just think how much MORE you can do on TELEMAIL/IBS at 1200 baud and only $3.50 per hour, non-prime time!!!!

Subject: DIAL-UP DISCONNECTION

Dear Bernard,

I'm sorry that your line was disconnected for about a half hour right around 3:15 today, but this impatient asshole known as Curtis Spangler decided to dump me off and use the system...needless to say, I had the line "removed" from service for a few minutes so that Curtis would KNOW that not all the users on this system just let getting dumped off go right past them...Eric Moyer was lucky... he slipped in there just as I re-established service to this line...
If anyone reading this happens to know Curtis's phone number or address, I will tell you how to NO AMA calls all over the country via the TSPS in exchange for the information...(free calls...)...
And maybe those of you who like to "dump" into this BBS will think twice about doing it...Curtis is certainly going to remember it for awhile!!!

Dear Susan:

I thought that it was necessary to let you know that I am not sure what you are talking about. I have seen my name come up in reference to you several times, although I do not know you, or even care what you do. What seems to be the problem? I have never "bumped" you off any eye, that I can remember, nor would I have a reason too. There is something that you might consider, and that is the old ploy of divide and conquer. If you take the time to look at history in general, you will find that "we" have been controlled by 5% of the population throughout history and if you look deeper you will find that the moment people start working together to break up this 5% that the 5% will initiate some kind of tactic to separate everyone.....cause how this 5% has maintained control is thru ignorance.....and the moment that the people start to get smart and learn they get divided and conquered. I hope that this does not happen with the information that is being shared about this state of the art reality called telecommunications. Ignorance and Divide & Conquer have been around too long and I am open for change. I am sorry that you feel the way you do, but I can't think of anything that I have done that would upset you. I do know that since I use my real name and no handles that someone has used my name in several areas of the country. (cont.)

I cannot do much about this except changing my psu access. I am more into hardware & software rather than into the phone, so most of the information that you exchange is of no value to me. If you feel that I am "out to get you" forget it, cause I have made a special effort to get along with people rather than kick up s--t with them. I don't know of anything more useless than trying to make people uptight/feel bad/paranoid/etc. I will apologise to you if I have done something to offend you, and if you want my phone number that is probably ok too, except you do not have to put a reward out for me, although it makes me feel like "Billy-the-Kid", which is kinda flattering. I would be open to talk to you and find out what the difficulties are if you choose.

Susan, I don't know why this even came up, maybe you could help me to understand.....so why don't you leave me a private message on the CBBS at (415) 653-2152 to C.SPANGLER, or here non private.

There is another thing.....if you know the sysop of BBBS ask him how many times I check in on this system....I think that it amounts to maybe 4 or 5 times a month. I am not on your case, please don't put me there. As John Lennon said "IF YOU CAN'T STAND THE HEAT GET INTO THE SHADE.cas

Subject: I EXPECTED YOU TO DENY IT...

Dear Curtis;

As per my expectations, you have denied dumping me off the system. Granted, there is NO WAY to ever know for sure HOW I got dumped off, it still seems AWFUL STRANGE that you should just happen to log in within that 30 second period it took me to redial...If you're wondering why I'm accusing you of this crime, rather than, let's say, John Doe, it's because a quick check of the user-log revealed YOUR name...Interesting, huh? Contrary to what you may believe, I am not just picking on you at random. Therefore, I would like to extend my most heartfelt apologies if I was wrong, and in the likely event that what occurred in that 30 second interval WAS DELIBERATE, I'd hereby like to ask you to go eat your nuts when somebody else is on this system...I will be watching for other people getting dumped...I hope you're not unlucky enough to regularly call in these 30 second intervals...

As for the hierarchy you mentioned in your previous message, in the world of phone phreaks, I AM that 5%...and don't take THAT the wrong way either...

Subject: Hardware

Dear Ms. Thunder:

In reply, and as a final reply, I had hoped that you would have noticed that my interests are in the realm of hardware and software.

To make a long story short one of my machines calls other machines, while another machine talks to other machines; meaning that if I call a system, or if the machine does, and it receives no carrier, it goes on to the next system call, and then returns to the previous non-carrier call and redials, (no sore fingers from dialing). The machine dials faster than a speed dialer with memory and the basic design can be found in old computer mags., i.e., Byte and or Kilobaud. One other thing that you might consider is a bad phone line from L.A., as I have had the same experience calling this system, getting dropped off due to a bad carrier, and having to redial.

In conclusion, I am permanently logging of this system, because of the "attitude" you have demonstrated. I have more important things to do than go back and forth like tug-of-war, and have learned that one has to go above "things" in order to make change.

If I am ever around Tujunga, I will give you a call, would like to see what goes behind the name. Get some rest and some sun, -cas-

Regarding your message about weeding out the assholes on this system: Of course it's not up to us to "weed out" undesirable users; that should be the SOLE privilege of the SYSOPs, however, certain pressures CAN be applied to certain obnoxious users to initiate them to move out themselves.
Hence was the case with two:

ROSCOE DePayne (Dupran, whatever...)
